STABILIZATION AND DEBTS OUT AT CONFERENCE

Gold Basis and Tariffs Taken up as Adjournment Talk Ends.

London, June 22 (A.P.).—The American delegation at the World Economic Conference, having finally banned war debt discussions and made clear today that stabilization of the dollar is impossible at this time, proceeded tonight with a two-fold plan.

The objectives were promotion of a plan for eventual return to a workable gold standard with a feature designed to stabilize silver, and with a program of getting revision in excessive tariffs and arbitrary trade restrictions.

American plans were clarified today by an official statement conserning the dollar which announced that currency stabilization can not be realized at the present.

French Agree to Plan.

Meanwhile James M. Cox and James P. Warburg, of the American delegation, were successful in convincing the French and their allies of the European gold bloc that this policy would not lead to an orgy of currency inflation.

Georges Bonnet, French finance minister and spokesman for the gold standard countries, expressed satisfaction with this assurance and agreed to indefinite postponement of the problem of fixing the relative value of the American dollar and the British pound sterling.

The British delegation, following upon a careful study of the American pronouncement, placed themselves tonight in a position squarely supporting the American stabilization policy, it was learned in the highest quarters.

Long Session Foreseen.

With the lines of cleavage between the chief powers clearly drawn, the parley settled down to what its leading officials felt would be long weeks of difficult but less tempestuous discussions.

France, wanting above all else currency stabilization, particularly of the dollar, but also of the pound, now knows that this is not immediately possible, but instead of indulging in behind-the-scenes talk of quitting the conference here, delegates now say "we will continue to work."

The British, while showing keen interest in a war debt settlement, were reconciled to take up this problem in Washington later. Meanwhile, they were promoting a program of central bank cooperation for credit expansion in substantial agreement with the United States, and endeavoring to work out plans for the removal of excessive trade restrictions while preparing staunchly to defend

Hoover Kin Helps Lamson Case Quiz

San Jose, Calif., June 22 (A.P.).—Ernest A. Dunbar, Palo Alto engineer, and his wife, Louise Hoover Dunbar, the latter a daughter of Dean Theodore Hoover of Stanford University, brother of the former President, conferred here today with assistant district attorneys assigned to the Allene Thorpe Lamson slaying case. They answered questions about their acquaintance with the Lamsons.

David A. Lamson, husband of the victim, has been charged with her death. Dunbar, asserted close friend of the couple, denied, Assistant District Attorneys A. P. Lindsay and John Fitzgerald said, that he had possessed a key to the Lamson home on the Stanford campus. Both denied they had been frequent visitors at the home, the attorneys said.

The couple came to the courthouse voluntarily.

Hull Denies Roosevelt Plans Trip to London

London, June 22 (A.P.).—Revived reports that President Roosevelt might come to the world economic conference were denied today by Secretary of State Hull, who said he had heard of no such plan and believed he would be informed if the visit were contemplated.

Mr. Hull made this statement at a press conference at which he also declared that temporary stabilization of the currency, which the United States Government considers untimely, "is not by any means the most acute or most fundamental phase of the situation."

ROMNEY ARRESTED ON HOTEL CHARGES

Sergeant at Arms of House Accused of Being Disorderly and Drunk.

Sergeant at arms of the House Kenneth Romney was arrested last night on two charges, drunkenness and disorderly conduct, as the result of an alleged disorder in the Pennsylvania Hotel, 20 F street northwest.

Romney was taken into custody by Patrolman H. F. Elliott on complaint of the manager of the hotel, Laurence Gasenheim, who told the officer that Romney was creating a disturbance.

"This is a terrible indignity," said the sergeant at arms in Cell No. 6. "I have immunity to these things. Call Maj. Brown."

Elliott was summoned from his post at Massachusetts avenue and North Capitol street by a bellboy who had been sent by the hotel manager, according to Elliott.

Hotel employes denied early today that any disturbance had occurred in the place. They also denied that Romney had registered at the hotel.

However, Patrolman Elliott's story is that after he was summoned there, the hotel manager said Romney had engaged a room and he had placed the sergeant at arms of the House in a room near the manager's on the sixth floor of the hotel.

In the late afternoon, the hotel manager told Elliott, Romney became boisterous and refused to be quieted. It was then that the hotel manager summoned police. Romney was taken to the First Precinct station in the patrol wagon.

When booked, Romney gave his age as 37 years and his address as 4701 Connecticut avenue. At the apartment house at this address it was said early today Sergeant at Arms Romney had lived there until three months ago, when he moved.

The telephone book lists the sergeant at arms at 1026 Sixteenth street. A call there early today brought the response, "Mr. Romney is out of the city."

Pilot Badly Hurt As Plane Crashes

James Good, 29, 903 B street northeast, suffered a fracture of the skull and possible internal injuries last night when an airplane he was piloting crashed from a height of about 100 feet near the Hybla Valley Airport, near Alexandria, Va.

He was taken to the Alexandria General Hospital, where it was reported that his condition was serious. It was reported that Good was flying a plane owned by the airport, but information concerning the accident was unobtainable.

Officials of the airport took the injured man to the hospital and then notified his wife, who rushed to his bedside. Efforts to communicate with the airport by telephone were unsuccessful.

State Motor Police Sent From Bristol

Richmond, Va., June 22 (A.P.).—State motor vehicle police today were ordered away from Bristol, where they had been on strike duty several days.

The order went out from Gov. Pollard, through the division of motor vehicles, after Adj. Gen. S. Gardner Waller, official observer for the governor, reported that the strike ended last night and the situation there now may be handled by local authorities.

Thirty of the State police were sent to Bristol upon request of local authorities when workers of the Big Jack Overall plants went out on their second strike within a month.

1,000 Filipino Laborers Quit as One Is Dropped

Honolulu, June 22 (A.P.).—More than 1,000 Filipino laborers remained away from work today in what began to assume proportions of a general strike on plantations of this Island of Oahu.

The trouble started Tuesday when a Filipino worker was discharged and resulted last night in a demonstration by 250 Filipino laborers at offices of the Honolulu Plantation Co. in Aiea.

AGENT ADVISES STEP TO SOVIET RELATION HERE

Col. Pope Returns With Plan for Eventual Recognition.

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—Col. Frederick Pope, just returned from a quasi-official visit to Russia, advised the Roosevelt administration today to dispatch an unofficial representative without delay to the U. S. S. R.

Recognition should follow within a year or thereabouts, Col. Pope reported, dependent upon the satisfactory settlement of propaganda and other differences.

The status of such an envoy would be similar to that of Boris Svirsky, Soviet representative in Washington.

Col. Pope, president of the Nitrogen Engineering Corporation, and an executive of the American Cyanamid Corporation, discussed all phases of the recognition question with Soviet officials, it was learned, on his latest business trip to Russia, from which he returned late Tuesday.

Against Recognition Now.

Before he left the United States the engineer spent several hours in Washington in conference with administration forces and prepared a preliminary report soon after his return.

It was understood one of Col. Pope's recommendations against immediate recognition is that it would militate strongly against a free hand for America in the current Far East situation.

During the term of unofficial relations the observations of the United States agent in Moscow would be invaluable in shaping a foreign policy encompassing the Soviets, Japan, Manchuria and China, the engineer believes.

On the surface, Col. Pope advised administration circles, nothing interests the Russians but full and complete recognition, but he said further that an unofficial American envoy would be heartily welcomed in Moscow and would be freely consulted with a view to smoothing out relations between the two nations.

Stalin Firmly in Saddle.

Such an envoy, in Col. Pope's opinion, would be valuable in other ways: Furnishing trade and political information and serving as a liaison with the Soviet government for Americans in distress.

Of prime importance, he could institute negotiations looking toward an agreement on the long-bothersome issue of Communist propaganda in the United States, the engineer pointed out.

Of the Soviet Union in general, Col. Pope said he found the Stalin forces more firmly established than ever. He reported there was a prevailing belief in Moscow that war in Europe is a strong likelihood within the next two years, at the outside, and a corrollary opinion that such a war could only serve to strengthen Communism and the U. S. S. R.—whether or not the Soviet Union is involved.

Col. Pope said the food situation was reported to him as worse than at any time since the great famine, with indications that millions are undernourished as a result of the shortages.

Sanders Forecasts 1934 G.O.P. House

Boston, June 22 (A.P.).—Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee, predicted that the party would recapture control of the national House of Representatives in 1934, at a meeting tonight of regional Republican party leaders.

Sanders said previous conferences at New York and Washington had been attended with an enthusiasm which argued well for the future prospects of the party.

Asked if he was satisfied with issues now being defined by the "new deal," he laughed and replied, "very much."

Hounds Lead to Capture Of Two Texas Convicts

Meridian, Tex., June 22 (A.P.).—James Anderson and Clarence Raines, two of four prisoners who escaped from the Gatesville Reformatory last night and after Will Leonard, prison blacksmith, was fatally injured, were captured today on a ranch 12 miles west of Meridian.

They were tracked down by bloodhounds.

Three mosques were reported burned.

Justice Department Facing Drastic Slash

Furloughs for Civil Service Employes and Widespread Dismissals of Others Outlined by Attorney General.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Furloughs for Justice Department workers with Civil Service status, and widespread dismissal of others not so protected, was pressaged yesterday by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, as three more executive departments completed budget plans for the 1934 fiscal year.

The Attorney General announced a $7,600,050 tentative reduction under the $41,550,050 actually appropriated by Congress for his department. Reorganizations, now in progress, and curtailment in personnel, afford the principal basis for savings, he said.

At about the same time, Secretary of Labor Francis Perkins made known a $3,000,000 curtailment in the Labor Department's budget under the $13,000,000 Congressional appropriation. Without divulging details, Miss Perkins said the cut would be made "without a very great reduction in personnel."

Earlier, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes said individual furloughs for short periods will be ordered in his department after a weeding out of inefficient employes and retirement of some 30-year workers.

Secretary Ickes chose this method of meeting an $11,000,000 cut under the $44,500,000 Congressional appropriation ordered by the Budget Bureau on recommendation of the President. The number of dismissals is at this time "undetermined," he said.

Meanwhile, the Agriculture Department temporarily held up its plan to go forward with 25 per cent reduction in agricultural extension activities, proposed in one of President Roosevelt's reorganization orders. This action was taken after Senate Democratic Leader Joseph T. Robinson again stepped into the picture.

Senator Robinson had assured senators the administration would not at this time curtail agricultural ex-

MAYOR M'CLOSKEY FACES GRAND JURY

Host to Bonus Army Accused of Punching Poor Relief Director's Jaw.

Johnstown, Pa., June 22 (A.P.).—Mayor Eddie McCloskey, host to the "Bonus Army" after the Washington campaign last year, was held today for the grand jury on charges of inciting to riot and aggravated assault and battery.

He is accused of punching on the jaw Leon Bennett, director of poor relief, during a demonstration at relief headquarters June 5.

The mayor, acting as his own attorney, denied the charge and said Bennett did the punching, but Alderman J. A. Reese ordered McCloskey to put up $2,500 bail and let the grand jury decide.

Bennett testified at a two-hour hearing that the mayor led a delegation of 75 unemployed to the relief offices to ask why they were not getting aid. Punches were distributed before the matter was discussed, he said.

3 Men Die in Fire As 2 Trucks Collide

Green Bay, Wis., June 22 (A.P.).—Three young men imprisoned in the cabs of blazing trucks were burned to death today near here. The two tricks had crashed head on, turned over and burst into flames.

The dead were Charles McIntyre, 22, of Marinette; James Collins, 22, also of Marinette, his helper, and Joe Model, 28, of Milwaukee.

D. M. Spake, of Marinette, another helper, and the only survivor, told authorities Model was driving on the left side of the road. Farmers tried to rescue the men but they were repulsed by the flames.

Reports That German President Is Ill Spiked

Berlin, June 22 (A.P.).—Reports that President von Hindenberg is in ill health were denied today by persons in his closest entourage, who said that he was "enjoying the best of health."

LABOR WILL INSIST ON KEEPING RIGHTS

Warns Recovery Board It Must Be Consulted on Proposed Codes.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

Labor yesterday warned it would not be swept off its feet and give up hard-won rights in response to the whirling drive to bring about national economic recovery.

Labor, leaders insisted at a meeting of the Labor Advisory Board of the National Recovery Administration, must be consulted in the formulation of codes submitted by each industry for approval by the administration under the national recovery act.

Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the recovery act, immediately set about to bring together representatives of both labor and industry, and a meeting of the labor board with the Advisory Board for Industry is to be held next week to forestall labor disputes.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, who presides over meetings of the labor advisory board, urged that no code should be approved which did not prohibit child labor. Her recommendation did not specify minimum age for employment but she said it should be 16 years but 15 years would be acceptable. The codes also should provide for minimum wages for children, she believed.

Discussion in the board meeting indicated that labor would not be hasty in approving the cotton textile industry's code which recently was submitted for approval.

While the drive to stimulate employment was going forward, William

Threatener of Roosevelt Is Held in $10,000 Bail

Watertown, N. Y., June 22 (A.P.).—Joseph Doldo, 20, who police say confessed to mailing a crude explosive to President Roosevelt, was held in $10,000 bail today on a charge of sending explosives and threatening letters through the mails.

Doldo waived examination when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner W. Glenn Lapmonth, and was held for the grand jury.

Woolworth Heiress Weds In Paris Russian Church

Prince Mdivani Waives Control of Barbara Hutton's Fortune, But She Promises to "Obey;" Mob Fights to See Rites.

Paris, June 22 (A.P.).—Prince Alexis Mdivani, of Russian Georgia, and the former Barbara Woolworth Hutton left tonight on a honeymoon trip to Italy after a religious wedding in the exotic Byzantine splendor of the candle-lit, flower-banked Russian Cathedral of Paris.

Crowds outside were so dense that they broke police lines and jostled Barbara, rumpling her expensive bridal costume, as she left the church. Scattered fights broke out in the crowd before the service and some 800 persons, who managed to enter, pressed close to the bridal couple during the ceremony. All stood, as there are no seats in an orthodox church.

Today's religious ceremony was preceded Tuesday by the civil wedding required by the French Republic. Prince Mdivani, in a marriage contract signed before the nuptials, waived control over his wife's fortune, inherited from her grandfather, the late Frank W. Woolworth, American chain store merchant.

The 20-year-old bride smiled through eyes misty with tears during the church rites, in which she acquired the title of princess in a family of czarist Russia.

The service contained the word "obey" to which the bride answered "yes." According to a Russian tradition, the prince was assured of being "boss" of the family when the audience decided his foot touched a little silk rug before the altar just a split second before Barbara's.

Philippe de Rivas, of Paris, was best man for the prince. There were no attendants, in accordance with the Russian service, for the bride. Guests at the wedding, who came especially from America for the ceremony, included Mrs. James P. Donahue, the bride's aunt, whose sons, James and Woolworth, were ushers; Mrs. Charles McCann, the former Helena Woolworth, and Fraser McCann, who also was an usher, with James Blakeley and Marshall Hemingway, of New York.

PUBLIC BUYING IS BOOSTED BY FAITH RETURN

Additional Banking Gains Also Are Reported by Reserve Board.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Further notable improvement in the national banking position and continued stimulation of domestic consumption are reported in the June bulletin of the Federal Reserve Board, published yesterday.

Coupled with these encouraging factors in the survey, however, is a warning of price inflation in the United States which may tend soon to discourage export business and to draw an increasing tide of foreign goods to American markets.

To a marked degree the May improvement in domestic consumption industries is limited to commodities which respond most readily to public speculation. In its analysis of factory production, the bulletin emphasizes that a tremendous amount of current manufacturing activity apparently represents more an accumulation of stocks against anticipated higher prices than directly improved consumer demand.

Public Confidence Restored.

The heavy industries, which normally constitute the vanguard of substantial economy recovery, have not improved step by step with the consumer groups during the last three months.

In the same interval there has been a marked decline in the volume of new long-term financing, such as ordinarily would forecast marked stimulation of construction.

When the improvement attributable directly to commodity speculation and artificial inflationary measures is abstracted from the picture as presented at the end of May, the gains since the March banking crisis are reflected principally in restoration of public confidence and a consequent slight improvement in day-to-day buying.

In the first official study of comparative prices since the United States left the gold standard, the Federal Reserve Bulletin reports that while world prices of six basic international products have increased but 30 per cent since February, the American index for the same commodities shows an increase of 60 per cent, or approximately 10 per cent more than the current dollar-price of the same commodities abroad.

Price Disparity Marked.

Although the report points no specific conclusions or recommendations, the abrupt and steadily increasing disparity of American prices is marked as already greater than may be attributed directly to the depreciation of the American dollar in terms of gold.

The six commodities embraced in the study are cotton, lard, silver, copper, tin and rubber—the first four of which are major export products of the United States.

In terms of gold these commodities showed a combined advance of roughly 30 per cent between February 1 and June 1. Allowing for the 20 per cent depreciation in the exchange value of the dollar during the same period, the dollar price of these commodities in Great Britain has increased approximately 50 per cent. But the ecombined United States price for the

Sailors Sentenced In Burglary-Killing

Los Angeles, June 22 (A.P.).—Three sailors of the U. S. S. Oklahoma were sentenced to prison terms today after convictions on charges of burglary in connection with which Marjorie Barr, 18-year-old daughter of a Washington rancher, was slain.

R. K. Covington, 20, convicted of first degree burglary, was sentenced to five years to life in San Quentin Prison, and William Kozak, 22, and Robert Barnett, 19, were sentenced to one to ten years on conviction of second degree burglary.

The men also were tried for murder but H. Peterson, another sailor, took the blame for Miss Barr's death and was sentenced on this charge, while the other three were acquitted.

Italian Army Fliers To Leave Tomorrow

Orbetello, Italy, June 22 (A.P.).—Gen. Italo Balbo, Italian air minister, who will lead a flight of 24 Italian seaplanes on a flight by stages to the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, said tonight departure virtually was certain Saturday.

Earlier the minister received word that the supply ship Alice had reached its post at Cartwright, Labrador, one of the scheduled stops of the group.

Judge Dooms Friend, Banker, to Long Term

Moundsville, W. Va., June 22 (A.P.).—Two long-time friends faced each other in court today and one, a judge, sentenced the other, a banker, to 20 years in jail for embezzlement.

Carl H. Hunter, 59, cashier and vice president of the closed Mound City Bank, went to prison 15 minutes after Judge James F. Shipman, with whom he grew up, imposed the sentence in a scarcely audible voice.

Indicted on 11 counts, charging embezzlement of $44,794, making improper entries, and returning false statements to the banking commissioner, Hunter pleaded guilty to one count of $3,416. The others were set aside.

M'MATH JURY HEARS MYSTERY MAN ROLE

Kenneth Buck Says He Was Tool of "Bill" and Links Father in Kidnaping.

Barnstable, Mass., June 22 (A.P.).—Kenneth Buck, the "hooded man" of the McMath kidnaping case, today testified in Barnstable Superior Court that he had been the tool of a mysterious man named "Bill," who told him the father of the stolen child "knew all about" the kidnaping plans.

Testifying in his own defense on a charge that carries a maximum penalty of 25 years in State prison, Kenneth said "Bill" told him it was not a "real kidnaping" and that there would be no trouble. He said "Bill" threatened to kill him if he "mentioned a ything about it."

Kenneth with his brother, Cyril, is on trial charged with the kidnaping of Margaret ("Peggy") McMath, 10-year-old Harwichport girl, from the Harwich Center Grammar School, on May 2. She was returned three days later after $60,000 ransom had been paid. The money was recovered in the home of Kenneth.

Kenneth, questioned by his attorney, Elias Burwich, of Worcester, testified:

Q—Did he ("Bill") say anything about McMath needing money?

A—Yes. He said he needed it and that that was the only way he could get it.

As Kenneth testified, Neil C. McMath, father of the child; Mrs. McMath and their parents sat in the front of the courtroom. McMath smiled as he listened to the testimony and he laughed openly as he left the courtroom.

Harvard Student's Body on Mountain

Mount Washington, N. H., June 22 (A.P.).—The body of Simon Joseph, 20, Harvard sophomore, was found late today on Mount Washington, where he became lost Sunday while climbing the mountain with two other students.

Joseph, the son of a Boston antique dealer, became separated from two companions during a gale. His companions were William Robbins, 19, a Harvard student, and Gerald Golden, a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The trio, on a week-end hike, left Fryeburg, Me., for a trip up the Crawford trail to the Lake of the Clouds. They were far up the trial when the gale broke. Robbins staggered to the shelter of the hut at Lake of the Clouds, while Golden, picked up exhausted later, was brought to the hut.

2 Navy Men Are Killed As Plane Falls on Coast

San Diego, Calif., June 22 (A.P.).—Ensign Mack E. Vorhees, 27, was killed and J. A. Sheridan, 21, seaman, second class, was injured fatally late today when their plane fell near Descanso, Calif., a mountain resort.

Ensign Vorhees was born at Findlay, Ohio, and was graduated from the Annapolis Naval Academy in 1930. He is survived by his wife, who lives in Coronado, Calif. Sheridan's home is in Bridgeport, Conn. He died two hours after the crash.

New Trial Is Ordered For Confessed Slayer

Springfield, Ill., June 22 (A.P.).—A new trial for James ("Iggy") Verecha, 17-year-old confessed slayer and mental defective from Chicago, was ordered today as the Illinois Supreme Court reversed his conviction and death sentence.

Oust Socialist Party on Charges of Treason.

Attacks on Catholics Grow; Meetings Verboten.

Berlin, June 22 (A.P.).—Germany's Social Democratic Party, once the leader of Socialists the world over and the winner of the 1918 revolution, has ceased to exist as a legally permitted political organization.

A nation-wide prohibition was issued today against the organization, which for the past year has ranked second in size to the Nazis. A government communique charged the Social Democrats, or Socialists, with treason.

In political circles the belief was expressed that this is but the first drastic step toward elimination of all non-Nazi parties, and that the outlawry of the Catholic Centrists and even the German Nationalists, heretofore the allies of the Nazis, may follow soon.

100 Per Cent Domination.

All speeches in recent days by Nazi leaders indicate the Hitler movement intends to claim 100 per cent power in Germany.

The catastrophic decline of social democracy seems almost without parallel when it is considered that this party furnished Germany's first president, Friedrich Ebert; the first republican chancellor, Philipp Scheidemann, and for years dominated German political life through men like former Premier Otto Braun of Prussia, Carl Severing, Paul Loebe, former Reichstag president; the late Hermann Mueller, former chancellor of Germany, and Rudolf Breitscheid.

What helped Chancellor Hitler to strike the fatal blow so soon was that many Socialist leaders fled from Germany after the Nazi accession to power last January, and not only left a bewildered mass of followers behind but, in countries around Germany, established themselves as purveyors of news hostile to the new regime.

Hostages Scheme Dropped.

The German government at first seemed inclined to make the remaining Socialist leaders hostages for the emigre leaders and make them responsible for the emigrants' utterances, but later apparently decided to eliminate this opposition movement altogether.

Minister of the Interior Wilhelm Frick ordered confiscation of all Socialist party property and withdrawal of Socialist members from the Reichstag, the state diets and community parliaments. The government charged that subversive material was found when a secret meeting was raided in Hamburg.

It held that the new Socialist executive board failed to purge itself of former leaders, although the board

LITHUANIA DEPOSITS $10,000 DEBT TOKEN

Makes Belated Payment in Silver on $132,091 and Requests Parley.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

Lithuania, last of the debtor nations of the United States, yesterday made a "token" payment of $10,000 in silver on its scheduled installment of $132,091 due June 15. The payment, although belated, was accepted without question by this Government, as President Roosevelt has indicated his intention of receiving any debt payment even though inferior to the regular sum and at any time even after the due date.

The payment was arranged by Lithuanian Minister Bronius Kasimir Balutis. He had bought the silver through the Chase National Bank of New York and deposited it at the assay office in New York yesterday. A formal notice of payment was made to Acting Secretary of State William Phillips by the minister.

Jealous of Credit Here.

The Lithuanian government is extremely anxious to maintain its credit intact here in view of possible financial operations here and also on account of the large Lithuanian population in the United States. Although the entire population of Lithuania is only 2,400,000, there are about 439,000 Lithuanians in the United States.

These factors undoubtedly played a large part in the representations that were made to his government on behalf of payment by Minister Balutis. The covering note that accompanied the payment is understood to have recited the unfavorable economic situation of Lithuania, in the same general terms that had been employed in the notes from other countries and concluded with the request for a debt hearing by the United States, where a possible downward revision of the Lithuanian war debt might be made.

Lithuania thus joins the ranks of the paying countries who will be received here by the President to discuss the framing of a new debt agreement in the hope that such an agreement will settle the troublesome problem. The date of the Lithuanian debt hearings was not determined by the authorities of the State Department who are preparing the schedule. Assistant Secretary of State Moley, now en route to the London conference, has been drawing up a tentative series of conference dates with the nations that met their debt payments here last week, but the final arrangement was deferred pending return of the President from his vacation.

Seven Nations Pay.

This brings to seven the total number of countries that have paid their obligations to the United States. Finland was the only country making a complete and prompt payment. The Finnish government deposited $146,592.50 in silver at the assay office on June 15 and thus met the requirements of the debt agreement. Great Britain, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Roumania, Latvia and now Lithuania joined the honor roll of paying nations and thus earned the right to participate in the debt revision hearings to begin here in August.

France, and her political allies, Belgium, Poland, Jugoslavia, were notably defaulting, although the French government in giving notice of its nonpayment on June 15, recognized the validity of the debt agreement itself. Estonia and Hungary also failed to pay.

Harvard Honors Al Smith With Its Degree of LL. D.

Graduate of College of Hard Knocks One of Twelve Distinguished Men Receiving Honorary Doctorates; Gives Nation 3-Point Program.

Cambridge, Mass., June 22 (A.P.).—Alfred Emmanuel Smith, who obtained his early schooling in the college of hard knocks, was honored today by the county's oldest institution of higher learning when Harvard University conferred upon him the degree of doctor of laws.

Rising from his place on the platform in historic Sever Quadrangle, as the university brought its 297th year to a close, the former governor of New York received his diploma from the hands of A. Lawrence Lowell, retiring president, amid a storm of applause.

A short time later, speaking before the alumni association in the same spot where, earlier in the day, 2,148 students had received their degrees in course and 11 other men of distinguished attainments had been admitted to honorary fellowship of the university, Smith laid down a three-point program for the Nation's future.

"First," he said, in a ringing voice familiar to millions who have heard him on innumerable political forums, "we must preserve at all costs the rule of the majority; when the majority speaks, that's the end of it.

"Second, keep your eye on the Constitution. That's the best guarantee and safeguard of democracy.

"Third, let Harvard and other American universities keep open the doors without reference to race and creed to every ambitious young man, and then, no matter what else happens to us, we are bound to be safe."

The honorary degree of doctor of laws also was conferred on four other men important in public life, Sir Ronald C. Lindsay and Andre de Laboulaye, ambassadors, respectively, from Great Britain and France, and upon Lewis W. Douglas, director of the budget, and Wilbur L. Cross, Governor of Connecticut.

Arthur G. Peterson, economist of the United States Department of Agriculture, received the degree of doctor of philosophy in economics from Harvard University at the commencement. An alumnus of the University of Minnesota (B.S., 1925; M.A., 1926), he pursued graduate study at Harvard as a fellow of the Social Science Research Council.

LIVE STOCK NEEDED FOR MEDICAL TESTS

Veterinary Chiefs Urge Use of State-Owned Cattle at U. of Md.

Farms and live stock owned and raised by State farms and penal institutions should be donated for experimental purposes to make up for the recent cuts in State research appropriations, it was suggested yesterday at the Maryland State Veterinary Medical Association Conference, held at the University of Maryland.

Dr. H. J. Patterson, director of the experimental station at the university and author of the proposal, continued his remarks by explaining that the medical research laboratories had been greatly handicapped by the slashing of State budgets.

Dr. W. E. Campbell, of Bel Air, Md., president of the Veterinary Association, followed with an explanation of the ways and means for cutting expenses within the medical profession to meet the crisis.

The District of Columbia was represented at the meeting by Dr. E. B. Smith, Dr. C. J. Gibbs, Maj. R. C. Wright, U. S. A.; Lieut. R. G. Yule, U. S. A., and Dr. J. P. Turner.

Prince Georges County had as delegates Dr. R. C. Reed, Dr. E. B. Semonds, in charge of the tuberculosis eradication for the State of Maryland; Dr. L. J. Poelma, Dr. H. M. DeVolt, Dr. I. M. Moulthrop, Dr. A. Gow, jr., Dr. A. L. Bruechner, Dr. Patterson, Dr. Marie Welsh, secretary and treasurer of the association, and Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the University of Maryland. Montgomery County was represented by Dr. O. M. Grubb and Dr. R. A. Gregory. The meeting will be concluded today.

CUMMINGS DIRECTS WAR ON GANGSTERS

First Move That of Finding Source of Machine Gun Supply.

(Associated Press.)

A relentless campaign—but minus the frills that go into the making of movie thrillers—has been directed against racketeers by Attorney General Cummings.

One of the first objectives, the Attorney General said yesterday, will be to ascertain where gangsters obtain machine guns.

Cummings called the slaying of a Justice Department agent and four other officers last week at Kansas City "a challenge to American civilization."

"I do not expect to solve the question by magic," Cummings said. "We must proceed slowly. I hope to advance to the solution of it.

"We have got to win that war. We shall."

He said various plans were being considered for a Nation-wide drive against criminals and that an agreement might be worked out with State authorities which would make it more effective. The Attorney General expressed the belief that the criminal, confronted with the combined police powers of the Nation and 48 States, would find himself in a net from which there would be no escape.

Return of Hoarded Gold Speeded Up

More gold was returned from hoarding last week than was returned during the whole of the previous campaign against hoarders, it was shown by a report of the Department of Justice issued yesterday.

Up to June 14 only $210,731 had been returned on demand of agents of the Department of Justice. On June 21, however, the total was $527,184, an increase of $316,403 in one week. Prior to June 14 the average amount returned was $1,596 per hoarder, while the average amount returned last week increased to $4,752.

Agents of the bureau have now interviewed 3,800 persons whose names were submitted by the Treasury Department as having withdrawn large amounts of gold or gold certificates. Of these, 199 have returned their gold on demand of the agents. Another group, numbering 180, have refused to return the gold withdrawn, supposed to be $1,274,389.

Shoals Program Makes 1,000 Jobs

(Associated Press.)

Busy at its task of setting up an organization to carry on its encompassing development program, the Tennessee Valley authority yesterday announced its first major project would be construction of the Cove Creek dam and reservoir in Tennessee.

J. L. "Jack" Savage, designer of scores of dams for the Federal reclamation service, is already at work in Denver on plans for the project, estimated to cost $34,000,000 and stand as a keystone of President Roosevelt's Tennessee Basin program.

Construction of the dam, in which jobs for 1,000 are expected to be found, will be spread over four years, it was announced by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, chairman, who has just returned from a trip into the area.

Morgan said there would be little outside employment since there was "enough labor in the immediate locality of the dam to supply the total needs."

Kuhn, Loeb Taxes Examination Ends

(Associated Press.)

Senate investigators disclosed yesterday that they had made a thorough scrutiny of the income tax returns of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. partners, but would not say how prominent a part this phase of the inquiry would play in the investigation opening next week. Chairman Fletcher and other committee members said the purpose of the inquiry was to study banking and stock exchange practices.

With the Kuhn, Loeb inquiry set for Tuesday, Ferdinand Pecora, the committee counsel, and his staff were in New York to finish the preliminary investigation they have been conducting for several months into the firm's operations.

Another important phase of the Morgan inquiry, the financing of the Van Sweringen railroad holding company—the Alleghany Corporation—will have a parallel in the Kuhn, Loeb case, investigators said.

The committee, they said, will inquire into the part played by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. in financing the Pennroad Corporation, the Pennsylvania Railroad holding company.

Campaign to Be Pushed For Equal Rights Bills

(Associated Press.)

Support for equal rights measures will be sought of senators and representatives during their home period in a campaign announced yesterday by the National Woman's Party. Anita Pollitzer, of New York, party vice chairman, has been called to Washington to work for the legislation, which includes:

The nationality bill introduced by Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, and Representative Dickstein (Democrat), New York, removing discrimination against women in the nationality law; an equal rights amendment, a proposed reservation to the World Court protocol of adherence, and action by the administration to prevent discrimination against married women under the economy act.

LABOR WARNS IT WILL INSIST ON RIGHTS IN RECOVERY DRIVE

Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, made public an estimate that "slightly more" than 1,200,000 persons have found employment since March. The Federation head estimated that in March, 1933, there were 13,770,000 persons unemployed and in May there were 12,540,000 unemployed. In April 735,000 went back to work and in May, 495,000.

"The employment gain in April, due as it was to the rebound from crisis," he said, "could not be taken as indicating an upward trend. Now that gains have continued for a second month, there is more reason to believe that foundations for an upward trend are forming."

Meanwhile every other branch of the complicated and growing recovery organization was striving to speed its work.

The Cabinet board of public works, of which Secretary of the Interior Ickes is the head, laid down the principles which shall guide the authorized $3,300,000,000 construction program.

Projects which are to be favored are those which can be quickly started and brought to a conclusion and other determining factors include the amount of employment they will provide; preference is to be given to projects in populous areas, with those areas having large numbers of unemployed given preference over those where there is less suffering. Projects are to be completed and the funds are not to be used as a beginning of future governmental obligations. Works also must be socially desirable and of benefit to the community.

State Administrators.

Confronted by a growing invasion of seekers of funds for various projects, including State and municipal, such as a new subway in New York, Secretary Ickes made public a statement in which he said that all non-Federal projects would have to be passed on by State administrators and advisory boards which are to be named soon. The Cabinet board, the Secretary said, expected to have a list of State administrators ready for submission to President Roosevelt soon after he returns from his vacation. No State projects would be acted on by the Federal board until passed on by the State organizations, it was said. The work is to be under the direction of Col. Donald H. Sawyer, temporary emergency administrator.

An aspect of the difficulties to be faced in carrying out the recovery program was developed at a meeting of the United Typothetae of America in the Willard Hotel. Dudley Cates, assistant recovery administrator, told the meeting it might be necessary to seek legislation in several States to fit intrastate business into the national recovery scheme. Several States have stringent laws similar to the Federal antitrust act, the provisions of which were loosened by the national recovery act.

The recovery act, Mr. Cates said, did give to the recovery administration jurisdiction over intrastate business when it in any way affects interstate commerce.

He warned business men coming to Washington that the Government did not propose to tell industry what it must do, but would pass on industrial codes after they had been drafted. The recovery administration would not be decentralized, but would be kept in Washington, he said.

Dr. Alexander Sachs, chief of the economic division of the recovery administration, was called on to meet a bucking branch of the coal industry, representatives of which were gathered at the Carlton Hotel. The meeting comprised members of the Central Coal Associates, the membership of which includes most of the Appalachian bituminous industry, spreading over parts of Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, and Maryland. The Central association believes it has special problems of its own which make inadvisable one code for the entire coal industry.

Contractors to Meet.

The second code to be submitted by an industry was received by Gen. Johnson yesterday. It came from cast iron soil pipe manufacturers representing 95 per cent of their industry, and proposed a 30-hour work week with a minimum wage of $2.75 a day in Southern plants and $4.25 a day in Northern plants. The manufacturers estimated the code would mean reemployment for 2,500 men immediately. The total employed in the industry normally is about 12,000. Because of the small number involved, it was indicated by Gen. Johnson action would first be taken on codes submitted by larger industries.

The Associated General Contractors of America are to consider provisions of a code for their business at a meeting in Chicago on Monday. The meeting would consider incorporating a provision which would enable public officials, architects and those contemplating award of contracts to consider responsibility and ability of prospective bidders, an announcement by the association said.

EATON BOMB PLOT ORIGINATOR SOUGHT

Attempt on Representative's Life Foiled by Employe Who Finds Machine.

A few slim threads of evidence were gathered up by agents of the Department of Justice last night, as a Federal and State search was launched for perpetrators of a plot to take the life of Representative Charles A. Eaton, of New Jersey, by attaching a 20-pound bomb to the ignition system of his automobile.

The representative's son, Charles A. Eaton, jr., of the Bellevue Hotel, 15 E street northwest, late yesterday appealed to J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice, to place his operatives on the case. Requesting action on the theory that the life of a Federal official had been threatened, Mr. Eaton was assured the department would immediately start an investigation.

Agents Assigned.

Justice agents in New York were assigned to the plotters' trail. Lack of clews indicated the plot had been carefully planned in advance. New Jersey authorities, at a late hour last night, announced little success in their investigation.

Had it not been for an alert employe of Representative Eaton's household, the attempted assassination probably would have been successful.

Joseph Balent discovered the bomb when he investigated a noise in the Eaton garage early yesterday.

Noticing a loose wire hanging from the engine of one of the automobiles usually driven by the representative, he raised the engine hood to find a 12-inch tube fastened to the ignition. Without hesitation, he doused the tube in a bucket of water.

Bomb Highly Explosive.

The tube was apparently wired to cause the bomb to explode when the car was started. Examination at the du Pont powder plant revealed the infernal machine to be highly explosive. It was no work of a novice, plant officials said, and had it gone off persons nearby would undoubtedly have been killed.

Attaches at the House Office Building here last night recalled a mysterious man, who several weeks ago inquired for Representative Eaton's office. His strange actions aroused suspicion and Capitol police were warned to be on the lookout for his reappearance.

Representative Eaton is considered an expert on industrial relations and is a cousin of Cyrus Eaton, the Cleveland financier. He could give no reason for the attempt on his life.

"It seems a gesture against the United States rather than one against me personally," he said.

3 Senators Ill Here Reported Improving

Three senators who are ill here were reported considerably improved yesterday.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, is confined to his home because of a stomach disorder; Senator George, of Georgia, is at Naval Hospital, suffering from an attack of pneumonia, and Senator Lewis, of Illinois, is at Garfield Hospital with an intestinal disorder.

Macon Acceptance Scheduled Today

Rear Admiral E. J. King, U. S. N., chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, will leave here this morning by plane for Akron, where the airship Macon will be formally accepted from the contractors on behalf of the Commandant of the Ninth Naval District and the Navy Department.

As representative of Rear Admiral Cluverius, commandant of the Ninth Naval District, Admiral King, will then deliver the ship to her commanding officer, Commander A. H. Dresel, U. S. N., at 2 p. m. The usual commissioning ceremonies will be held when the Macon is placed in the list of vessels of the United States Navy.

Tonight the Macon will take off from Akron and fly to Lakehurst, N. J., with Admiral King as passenger. Following an inspection of the Naval Air Station at Lakehurst, Admiral King will return to Washington by plane.

BILBO WANTS TITLE MORE EXPRESSIVE

Asserts He Will Have Peek Describe His Farm Act Duty; Is Phrenologist.

(Associated Press.)

Phrenology, described as the science of judging people by looking at the shape of their heads, is counted upon by former Gov. Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi to aid him in his new duties with the farm adjustment administration.

He told newspapermen yesterday he had acquired exceptional gifts in phrenology nnd that they had contributed greatly in carrying him forward from a farm boy to governor of his State. Now that he has been appointed "advisory counsellor" to administrators of the farm act, he continued, he expects to make continued use of this ability.

Administrators officially described his work as that of "assembling current information records for the adjustment administration from news magazines and other published sources."

Bilbo said he was dissatisfied with this description and added:

"I am going to take it up with George Peek, chief administrator. I am going to have a statement in a few days approved by him setting forth my duties.

"I am directly responsible to Peek and Secretary Wallace and as some of my work will be of a confidential nature it may not be possible to describe it fully.

"I am going to be kind of a shock-absorber, a trouble shooter or as some of the big industries describe it, 'a public relations director.'"

Bilbo yesterday obtained a newspaper directory and plans to subscribe for two newspapers in each State, one Democratic and the other Republican, in order to obtain a broad view of reaction to administration of the farm act.

PLEDGES FULFILLED, LEADER BYRNS SAYS

Declares All Should Show Optimism as Measures Enacted Are Tried.

(Associated Press.)

A claim that the Democratic administration during the 100 days of Congress had fulfilled virtually all of its platform pledges was advanced yesterday by Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, the Democratic leader.

In his review of the accomplishments of the session just closed, Byrns said, "The country now knows that there is at least one party which believes that pledges are sacred and must be kept."

"Every one," Byrns said, "should exhibit a spirit of optimism and confidence in the future which is justified by the present trend of events, and those who may seek, for any reason whatever, to lessen this spirit of optimism and confidence are not serving the best interests of their country."

Byrns said that in the special session just closed more was accomplished than in any similar session of Congress in the history of the country.

"The far-reaching effect of the major measures enacted at this session can not be realized for many months, but there can be no question of the statement that the lives and fortunes of every individual in this Nation will be touched and the course of many changed.

"In the short space of three and one-half months it enacted 12 major constructive measures and passed legislation which enabled the President, by bringing about economies in Govermental expenditures, to balance the budget for the first time in several years."

Byrns said he would "not fail to pay tribute to the fine spirit of cooperation of the Republican minority which joined the Democratic majority in placing the stamp of approval on nearly all of these measures."

Discussing the powers given the President by Congress, Byrns said:

"This delegation of power was conferred to meet an acute emergency and is limited to a period of not more than two years."

Bahol Appointed Premier of Siam

Bangkok, Siam, June 22 (A.P.).—Phya Bahol, former commander in chief of the army, was appointed Premier of Siam today by King Prajadhipok.

The new premier resigned his army post a few days ago and then led the bloodless revolution Tuesday which resulted in the overthrow of the former government. The Siamese press was unanimous in praising the revolt leaders, declaring they saved the country from a dictatorship by a small group.

"There will be no Communism in Siam," said Phya Bahol. The new government will enforce the constitution under the king, newspapers announced. The national assembly met later today to discuss the appointment of a cabinet.

SOCIAL DEMOCRATS OUTLAWED BY NAZIS

announced last Monday that no exiled members might speak for the party. Although much Socialist property already was in the hands of the government, the party had been tolerated in the legislatures.

Drive Against Catholics.

The charge of treason was made against former party leaders now in exile, such as Otto Wels, Frederick Stampfer and Breitscheid.

Among a number of persons arrested in alleged antigovernment activities in Kaiserlauten and Duesseldorf today were two Catholic priests and four Catholic journalists. A Catholic youth meeting tonight in Juelich was banned by government order.

The Catholic hierarchy had challenged Hitler's claim that the youth of the nation belong to the state and a church communique asserted that military service for young people was "inacceptable to the conscience of Catholic youth."

University Rector Banished.

Prof. Franz Eggersdorfer, rector of the Catholic University at Passau, near the Austrian border, was banished from Bavaria today after a search of his house which was alleged to prove his connection with the Christian Socialists in Austria.

In another decree the scope of department stores and chain stores was limited to merchandising of goods made by others. They may no longer compete with such independent artisans as photographers, tailors, auto repairmen and barbers.

RESTORATION OF CONFIDENCE BOOSTS PUBLIC PURCHASES

American Prices Higher.

"It appears, therefore," the Bulletin says, "that American prices have advanced somewhat more rapidly than British prices, even after allowance has been made for differences due to depreciation in the exchange value of the dollar. At the end of May American prices for these six commodities averaged about 60 per cent higher than in February. Of this rise of 60 points in the index, about one-half appears to correspond to a rise in the British or world price of these commodities. Of the other half of the advance, a part corresponded to the decline in the exchange value of the dollar as compared with the pound sterling, and a part represented price advances in the American market in excess both of the British prices and of the depreciation of the dollar in the exchange market."

In terms of international purchasing power, the American dollar today is worth about 80 cents, as compared with March 1. This depreciation of 20 per cent in the value of the dollar, when added to the 30 per cent increase in the world price level of the six commodities represents the increase of 50 per cent in the current British price in terms of dollars.

Foreign Buyers Profit.

The resulting advantage of 10 per cent in the purchase of these basic raw materials by foreign manufacturers must tend gradually to the elimination of American-made goods from the world markets and to steadily increasing imports of foreign goods to supply the American domestic market.

In its recapitulation of gains in the field of banking, the bulletin emphasizes prevailing easy money rates, accumulating excess reserves, continued return of gold from hoarding and a further decline in money in circulation.

At the end of May the total of money in circulation was but $170,000,000 more than at the end of January. This figure indicates almost the complete return to banking institutions of panic withdrawals immediately preceding the March holiday.

1,000,000 Men Reemployed.

No less than $1,760,000,000 has been returned to the banks since March 4. Withdrawals between February 1 and March 4 were $1,840,000,000. The $170,000,000, the Bulletin explains, may in part "reflect the recent growth in the volume of business activity with a consequent increase in the demand for currency for pay rolls and for retail trade."

Simultaneously with the release of the Federal Reserve Bulletin, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor estimated that approximately 1,000,000 men have been restored to domestic pay rolls since the bank-holiday industrial paralysis.

This restoration of employment represents only slightly more than recovery of the ground lost in February and March, this year. The Department of Labor's employment index for May stood 1.7 per cent below May, 1932.

To its latest monthly survey of industrial employment the American Federation of Labor appended the warning:

"Cheerful as this news sounds, there is no evidence yet that it marks the start of recovery."

As of June 1, the American Federation of Labor estimated the American unemployed at 12,100,000.

Commission Denies Bus Line Extension

A petition filed by the Takoma (D. C.) Citizens Association requesting extension of the Washington Rapid Transit Co. bus line from Fifth and Gallatin streets to Fifth and Cedar streets was denied yesterday by the Public Utilities Commission.

Both the bus company and the street railways opposed the extension because of the contemplated merger of the street car companies and the bus line and the resultant route changes.

The Greyhound Bus Lines and the Blue Ridge Transportation Co. were authorized to use the new Greyhound terminal on New York avenue, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, Sunday and thereafter. The Washington-Luray Bus Lines was permitted to use the Nevin Bus Lines terminal at Twelfth street and New York avenue.

C. & P. to Give Data Required August 1

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. yesterday informed the Public Utilities Commission that it would furnish some data on depreciation charges by August 1 in conformance with an order issued by the commission several weeks ago.

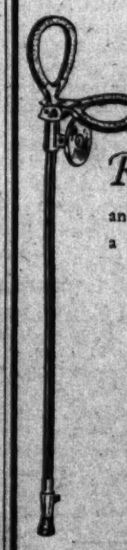

Because the Interstate Commerce Commission postponed for a year the date of receiving this data from all telephone companies through the State commissions, the District commission asked the local telephone company whether it intended to comply with its order.

While the I. C. C. insists that it has control over all telephone depreciation charges, the District commission's order was based solely on the authority specified in the commission's organic act.

SPECIAL NOTICES

PURSUANT TO THE PROVISIONS OF Article 2, section 2, of the by-laws of the company, a special meeting of the stockholders of the Capital Traction Company is called to be held at the office of the company at Thirty-sixth and M streets northwest, Washington, D. C., on the 3D DAY OF JULY, 1933, at 11 o'clock a. m., to consider the approval of a certain form of agreement for the unification of the transit properties in the District of Columbia, as contained in and provided by joint resolution of Congress approved January 14, 1933, as amended February 16, 1933, "To authorize the merger of street-railway corporations operating in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes." The polls will be open from 11:15 a. m. until 12 noon, July 3, 1933. H. D. CRAMPTON, Secretary.

COURT SETS ASIDE SCOTTSBORO RULING

One of 9 Defendants Given New Trial by Action of Alabama Judge.

Athens, Ala., June 22 (A.P.).—Heywood Patterson, one of nine Negro defendants in the Scottsboro case, was granted a new trial today by an Alabama trial court—the same one that sentenced him to death April 9 when he was convicted of assaulting a white girl hobo.

Judge James E. Horton set aside Patterson's conviction on contention the testimony of the prosecutrix was not corroborated and "bears on its face indications of improbability and is contradicted by other evidence."

"Constitutional law still prevails in Alabama," said George W. Chamlee, sr., of Chattanooga, one of defense counsel, when the decision was announced.

Attorney General Thomas E. Knight, jr., who prosecuted Patterson, asked the court to set an early date for a new trial.

Judge Horton allowed no arguments. Chamlee asked Horton if he would consider a motion to dismiss indictments against all the defendants.

The jurist replied, "Such a procedure would be improper."

Patterson, defended by Samuel Leibowitz, of New York, was convicted last April of assaulting Mrs. Victoria Price. He previously had been convicted in Scottsboro, but the Supreme Court of the United States reversed the decision.

Judge Horton held today that the evidence in the case "greatly preponderates in favor of the defendant."

The decision throws the celebrated cases back where they were two years ago, when nine Negroes were arrested and charged with assaulting Mrs. Price and Ruby Bates on a freight train in northern Alabama.

Cement Price War Ended in Illinois

Springfield, Ill., June 22 (A.P.).—Ending the State's cement price war, Gov. Horner today announced that a contract had been negotiated with the Marquette Cement Co., of Oglesby for the purchase of 2,000,000 barrels of cement at $1.44 a barrel.

The purchase effected a saving of $360,000, compared with bids rejected. The price averaged 50 cents a barrel higher than that paid last year for highway construction.

It was 18 cents under the identical bids, averaging $1.62, submitted by 16 companies and three times rejected at the order of the governor.

PROF. SIMON TELLS SCHUBERT'S STORY

Several of Composer's Songs Sung by Artists at Arts Club.

In discussing not so much matters of a biological nature but the inner significance of a personality, Prof. Otto Torney Simon addressed the Arts Club last evening on "Franz Schubert, His Songs and Friends."

Following the talk Rose Bright, Edna Marie Jones, Hazel Gem Hughes and Lillian Adelaide Watson, assisted by Harry Cherkassky, violinist of the National Symphony Orchestra, presented a group of songs of this great Viennese composer.

As melody is the essential element of song, said Prof. Simon, so is it with the very name of Schubert, in whose songs the gossamer thread of limpid melody hovers over words as does the spirit over the body, arousing, illuminating the more formal text.

When the composer was not at creative work, continued the speaker, Schubert found his greatest happiness in a little circle of friends, whose names—Vogel, the opera singer; Mayerhofer and the Baron von Schober, poets; Josef Spaun, orchestra leader; and the brother, Huettenbrenner—have come down to the present inseparably linked with Schubert's through an all-for-one-and-one-for-all association that becomes a shining example of the triumph of friendship over the problems of poverty.

In the musical portion of the program the tender "Serenade," sung by Miss Hughes, and the great "Ave Maria," sung by Miss Watson, both with violin obligato, were the high spots, with Mr. Cherkassky's rendition of the "Valse Sentimentale" running a very close second.

Among the other songs were "Frulingslaube" and "Der Lindenbaum," sung by Miss Bright; "The Phantom" and "The Young Nun," sung by Miss Jones; "My Sweet Repose," sung by Miss Hughes, and "Gretchen at the Spinning Wheel," sung by Miss Watson.

CORONER HOLDS TRIO IN DEATH OF COOLEY

Two Women and Man Will Face Prince Georges Grand Jury.

After deliberating more than one hour a Prince Georges County coroner's jury yesterday decided to hold Mrs. Margaret Nash, Mrs. Mabel McGee and Homer Wellman for the grand jury in connection with the death of Richard C. Cooley June 12. Charges of manslaughter were placed against them by State's Attorney Alan Bowie.

Cooley, 65-year-old boarder at the Nash household in Riverdale, Md., was found unconscious in a second floor bedroom by county police. He had been beaten about the head and chest. Rushed to Providence Hospital by the Bladensburg Rescue Squad, he was pronounced dead approximately 24 hours later.

The inquest, held in Hyattsville before Justice of the Peace F. H. Painter, heard only Wellman as defense witness. The remainder of the hearings were waived by Joseph DeLeo, attorney for the defense.

According to Wellman, who was arrested in the basement of the house the night of the fatal beating, Cooley was attempting to beat Mrs. Nash when he intervened.

"I struck Cooley and his head struck a radiator," Wellman continued. "Mrs. Nash naturally fought to ward off the attack. Mrs. McGee was downstairs when the incident occurred and took no part in it." Mrs. McGee, who was arrested later in Washington, wept throughout the hearing.

County Policeman Claude Reese, one of the arresting officers, testified that he understood the fight to have begun when Cooley attempted to break into the bathroom in which Mrs. Nash had locked herself.

Witnesses for the State included Dr. Oscar LaVine, who said the man's death could have been caused by a clot on the brain or a dislocated spine, and Mrs. Anna Roberts, next door neighbor, who heard the fight.

Ernest R. Salmon, Riverdale, said he was walking past the house and saw a tall man and a short man fighting. J. Albert Becker testified that he heard a woman scream "keep out of my room!" This was followed by the sound of blows, he said.

William R. Simonds, Broker, Dies.

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—William Robinson Simonds, 54, for 29 years a member of the New York Stock Exchange and a partner in the firm of Blagden & Simonds, died today after an emergency operation.

MITCHELL THANKS ATTORNEY

MITCHELL IN TEARS AS HE IS ACQUITTED

Banker Is Deeply Moved by Verdict Long Delayed in Tax Case.

New York, June 21 (A.P.).—Two softly spoken words—"not guilty"—brought Charles E. Mitchell to his feet today in the dingy Federal Court room where for nearly six weeks he stood trial on charges of evading more than $850,000 in income taxes.

His face fiery red and his eyes moist with tears, the former head of the world's second largest bank heard 12 tired jurors acquit him on both counts of his indictments, slightly more than 24 hours after they had received the case.

To a crowd that pressed around him as he left the courtroom a moment later, Mitchell spoke in a trembling voice:

"I can't say anything now. I'm too moved."

He sought out the jurors, shook hands with and thanked each.

Then he asked for his attorney, Max D. Steuer, who shoved forward.

"Thanks, Max, thanks," whispered Mitchell as he placed an arm around the lawyer's shoulder.

"This verdict proves that in the State of New York justice can still be had by the verdict of a jury; that neither mob psychology nor emotion will enter the final determination," said Steuer in a statement. Mr. Mitchell was absolutely innocent of the accusations made against him as a result of what was deemed popular demand."

The jury reached a verdict swiftly after it had entered the courtroom a second time during the morning for instructions.

The first time it repeated a request of yesterday for another reading of Judge Henry W. Goddard's charge about Mitchell's receipt of $666,666.67 from a National City company management fund.

The allegation that Mitchell, once chairman of the company and of the National City Bank, illegally failed to include that money in his 1929 income tax return constituted one part of the indictment.

The other charges involved sale of stock to his wife and to W. D. Thornton, on which he suffered such losses that he paid no income tax in 1929 and 1930.

Friends crowded around the former banker after the jury returned its verdict. Among those who shook hands with him was Mrs. George Z. Medalie, whose husband as United States attorney had prosecuted the case.

NOMINATED

JOHN LOCKE GREEN,
who was nominated as a candidate for the House of Delegates last night at the Arlington County Republican convention.

GREEN IS CANDIDATE FOR DELEGATE POST

Arlington County Republicans Name Independent for Primary.

John Locke Green, who more than a month ago came out as an independent candidate for the House of Delegates from Arlington County, last night was unanimously chosen as the Republican candidate for that office at the county convention in Lyon Park. More than 100 delegates from the 11 voting precincts attended. Dr. William Mosely Brown, who had been placed in nomination by the Cherrydale delegation, withdrew in favor of Green.

Accepting the nomination, Green declared that he will continue to carry on his fight against the State Corporation Commission and if elected will make every effort to enact laws whereby the commission will be elected by the people. They are now appointed by the General Assembly.

Repeal Vote Favored.

The convention went on record as favoring the calling of a State convention to allow the expression of the people on repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Pending the convening of such convention the Legislature should enact legislation legalizing the sale of all nonintoxicating beverages legalized by the recent special session of Congress, it decided.

It favored the immediate abolition of the fee system, opposed the short ballot, favored the continuation of county road control by the county's administrative officers.

The convention favored larger appropriations for public schools and the retention of county policemen under the control of the county's sheriff office.

It advocated liberal appropriations for child welfare and the reduction of automobile license tags to at least 50 per cent.

The convention favored a modification of the present law in Virginia which legalizes 3½ per cent a month, or 42 per cent a year, on small sums of money borrowed from loan sharks.

Delegates Elected.

Delegates elected to attend the State convention, which meets at Lynchburg July 3 and 4, follow by precincts:

Clarendon, No. 1—A. B. Eaton, Arthur J. Porter, Edward Wood, Louis A. MacMahon, Mrs. Myrtle MacMahon, H. A. Grigsby and Mrs. H. A. Grigsby.

Clarendon, No. 2—J. H. Hutchinson, Mrs. Frances A. Harris, Herbert H. Porter and Edgar W. Pumphrey.

Lyon Park—Lawrence Michael, Mrs. Sophie Baker, Earl English, Mrs. Elsie English, Mrs. Fannie Butler and Mrs. Albert Marium.

Carne—W. M. Brown, Mrs. W. M. Brown, F. H. Seidenspinns, William Coppage, G. A. Ahalt, W. Walter King, Mrs. Ellen A. Ahalt, Mrs. Nannie Coppage, Fred A. Gosnell and Carl Weaver.

Arlington—John Locke Green, G. H. Daniels, J. O. Pepper, W. W. Wright, N. E. Compton and H. L. Wilson.

Ballston—Mrs. Marion Hagan, Charles C. Darr, Roy Burnett, A. R. Money, G. E. Mann and Jorge Lonzerbean.

Cherrydale—L. C. MacPherson, Harry B. Mason, C. C. MacPherson, G. R. Newman, Mrs. Alice C. Mason, G. F. D. Rollings, Mrs. Adelaide Stewart, Mrs. L. C. MacPherson and John R. McCormick.

Rosslyn—E. Van Duson, Carl Marshall, Dr. Victor Meyer.

Virginia Highlands—Clarence R. Ahalt, H. L. Woodward, Mrs. Julia Richart, Mrs. Margery Prytherch, Edward Duncan, O. N. Woodward and Mrs. Olga Venske.

Glencarlyn—Mrs. Frances Mabry and Mrs. Claire Tisdale.

Joseph L. Crupper, member State National Committee, was elected as a delegate at large.

County Chairman L. C. MacPherson was instructed to fill any vacancies that may occurr in any of the 11 precincts.

No delegates from East Falls Church Precinct were named at the convention. Carl Marshall presided.

BRIBERY IS CHARGED TO NEPHEW OF DOAK

Ervin Brown, Indicted, Says "Frame Up" in Deal With Criminal Alien.

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—Ervin F. Brown, head of the Immigration Service's recently abandoned investigation division here, was charged in a Federal grand jury indictment today with soliciting and accepting a bribe from a criminal alien.

Brown is a nephew of William N. Doak, former Secretary of Labor, who said at Washington no complaint against Brown had been made while he was in the Cabinet.

The indicted man was said by S. B. Hopkins, in charge of the Tampa (Fla.) immigration office, to be on a furlough, which ends June 30. Hopkins added he did not know Brown's whereabouts, and the Federal deputy marshal's office at Tampa reported he was being sought.

Four counts, each charging acceptance of a separate bribe, were in the indictment, which said the alien involved was a Mexican, Joseph Belasco Morales, who bears several aliases.

The indictment set forth that Morales was arrested on the ground he entered the United States illegally and it charged that Brown had his bail reduced from $4,000 to $1,000. Brown is accused in the indictment of having received $300 from the Liberty bonds released as collateral.

He also is accused of having received subsequently a gold wrist watch, an automobile robe and a camera from Morales.

The indictment alleges Brown recommended the alien's release on his own recognizance and that when this was done, Morales remained at large until his recent arrest in Los Angeles. He is being held there for removal to New York as a witness against Brown.

Tampa, Fla., June 22 (U.P.)—Ervin Brown, indicted by a Federal grand jury in New York on charges of soliciting and accepting a bribe while head of the recently abolished Local Division of Investigation of the Immigration Department, branded the charges a "frame up" here today.

Brown, a nephew of former Secretary of Labor Doak, was in the custody of his attorney, William M. Gober, a former U. S. District Attorney, tonight. Gober said he would remain in his custody until the bail was fixed.

Parents to Verify Tale of Drowning

Edmonton, June 22 (A.P.).—Seeking confirmation of reports that their son, Robert, with two fellow students from the Colorado School of Mines, at Golden, Colo., had drowned while on a canoe trip through the North country, Mr. and Mrs. John Burns, of Nelson, B. C., tonight were at Fort Chipawayan, north of McMurray.

Meager information so far at hand said the three youths, on a vacation in the Far North, drowned when their canoe capsized. It is to ascertain the truth of these reports that the Burns made their hurried trip from the coast, going from McMurray to Fort Chipawayan by airplane.

Robert's companions were Albert Comstock, from Bronxville, N. Y., and Robert Weld, of Watertown, Conn.

Minna Adelman, Actress, Dies.

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—Minna Adelman, actress and wife of Joseph Adelman, of the American Academy of Dramatic Art, died today after a heart attack. She appeared on Broadway more than two decades ago in numerous productions of Henry B. Harris, retiring from the stage after Harris went down with the Titanic.

EDWARD B. ALMON, OF ALABAMA, DEAD

Roads Committee Chairman of House Was Booster for Muscle Shoals.

Representative Edward B. Almon, 73, who has represented the Eighth District of Alabama in the House for the last 20 years, died yesterday at his apartment at the George Washington Inn. The elderly Democrat had been in critical condition since a heart attack Tuesday.

Representative Almon was chairman of the House Roads Committee and member of the Pensions and Public Buildings Committees. He was known for his long fight for Muscle Shoals legislation, which was accomplished by the Tennessee Valley Department act of the special session.

Almon was born in Moulton, Ala., on April 15, 1860. He took up the practice of law following his graduation from the University of Alabama. He served in both houses of his State Legislature and on the Alabama bench before his election to Congress.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. James A. Ryder, of Washington, and a son, Clopper Almon, of Tuscumbia, Ala. The body left Washington last night for Tuscumbia. Funeral services will be held there tomorrow at 5 p. m.

REVENUE FROM BEER EXCEEDS ESTIMATES

May Returns, With Industry Still Being Organized, Are $11,172,322.

Yearly revenue from the new beer bids fair to exceed the preliminary estimate of $150,000,000 on the basis of a return of $11,172,322 for the month of May, reported yesterday by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

It was pointed out that May could not be considered a representative month, two factors acting to lower beer consumption below what it will be in the future. One is the temperature, which was not warm enough in May to stimulate beer sales to the level they will reach later in the summer. The other factor is the lack of brewery facilities, many new breweries not yet having reached the production stage.

Rising temperatures and the increased flow as new breweries come into operation will probably give a sharp rise to revenues later in the year. The increase in beer from the new plants may be enough to offset the decline in consumption which would normally begin with cool weather. For these reasons, it is considered likely that the yearly beer revenue may reach $165,000,000.

The report of the Bureau of Internal Revenue shows that 2,234,465 barrels of the amber brew were produced during the month and withdrawn from breweries for consumption. Only 8,175 barrels of wine were withdrawn, the tax from this source being $40,874. Federal taxes paid by brewers and dealers amounted to $363,704.

Former Janitor Denies Killing Newspaperman

Los Angeles, June 22 (A.P.).—Edwin Davis, former janitor employed at the Illustrated Daily News, a morning newspaper here, pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity today to charges of murdering Gail Patterson, news executive and former Minneapolis advertising man. The superior court set his trial for July 31.

Patterson was killed and John McGuire, purchasing agent of the newspaper, was wounded when Davis was alleged to have attacked them in an argument after he had been discharged.

Similar Tax Prosecutions To Go On, Cummings Says

(Associated Press.)

Attorney General Cummings said yesterday the fact that Charles E. Mitchell had been acquitted in New York of tax evasion charges did not change the duty of the department with respect to the prosecution of such charges and that it would continue this activity.

Cummings said he had received no indication that George Z. Medalie, the district attorney who prosecuted the case, intended to resign.

The Attorney General's comment on the acquittal of Mitchell was brief.

"Nevertheless, I still believe in the jury system," Cummings said.

Senator Adams (Democrat), Colorado: "The Mitchell case, regardless of the verdict, will intensify the movement in Congress for legislation to make it more difficult for the rich to evade taxes. It will be said on street corners that the Mitchell case indicates rich men stand a better chance of winning their cases than poor men. The wealthy are able to hire the best lawyers."

Senator Dickinson (Republican), of Iowa: "Many rich men have escaped taxes by taking losses on the stock exchange. The Mitchell case again points to the necessity for legislation to tighten the income tax law so that the rich will not be able to wiggle out through loopholes."

Senator McKellar (Democrat), of Tennessee: "It was a horrible miscarriage of justice."

Prohibition Agent Is Shot.

Oskaloosa, Iowa, June 22 (A.P.).—A liquor runner suspect resisting arrest late today shot and killed Harry Elliott, of Des Moines, a Federal prohibition agent, and seriously wounded A. A. Murphy, of Spencer, special employe of the Federal Liquor Bureau.

Sam Houston's Kin Dead in California

Oakland, Calif., June 22 (A.P.).—William Dent Houston, 64, retired Marine Corps officer and grandson of Gen. Sam Houston, American statesman and soldier, died at the Mare Island Naval Hospital last night.

He had been ill from heart trouble since last February. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Sam, 19, and William, 28. Like his grandfather, who was noted for having been Governor of both Tennessee and Texas as well as President of the Republic of Texas, he followed a military career.

He was on duty in Washington from 1905 to 1921. Since that time he made his home in Oakland.

Dislike of Profession Held Chief Obstacle of Teachers

Dr. Meek, of Columbia, Tells Wilson College Graduates Not to Wait Until Married to Quit If They Don't Like Their Work.

"If you don't like teaching, if you don't like children—then get out of teaching."

This was the message brought to the first four-year class of graduates of Wilson Teachers College by Dr. Lois Hayden Meek, professor of education at Columbia University, at commencement exercises last night in Roosevelt High School.

"Don't wait until you get married," Prof. Meek adjured the 50 prospective teachers, "because for some teachers that's a long time."

Prof. Meek, who was graduated from Wilson before it was elevated to the standing of a college, declared that the trouble with education today is that there are too many teachers who don't like their jobs."

The speaker outlined some of the aspects of the teaching profession, pointing out that education has an important role to play in "social reconstruction." This role, she said, is threefold: Disseminating information on present social conditions and helping the students to understand the forces at work; building a concept for adequate welfare for all peoples, and analyzing the possible methods of obtaining social welfare.

The first essential of playing this role, she said, is trained teachers who must develop an understanding of the world and its problems. Another essential is establishment of discussion forums for adults, she said. Still a third important aspect of education, cited by the speaker, is in helping boys and girls to develop "dynamic, wholesome, personalities."

The best way to do this, she said, is to provide pupils of the future with real choices of curriculum so as to avoid the danger of forcing individuals into a set mold.

"As teachers you must help the pupils choose and 'dare to be independent in thought and action,'" she said.

The exercises were opened with a processional in which the graduates, faculty, members of the Board of Education and District school officials took part.

The Rev. Dr. Frederic W. Perkins, pastor of the Universalist National Memorial Church, made the invocation. The graduating class was presented by Dr. Edgar C. Higbie, president of Wilson Teachers College. Degrees and diplomas were presented by Dr. Hayden Johnson, president of the Board of Education.

All the graduates received degrees of bachelor of science in education. They are:

Supreme Court Gives Slayer 20-Year Term

A 20-year sentence was imposed upon Levin Lucas, colored, yesterday by Chief Justice A. A. Wheat in District Supreme Court. Lucas was convicted of second degree murder in connection with the slaying of Florence Hose, also colored, at 1817 F street northwest March 31.

A two to three year sentence was given James Penson, colored, after he had entered a plea of guilty to a charge of manslaughter. He admitted killing Leonard Fields, colored, in a craps game.

Washington Prep Graduation Is Held

Ten graduates of Washington Preparatory School received their diplomas from Dr. James A. Bell, director of education of the Young Men's Christian Association. Forty-three students were presented with scholarship certificates by Dr. Robert C. Hockett, foreign language instructor. The exercises were held in the school auditorium.

Diplomas were granted Angus Alexander, Joseph Marcellus Frank, John Ray Hadnott, Helen Sutherland Keeling, Lena Carr Nead, Wilhelmina L. Riedel, James Sterling Toothman, Ethel V. Wilkinson, Harry Sellers Whitesell and Richard Andrew Yonts.

Continue Discount, Gas Firm Is Asked

The Public Utilities Commission has asked the Washington Gas Light Co. to continue the 8.5 per cent discount on gas bills from June 30 until September 30, it was announced yesterday. This would constitute the second continuation.

The continuation is asked because of the delay in completing the valuation of the gas companies, a hearing on which is scheduled to be resumed July 10.

The commission yesterday approved a reduction in the cost of laying gas lines from street mains to houses, made possible by the drop in the cost of paving materials. The reduction varies according to the type of paving.

FAIRFAX 4-H CLUBS WINNERS SELECTED

First Place Contestants Will Receive Part Expenses for V. P. I. Course.

The 4-H Club contests for Fairfax County, Va., were held Wednesday in the auditorium of the schoolhouse at Fairfax. Previous to that, each local club had held a contest and sent the winners to represent them in the county contest. Approximately 100 club members and leaders attended the contests and took part in the various events.

The first-place winners of the girls over 14 years old will have half their expenses paid to the State short course conducted at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg, Va., next month, and will represent Fairfax County in the State-wide contest while there. The year book, compiled by Mary Burke, of Oakton, will be sent to the State contest, as the entry from the county. The county contests were conducted under the direction of Miss Sarah E. Thomas, Fairfax County home demonstration agent.

The judges for the health contest were Dr. Robert E. Feagans, of Fairfax, and Dr. C. A. Carson, director of the county health unit. The judge of all other classes was Miss R. Belle Burke, northern Virginia district home demonstration agent. The winners of first place in the events were given prizes donated by the county 4-H Club council, the Cotton Textile Institute and Craig & Wright Co., of Vienna.

Baltimore Aid Condition Cited

One citizen out of every eight in the city of Baltimore is now receiving aid from some charitable organization, it was disclosed yesterday by Miss Anna D. Ward, head of the relief work in that city. Miss Ward, addressing a meeting at the sixth annual Rural Womens Short Course at the University of Maryland, cited Baltimore as an example of the relief work being carried on in the State.

Miss Anita Fattu, head of the Maryland Unemployment Relief Work, explaining the work more in detail, said that $175,000 had been given by the Federal Government to carry on the work in counties of the State. This, with the additional from town and State, must suffice until thousands of jobs can be created.

Other speakers on the program included Mrs. B. Peyton Whelan, director of the Maryland Federation of Womens Clubs; Mrs. H. Ross Coppage, president of the Maryland Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations; Mrs. Rudolph S. Allen, president of the Maryland Federation of Womens Clubs, and Mrs. Hanna Brooks, lecturer of the Maryland Grange. L. C. Carey of the Department of Agriculture forecasted paper boxes would soon be used exclusively as shipping containers for farm produce.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

EMPLOYE morale slipped another notch—if that is possible—yesterday in Foreign and Domestic Commerce. The big news in that bureau was the no-leave rule ordered the day before for F. and D. C. only. Those employes now on leave are ordered back and at end is put on what have been prospective leaves.

The comptroller general has ruled that leave must be taken before July 1. This short notice order precludes following the comptroller's ruling.

Although no reason was assigned for the no-leave schedule, it is assumed that numerous shifts from the bureau to the I. R. B., causing shortage of workers, is the reason.

Notice of the no-leave rule was circulated in a different manner from the way former notices have been sent out. Employes have been informed of orders heretofore and initialing them. No initials were required on the latest bulletin, so that if an employe failed to read the bulletin and had laid his plans to absent himself he would have learned at the last minute that leave would be refused.

"I have tried to organize a protest against such methods," said one who seemed exercised over the matter. "But what's the use they're all beaten and cowed and the spirit of those in the bureau is so low the energy thus aroused would be scarce enough to motivate a pinwheel."

Thus we come back to the matter on lack of inherent rights of which Federal employes are being given constant taste.

BASING their pleas on behalf of Capt. Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, recently in the Navy Department, noted scientist and explorer and who was ousted from his small job, two other famous explorers have joined the crusade for justice.

Maj. Gen. A. W. Greely, U. S. A., retired, and Brig. Gen. David I. Brainerd, U. S. A., retired, have voiced their sentiments in letters just made public. These two men and Capt. Baldwin are among the greatest polar explorers of the last generation.

Says Gen. Greely, "I have been informed that my good friend, Capt. Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, polar explorer, who discovered Graham Bell Land and other islands in the Arctic Ocean, and whom I consider one of those whose Arctic achievements will live in history to the credit of this Nation for all time, has been dismissed at the age of 71 from his modest civil post in the Navy under the operation of the economy act.

"He has lost practically his life savings and has been retired without a pension. He is confronted with the immediate necessity of contemplating the possibility of being an object of public charity.

"As the former commander of the so-called Greely Expedition, I respectfully appeal to you (President Roosevelt) to save my distinguished old friend from this humiliation which would be a shocking end to the extremely useful life of a fine, high-principled, patriotic American and would be disgraceful to our Nation."

GEN BRAINERD says: "• • • My friend, Capt. Baldwin, is exceptionally notable as a scientist, explorer and leader. He invented the mooring mast used by the U. S. Navy for dirigibles and instigated the deportation of Dr. Dernburg and Capts. Boy-Ed and Von Papen during the World War.

"• • • He has served our country with great distinction. He comes of the stock which produced Senator Abraham Baldwin, who signed the Constitution of the United States as senator from Georgia and founded the first State university in America.

"• • • I am informed his civil service record is flawless for service and character but lacks sufficient grades for length of service and for veterans' preference. He is not eligible for pension.

"He has virtually lost all his savings, has no one upon whom to depend and is confronted with destitution and probably eventual dependence upon public charity. • • • As a former Arctic explorer (the only survivor besides the commander of the Greely Expedition and a survivor of the dash that made the farthest north record previously held by the British for 300 years), I respectfully appeal that if otherwise consistent with public policy, you (President Roosevelt) exercise your authority to retain Capt. Baldwin at his post."

"Such treatment as Capt. Baldwin has received, especially in the case of an old man who has served the country faithfully, is a disgrace," said Arthur Brisbane.

DR. WILLIAM A. TAYLOR, Agriculture's flower chief, and an outstanding pomologist and horticulturist, earns the glad hand today. Father Time greets him. It is an occasion when flowers of congratulations are in order. Under his guidance, Washington has been treated in the spring and fall to the amaryllis and chrysanthemum shows. Since 1913, he has headed the Bureau of Plant Industry. His scientific reserves of knowledge have been tapped often, and especially whenever plant diseases threaten to take toll of the Nation's grain fields or rob orchards and vineyards of their fruit yields. Besides representing the United States on several international juries on fruit trees and fruit, he is an author of numerous papers and addresses before horticultural and pomological societies.

Albert Andrews (*) Government worker, 200 Massachusetts avenue, recently announced to The Federal News his interest in a Federal Bridge Club, should the N. F. F. E. weekly form such organization.

President Walter Shomo, Departmental Baseball League, has called a general meeting of the managers for tonight on the Ellipse, immediately after the Union Printers-Investigation fracas.

Under N. F. F. E. sponsorship the Federal Employe Unionists' Baseball Club is giving a dance at Indian Spring Golf Club tomorrow. The Federal Employe Unionists are baseball representatives of The Federal News.

Dance patrons include Luther C. Steward, president, National Federation; Miss Gertrude M. McNally, secretary-treasurer, National Federation; John W. Ginder, president, District of Columbia Federation of Federal Employes Unions; Mrs. Rebekah H. Fedigo, chairman entertainment committee, District of Columbia Federation of Federal Employes Unions; Charles L. Wiegand, third vice president, National Federation, and president Maryland State Federation of Federal Employes Unions, and Mrs. Wiegand, Ulrey J. Biller, seventh vice president, National Federation, and Leslie C. McNemar, associate editor, The Federal News, and Mrs. McNemar.

During intermission Jack McCalley, one of the members of the team, will give a chalk demonstration of quick cartooning.

A member of the Distribution Section reports that George Kendall, former chief of that division and now retired, is improving. Mr. Kendall is at San Antonio, Tex., in a sanatarium and with help of the radio given him by friends in the department and local papers sent him he manages to keep in touch with things. Mr. Kendall says he will probably spend the rest of the summer there.

LET'S shake hands—although across the interspace—with a capable Federal employe—Patrick E. McKenna, who might easily take rank as the national greeter. "Pat," as he is familiarly known, belongs to the outer guard at the White House. In the course of his every-day duties, he shakes hands graciously with the great and the near-great. He is really the middleman between the public and the official circles.

"Pat" J. McKenna.

While outside, in an official sense, it is he whom a visitor must first see to get inside. His tactfulness in receiving the public and his keen ability in separating, over a period of years, the chaff from the wheat, have earned for him continuance in office through several presidential regimes.

Pat, may the day be especially happy for you and the adding years take nothing from your rich Irish sense of humor.

At noon Wednesday William H. Davis, one of the oldest employes in point of service in the hand section, G. P. O., was honored at ceremonies attendant on his voluntary retirement as of June 30.

Mr. Davis entered service at the big printing plant from Mifflintown, Pa., in 1892 and has enjoyed more than 40 years of uninterrupted service. He spent several years on the calendars and nominations and at various times he worked in all the division of the printing department.

Mr. Davis, known as the "Chief" to his fellow workers, has proved himself master of the art of printing and a boon friend to his comrades. The best wishes and good will of his fellow operatives and the Federal Diary follow him during all the days of his retirement.

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD JEAN ALLER, enterprising daughter of Barbara B. Aller, Bureau of Fisheries, is safely installed with her menagerie at her grandmother's in Morris, Pa. Mrs. Aller drove her daughter to Morris, a distance of some 600 miles, and in the back part of the coupe were the following:

Five turtles, a bowl of guppies, and, believe it or not, a million-dollar duck. At least Jean believes it is a million-dollar duck. She received the duck on Palm Sunday, a snow-white Pekin, then no bigger than a minute. Since that time Jean has taught the duck to follow her like a dog and has had many opportunities to sell the highly prized bird, which she has named "Dickey," and which now weighs 5 pounds. But Dicky is not on the market.

Rush Buckley and E. K. Baldwin, star players of the General Accounting Office team of the Federal Bridge League, shared honors with M. Gardner, jr., and H. Acker in the recent duplicate contract tourney sponsored by the league at the Federal Clubhouse, 1515 Sixteenth street northwest.

Buckley and his partner scored 148.5 points in the east-west rotation, while Gardner and Acker copped the north-south laurels with a total of 125.5 match points. Among prominent players to compete were George C. Hill and Dixie Wright, Dr. J. E. Lind, of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, with Mrs. Lind, and Mary J. Loar, who paired with Helen Ecker.

The tournament marked the final activity of the league until next fall, although it is understood the Federal News is planning organization of a Federal Bridge Club, similar to the chess and checker bodies, within a short time.

HELVERING CHANGES DIVIDEND TAX RULE

Revenue Bureau Sets June 15 as Date Recovery Act Became Effective.

(Associated Press.)

Overruling unofficial opinions expressed by tax officials, Guy T. Helvering, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in a statement yesterday said the bureau would hold that dividends declared after June 15 were taxable.

The national industrial recovery act was signed by the President at 11:55 a. m., June 16, and officials had expressed the unofficial opinion that it became effective at that time.

The section imposing the 5 per cent tax to be withheld at the source provides that dividends declared before the "effective date" were not taxable. Counsel for the commissioners held that this meant that dividends declared before June 16, the day the new law became effective, were not taxable and any dividends declared June 16 must pay the tax.

Excess Profits Taxed.

The commissioner called attention to the other tax changes contained in the law, which included the excess profits tax imposed on corporations. This tax is equivalent to 5 per cent of that portion of the corporations' net income for the taxable year ended after June 30, 1933, which is in excess of 12½ per cent of the adjusted declared value of its capital stock.

The law also increased the rate on consolidated returns of corporations from 14½ to 14¾ per cent, but this does not apply to the taxable years 1932 and 1933.

Another change taxes the accumulation of earnings held to avoid surtax and earnings held to avoid payment of excise taxes on dividends.

One of the most important changes is the repeal of the section of the law which permitted the taxpayer to carry over for two years losses from sale or exchange of stocks and bonds which have not been held for more than two years and the repeal of the section which permitted deduction from taxable income for the year net loss in the preceding year.

Deductions Outlined.

Another change limits private banks to losses on sale or exchange of stocks or bonds which are not capital assets. Still another amendment prohibits any part of a loss of a partnership being taken as a deduction to a member of such partnership in computing his net income.

The new law also provides that all tax returns made under the act shall be open to public examination and inspection to such extent as shall be authorized by the President. It also provides that the new taxes may be declared void by the President at the end of any year during which the Government's total receipts exceed its expenditures or when the eighteenth amendment is repealed.

Helvering said regulations soon would be promulgated covering the imposition of new taxes and the changes in the law made by the various amendments.

Lohr Elected President Of Fraternal Americans

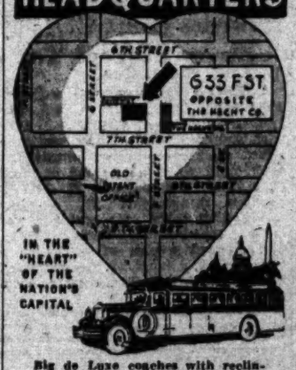

R. L. Lohr last night was elected president of the Fairfax Council, Order of Fraternal Americans, at Fairfax, Va. Other officers elected for the next six months include William J. Lane, assistant recording secretary.

John M. Whalen, who had served as recording secretary of the council for 15 years and was a past president, was awarded the past president silver medal.

County Auditor Files Arlington Tax Report

The report of Arlington County Auditor Elmer Newell yesterday shows of the total tax levy for 1932 amounting to $624,116.99 that $443,819.84 was accounted for as of June 15, 1933. This leaves uncollected $180,297.35, or 28.88 per cent.

It is further shown that that is less than the amount collected for the same period last year.

New Goal of Mrs. Roosevelt Is Virginia Trail of Father

Hopes to Attend Summer Folksong Festival at Abingdon, Where Parent Labored to Help Distressed Miners.

(Associated Press.)

Because she wishes to follow trails her father took 40 years ago, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is trying to include in her busy summer schedule a visit to the White Top Mountain folksong festival, at Abingdon, Va., August 11 and 12.

Should Mrs. Roosevelt motor there as she now plans, her homeward journey would lead through West Virginia mining camps, where she wishes to view the furniture-making craft work being done by jobless miners under sponsorship of the Society of Friends.

She's interested in those miners, not merely because they have chosen the craft that is her particular field—furniture as made by the forefathers. She wants to visit them also because her father, Elliott Roosevelt, who died when she was 9 years old, was interested in the mountaineer miners.

All her life, she has treasured the letters he wrote to her from Abingdon, and only recently she published them with other letters that revealed the character of Elliott Roosevelt, brother of Theodore.

61 MINER COLLEGE DEGREES AWARDED

B. S. in Education Conferred at Exercises Conducted in Armstrong High.

With the degree of bachelor of science in education conferred on 61 candidates by Hayden Johnson, the first commencement exercises of baccalaureate grade to be held under auspices of the Board of Education, were held yesterday by Miner Teachers College in the Armstrong High School auditorium, where Garnet C. Wilkinson, first assistant superintendent of schools, presented 59 young women and two young men, in cap and gown, for their degrees.

Dr. Johnson, president of the board, conferred the degrees by authority vested in him by the Congress of the United States and the Board of Education of the District of Columbia. Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, made the commencement address, advising the graduates to take an active part in national economic recovery because of their especial qualifications for leadership. E. A. Clark, president of the Miner Teachers College, presided.

Among others who attended and participated in the exercises were Mrs. L. W. Smith, Dr. J. Hayden Johnson, Dr. F. I. A. Bennett and Henry Gilligan, members of the Board of Education; Dr. Stephen E. Kramer, first assistant superintendent of schools; Dr. E. C. Higbie, president of the Wilson Teachers College; Judge James Adlai Cobb and H. C. Gauss, representatives of the Miner Fund; Dean Dwight O. W. Holmes, of the School of Education of Howard University; Dr. Ambrose Caliver, specialist, of the Office of Education of the Department of the Interior; F. M. Wood, supervisor, of Baltimore, and M. W. Connor, president of the Coppin Normal School, of that city.

Degrees were conferred as follows:

Bachelor of science in education—Magna cum laude, Dorothy E. Bogan, of the kindergarten-primary group. Cum laude, Henrietta R. Short, Ruby Daily Stevens and Josephine C. Tover.

Kindergarten-primary—Emma Mae Allen, Addie J. Bruce, Kate M. Cavanaugh, Bernice K. Dandridge, Elizabeth G. Dowling, Ruth E. Perryman, Beatrice M. Fleming, Viola C. Fleming, Evelyn M. Howley, Yetta E. Jackson, Mabel H. Jones, Eloise D. King, Lucy W. Mason, Armeta Rezina Schey, Mamie S. Stewart.

Grasshoppers Threaten Canadian Wheat Fields

Winnipeg, Man., June 22 (A.P.).—Nearly 2,000,000 acres of Manitoba wheat fields, extending through the Red River Valley and over 100 miles across the southern part of the province, are threatened with destruction by grasshopper swarms, government officials said today.

WEATHER MAN SAYS, "COOLER FOR TODAY"

2 Overcome by Heat of 92 Before Rain Drops Temperature.

It will be cooler today—but not much cooler.

The cooling rain that drenched the city yesterday afternoon and brought respite from the oppressive heat sent the mercury down 13 degrees to 79 degrees, at 4 o'clock.

So today, the weather man says, will be fair and slightly cooler, with gentle north and northeast winds bringing a refreshing breeze, now and then.

Two persons were overcome by the heat. They are: Miss Margaret Myers, 18 year old, of Clarendon, Va., stricken at Seventeenth and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, and Hyman Oliver, colored, of 202 Massachusetts avenue northwest, stricken at his home.

More relief is on the way for tomorrow when the weather man predicts there will be local showers and thunderstorms.

The wind that rode in yesterday's storm toppled several shade trees in the Georgetown section and reached a maximum velocity of 50 miles an hour, registered on the anemometer at the Weather Bureau.

The rainfall amounted to .47 inches. The intensity of the storm sent scurrying to cover the thousands who had sought surcease from heat and humidity.

The temperature readings yesterday were 8 a. m., 81; 10 a. m., 86; 12 noon, 90; 2 p. m., 91; 4 p. m., 79; 6 p. m., 79; 8 p. m., 78, and 10 p. m., 75.

Daniel Willard Heads Board of Reading Co.

Philadelphia, June 22 (A.P.).—Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, was elected chairman of the board of the Reading Co. today.

Willard succeeds Edward T. Stotesbury, who had been chairman of the board since January 1, 1924, and who will remain a director and chairman of the executive committee.

WOMAN DELEGATE ON REPEAL SOUGHT

United Clubs Deplore Failure of Ritchie to Name Member of Board.

Failure of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie to name a member of the board of directors of the United Democratic Women's Clubs of Maryland as a delegate to the convention for repeal was deplored in a resolution adopted yesterday at a meeting of the board at the home of Mrs. Annie Elliot, Baltimore City chairman, Bayside Beach, Md. Copies of the resolution will be sent to Gov. Ritchie and William Lee Rawls, of Baltimore, permanent chairman.

The resolution points out the continued activity of the organization for many years for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Plans for the annual convention of the organization the latter part of October in Baltimore were discussed and a group of Baltimore women appointed to take charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Charles E. Roach, of Friendship Heights, the chairman, appointed a nominating committee to select a slate of officers for the annual election at the convention as follows: Mrs. John Moffett, Mount Rainier, chairman; Mrs. Frank Plummer, Chestertown; Mrs. E. L. Pugh, Chevy Chase, and Mrs. Edward J. Colgan, jr., and Mrs. Albin Owings, both of Baltimore.

Murder Suspected In Burning of Four

Seattle, June 22 (A.P.).—A theory of murder was advanced by King County authorities to explain the deaths of four persons, a husband and wife and their two young daughters, whose charred bodies were found in the ashes of a ranch house today.

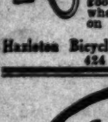

The dead: Arthur Stone, 33; Mrs. Vera Stone, 30; Jean, 7, and Gloria May, 6, their children.

The sole survivor of the fire, George Coyne, owner of the property, was held in jail for questioning. The murder theory was brought forward by Chief of City Detectives Luke S. May after he had made a preliminary investigation.

CONCERT PRESENTED AT SYLVAN THEATER

Community Center Department Offers Its Third Summer Festival.

The Community Center Department presented its third summer festival at the Sylvan Theater last evening, with the Washington Boys Independent Band, under the direction of Clinton J. Brown, jr.; the Columbia Symphony Mandolin Orchestra, under the direction of Sophocles T. Papas, and the Kilowatt Glee Club, of the Potomac Electric Power Co., under the direction of Harry E. Yeide, offering a varied program of vocal and instrumental music.

Following the boys' band, whose rendition of "The National Emblem" and "The Washington Post" marches of John Philip Sousa, met enthusiastic approval of the 1,500 that assembled on the south slope of the Monument Grounds, the Kilowatt Glee Club presented an interesting and well sung group of numbers arranged for a male chorus. Included were "Rolling Down to Rio" (German), Burleigh's arrangement of "Deep River," "Sylvia" (Speaks), "Break, Break, Break" (Parks), selections from Gilbert and Sullivan's "H. M. S. Pinafore," "Recessional" (De-Kovan), "Goin' Home" (Dvorak), and "Winter Song" (Bullard).

The solo numbers were "Your Eyes Have Told Me So" (Blaufuss), sung by J. K. Marshall; "Carmena" (Wilson), sung by Alma Harris; and "Neopolitan Love Song" (Herbert), sung by H. W. Molineau.

Dividing the glee club's program in two parts was the program of the mandolin orchestra, whose numbers included "Black Eyes" and "Polianka," Russian folk songs; "Intermezzo Russe" (Francke), "Au Moulin" (Gillet), and "Zacatecas" (Codina). Assisting in the instrumental program were Rachel Storer, playing Strauss's "Beautiful Blue Danube" waltz as an accordion solo, and Herman von Bernewitz and Franklin C. Anderson, playing the "Rubberplant Rag" and "Lord, You Made the Night Too Long" as tenor banjo-mandolin duets.

JUSTICE PERSONNEL SLASHES OUTLINED

tension activities, when the Senate adopted a resolution opposing the slash. After Congress adjourned, however, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced the cuts would go forward. Following conferences yesterday with Secretary Wallace and Budget Director Douglas, Senator Robinson said the extension cut would be held up indefinitely.

Attorney General Cummings told newspapermen the $33,900,000 figure his department has been allotted by the Budget Bureau is a tentative one; that more might be expended and some workers taken back if increase in work of the department requires it.

For the time being, however, Mr. Cummings made clear he will "eliminate those who can best be spared." He said the program necessarily would reach first employes not protected by Civil Service. He added that separations in every case will not necessarily reflect on efficiency of workers, but depend instead on the nature of work being done.

"This Is a Drastic Cut."

"This is a drastic cut," he said, "and it would not be possible if it were not for the consolidations going forward, namely, abolition of the Bureau of Investigation and the Bureau of Prohibition, and the creation of a third division to take over the work of these two."

He said more than half of the savings effected would result from this shift. Instead of the $8,400,000 appropriated for dry law enforcement, the department will spend only $4,300,000 on this work, he pointed out. He said the future of the new division will depend on the success of the drive for repeal. If it wins, there will be little work left.

"This cut in personnel will be all along the line," he said. "It will not be limited to Washington. Perhaps those in the department will have to work a little longer and be a little fewer in number.

Fewer Assistant Marshals.

"I have called on the United States Attorneys throughout the country to get along with fewer assistants. There will be fewer assistant marshals. We are going over the whole establishment with a view to eliminating those who can best be spared."

Explaining the likely effects of the Interior Department cut on personnel, Secretary Ickes said:

"In order to keep within the amount allotted for expenditure a reduction in force will be necessary, but the number is at this time undetermined. An effort will be made toward uniform and coordinated action for the whole department to prevent inequities as between employes.

Furloughs for Short Periods.

"There will be no general rotated furloughs. After the necessary reduction in force has been made by the retirement of 30-year employes where practicable and the separation of unnecessary or less efficient employes, individual furloughs for short periods in order to retain a necessary staff will be approved by the Secretary on proper justification.

"Where the force must be permanently reduced, actual separations will be made, but where there is a reasonable expectation of a need for the employes later in the fiscal year, indefinite individual furloughs instead of separations will issue.

"An effort will be made also to assist efficient employes who must be separated to secure employment in the new organizations being established under the Federal relief program."

Jobs of 60 Day Workers May Be Abolished July 1

The jobs of 60 per diem workers of the park division of the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks are dependent on speedy allotment of Federal public works funds to the District, officials of the office said yesterday.

The workers are now being paid out of the appropriation for the office, but this money will become exhausted on July 1. Unless the Federal funds are available by this time, the men will have to be let out. The prospects of having these funds by this time are dull, as President Roosevelt has asked to see the list of public works projects before any money for them is advanced.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

NEVER have the vagaries of the human mind and the consequent perplexities of the motion picture producers who attempt to satisfy the divergent tastes of the mass public been so vividly emphasized as in the first suggestions that have been received in response to Emanuel Cohen's appeal for aid in casting the role of Alice in Paramount's picturization of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland," conveyed through this column yesterday.

Those who have written in their preferences, so far, as unanimous in their declaration that they have read the book over and over and love it very dearly. Yet their conceptions of the character of Alice, how she looked, how old she was, whether she was blonde or brunette, and whether she should be English or American, are completely at variance.

One correspondent describes Alice as "twelve or thirteen years old, with long, black hair in two braids down her back." Another is as sure she was eight or ten with straight blonde hair falling a little below her shoulders. A third believes she should be an English girl—perhaps the one who played "Elizabeth Barrett in 'The Barretts of Wimpole Street' in London might do." Still another is of the opinion that a little child should play the part of Alice, preferably someone who has never been before the public in any other role. And so it goes.

All of these suggestions, of course, will be submitted to the Paramount executives in Hollywood, but I fear will add to their bewilderment rather than simplify their task.

In the meantime, let us have other expressions. Out of it all, possibly, will come the ideal "Alice."

Motion picture exploitation, incidentally, is becoming more and more complex every day.

For instance, on Saturday, July 1, from 6:30 to 7 p. m., Eastern Standard time, the radio version of a new feature picture will be broadcast from the S. S. Queen of Bermuda, through Station WJSV in Washington—begging your pardon, Mr. Heinl.

The picture is "A Lady for a Day," based on a story by Damon Runyon and produced by Columbia Pictures.

The cast will face the mike on the stage of the Queen of Bermuda's main deck. Their performance will be transmitted to shore by the ship's short wave equipment and then will be picked up and relayed over the Columbia Broadcasting System—the first time a radio dramatic production ever has been sent out from a ship at sea.

So what?

Bearing upon that utterly asinine fetish that "the show must go on," comes the astonishing report that for the past week—since a week ago tonight, to be exact—Dick Barstow, male half of the dancing team of Dick and Edith Barstow, who last night completed a week's engagement at the Earle, has been executing his intricate routines with a fractured ankle!

Dick, whose chief claim to fame rests upon his amazing ability to stay up on his toes, has kept his feet more or less flat on the ground these past seven days, but still has yet to miss a performance and this despite the fact that his ankle has been tightly bound in adhesive tape and elastic bandages and has constantly occasioned him severe pain.

The injury is sufficiently severe to cause the cancellation of a Philadelphia booking for next week. Dick will remain in Washington, instead, and hobble around on a bit of sightseeing!

In other words, he plans to cure his injured ankle by taking long walks on it—a treatment which I dare say is new to the orthopedic surgeons.

The Pierce Hall Players have announced that they will present "Little White Mice," the new three-act comedy by our afternoon contemporary, Mr. Eddie de Star Melcher, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, July 12 and 13, at 8:15 o'clock, in Pierce Hall, Fifteenth and Harvard streets northwest. The announcement further discloses that, as intimated here some days ago, Mr. Melcher himself will appear as an important member of the cast, now in rehearsal under the direction of Paul Alexander.

Another announcement of some local importance is that the oft postponed performance of Edna Buckler's "A Song in the Night," for the benefit of Washington's needy, positively will be given tonight at 8:15 in the Wardman Park Theater. Miss Buckler is prominently cast in this musical play of her own authorship and another feature of the performance that is occasioning much curiosity will be the appearance of a "mystery" dancer, whose identity has not been disclosed. It is Miss Buckler's hope to establish a foundation for the unemployed of the city with the proceeds of the ticket sale.

Paula Gould, 234 West Forty-fourth street, New York, who should know better, invests 3 cents in a perfectly good stamp to say to this department that when Sophie Tucker does something, she does it!

Sophie, it seems, is spending the summer in Chicago, where she is fulfilling a lengthy engagement at the swanky "225" Club on the glittering North Side Gold Coast. Her days she devotes to examining the many virtues of the Messrs. Dawes' Century of Progress Exposition.

Miss Gould's profoundest confidence is that Madam Tucker has worn out seven pairs of shoes in seven days walking about the grounds in her anxiety to see everything!

Concerning which the only pertinent observation would seem to be, "Hot Dog!"

And Lou Brown, director of advertising and publicity for the Loew interests in the Capital, postcards from Hot Springs, Ark., that he is enjoying a very elegant week's outing in a swell piece of country, the lucky stiff!

Two important events are scheduled for early celebration in Glen Echo Park. Today, the Boys Club of Washington will hold its first novice swimming meet, open to all boys 15 years of age or under. This aquatic competition, beginning at 12 noon, is under the direction of Charles Fyfe, assisted by Charles Reynolds, both well known in athletic circles. No entry fee is assessed and bronze medals will be awarded winners.

On Wednesday, June 28, the twentieth annual orphans' outing will be held at the park under the auspices of the social and community welfare committee. Children from foster homes of every denomination will be guests and an elaborate program for their entertainment has been arranged.

It seems not to be one of the better kept secrets that one of the overnight hits in downtown Washington is the ten-piece orchestra presided over by Harold Veo on the new Rambler Roof of the Hotel Raleigh. Special instrumentation and occasional vocal interpolations provide intervals of entertainment that are said to be the last word in poo-poo-pa-doo and hi-di-ho!

The Bureau of Internal Revenue last Monday called attention to the provisions of the national industrial recovery act, approved June 16, 1933, relating to the tax on theater admissions. I quote:

"Section 219 of the act amends section 500(a)(1) of the revenue act of 1926 as amended, by providing that no tax shall be imposed in the case of persons admitted free to any spoken play (not a mechanical reproduction), whether or not set to music or with musical parts or accompaniments, which is a consecutive narrative interpreted by a single set of characters, all necessary to the development of the plot, in two or more acts, the performance consuming more than 1 hour and 45 minutes of time."

If it's all the same to you, I'll buy my ticket!

LOCAL HAUL RIGHT ASKED BY A. B. & W.

R. L. May Would Pick Up City Passengers Above Water Street.

R. L. May, owner and operator of the Alexandria, Barcroft & Washington Rapid Transit, yesterday petitioned the Public Utilities Commission for permission to continue picking up passengers between Water street and its terminal at D street, between Tenth and Eleventh streets. The commission recently forced the line to discontinue the business and threatened prosecution.

While the petition did not state what fare would be charged, Mr. May stated that he wished to resume the service on a 5-cent rate, as his line furnished no transfers to the Washington street railways. The commission was asked to modify orders issued last year to prohibit this line and other nearby Virginia bus companies from doing an intrastate business except for picking up passengers below Water street, where there is no street car service.

The Washington Railway & Electric Co. has opposed the bus competition, particularly with the 5-cent fare, on the ground that the buses got the cream of the business, i. e., the short-haul trade, while the street cars carried the 1-cent transfer patrons.

The petition pointed out that for more than 30 years the old Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway Co., now nonexistant, was permitted to pick up passengers at any point along Fourteenth street on which it operated. The Alexandria, Barcroft & Washington Rapid Transit was likewise permitted to pick up passengers along Fourteenth street between Water street and Constitution avenue, the petition stated, until last year. The line also paid a local bus license fee, Mr. May said, and considered that this entitled him to do an intrastate business.

The commission at first barred the bus line from picking up or discharging any passengers in the District save at the D street terminal, but later permitted it to stop below Water street, insisting, however, that it charge the same rate as the street railways instead of 5 cents as desired by the operator.

2 TOWNS IN VIRGINIA GET R. F. C. LOANS

Two loans, each of $25,000, to Virginia towns for the construction of waterworks were announced yesterday by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as an additional grant of $656,028 for relief work in West Virginia was authorized.

One of the loans is for the installation of a water system in Mineral, in Louise County below Fredericksburg. The system will consist of one or two wells, a 60,000-gallon steel tank, various piping and 18 fire hydrants. It will provide work for 90 men for four months. Work will begin in 15 days.

The other loans will provide a 100,000 gallon reservoir for the town of Honaker, in Russell County in the panhandle of Virginia. The water for this system will be provided by a nearby spring with a flow of 75,000 gallons daily. This project also will give work to 60 men for four months. In this case the town is issuing its bonds, and the corporation has agreed to buy up to $25,000 worth of them.

ACCOTINK CHILD, 5, IS KILLED BY TRUCK

Driver Is Released by Coroner But Rearrested on Charge by Father.

Doris Hammersley, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Hammersley, of Accotink, Va., was instantly killed yesterday morning by a southbound truck as she was attempting to cross the Washington-Richmond highway in front of her home. James Huff, of Charlotte, N. C., driver of the truck, is being held in the Fairfax County Jail pending a hearing this morning before Judge Paul E. Brown, of the county trial justice court.

According to the testimony at the coroner's inquest conducted by Dr. C. A. Ransom, the child had started to cross the highway and had waited for a northbound truck to pass. When she started to run across the road the side of the Huff truck struck her. Huff stated that the child darted into his path and he ddi not have time to stop or avoid hitting her.

Coroner Ransom at the conclusion of the hearing issued a certificate of accidental death, exonerating Huff, who continued south. Later several others came forward with information causing the father of the child to swear out a warrant for Huff's arrest. He was stopped in Richmond and held for the Fairfax County authorities, who returned him to Fairfax last night.

At the time of the accident the child's mother was ill in bed and the father was at work at Fort Humphreys.

Dr. J. W. Bird Heads Social Service League

Dr. J. W. Bird, director of the Montgomery County General Hospital at Sandy Spring, Md., was re-elected president of the Montgomery County Social Service League, at the organization meeting of its board of directors, it was announced yesterday.

Other officers elected are: Capt. Walter B. Armstrong, Cabin John, first vice president; Miss Lavina Engle, Forest Glen, second vice president; Mrs. Daniel Walser, Chevy Chase, secretary, and George W. Davis, Silver Spring, treasurer.

Music Teacher Injured When Automobile Is Hit

William A. Beall, 50, 600 Eleventh street northeast, a music teacher, suffered severe lacerations to his scalp and concussion of the brain late yesterday when his automobile was struck by a car driven by Larry H. Williams, 43, 12 Decatur street, Cottage City, Md., at Concord avenue and Eighth street northwest. He was carried to Walter Reed Hospital in an unconscious condition.

Williams was taken into custody on a charge of reckless driving.

National Guard Group To Hold Crab Feast

The Service Company, First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, of Silver Spring, Md., will hold a crab feast tomorrow from 6 to 10 p. m. at the National Guard Armory, Silver Spring. The proceeds will be devoted to the company fund, according to Capt. Ward W. Caddington, commanding.

The committee in charge is headed by Lieut. Lewis V. Kreh.

Politics Urged for Youth.

The youth of America was challenged to interest itself in the problems of politics and the function of government by Representative Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, speaking on the Washington Community Forum Hour over WMAL last night.

Alexandria Chamber Meeting.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce will be held at 3 p. m. today for the purpose of considering the budget for the coming year, and other matters of importance. Several important changes in the budget will be made, it is stated.

Vague Radio Signals Raise Hope for News of Mattern

Seattle, June 22 (A.P.).—Mysterious and almost unintelligible wireless messages from a Vladivostok station containing the signals for S O S and the word "aeroplane" were heard here and at Bremerton today, lending hopes that news might be forthcoming about Jimmie Mattern, missing round-the-world flier.

The messages were heard shortly after 12:30 p. m. (Pacific standard time) by Ed Stevens, a prominent Seattle amateur wireless operator, and by the naval operator at Bremerton, who was off duty and was listening in on a home set.

The signals were in Russian, Stevens said, and were so faint and the static was so bad he could hardly decipher anything. The sender signed with the call letters RMAZ, a Vladivostok station.

Later the station was heard calling WVY at San Francisco.

The St. Paul naval wireless station, in the Bering Sea, and other powerful North Pacific stations were immediately notified and began "listening in."

MR. HULL'S PROPOSAL.

A resolution submitted by Secretary Hull yesterday asks the nations represented in the London conference to agree to four propositions: First, that extreme nationalism and additional trade barriers are against the common interest; second, that embargoes, quotas, and other arbitrary restrictions upon trade should be removed as quickly as possible; third, that tariff barriers should be promptly reduced by reciprocal bilateral and multilateral agreements; and fourth, that such agreements should be made in such manner as not to react disadvantageously upon world trade as a whole.

These generalities sum up the tariff philosophy of the Secretary of State.

If each country represented can be convinced that it is "extremely nationalistic" and that its particular tariff arrangements are injurious both to itself and the outside world, the foundation will be laid for removal of embargoes, quotas, and excessive tariffs.

It does not yet appear that any country is ready to acknowledge that its tariff policy is a mistake, or that it is bound to reverse its policy for the sake of promoting world welfare.

Taken as a whole, a good case may be made out against the maze of trade restrictions enforced by some countries; but each country believes that its special system is necessary for the protection of its own trade and commerce and for purposes of national defense. Budgets are based upon these tariff and trade arrangements; revenue is raised for defense purposes; and domestic industry is protected against excessive outside competition.

Every nation would like to see its neighbors liberalizing their tariffs and trade arrangements, but it finds great obstacles in the way of liberalizing its own tariffs.

This is true of the United States as well as of European countries. When it was reported that the American delegation at London had suggested a universal horizontal tariff reduction of 10 per cent there was an immediate and indignant denial. It would be impossible, of course, for the American delegation to commit Congress to wholesale revision of the tariff.

The hope of moderating tariff restrictions by reciprocal bilateral treaties is chastened by the fact that in the United States, at least, opposition would appear in both parties against reductions affecting important industries or large sections of the country. Many raw materials are already on the free list. The experience of the United States in negotiating reciprocal tariff agreements has not been fortunate. On the other hand, a general revision of the tariff is solely the business of Congress, involving as it does questions of revenue and national policy.

AUSTRIA OUTLAWS NAZIS.

One of the most interesting commentaries on Hitlerism is the reaction which it has produced in Austria. Since the World War Germany and Austria have been very close national friends. Only a decision by the World Court and the hostility of the League of Nations prevented a customs union between the two countries, which was regarded as the first step toward political union. Now the Austrian and German governments are bitter antagonists.

The followers of Chancellor Hitler seemed to take for granted the conversion of Austria to their creed. Ever since the Nazis took control at Berlin they have boasted that they would also seize the reins of government at Vienna. But Austria has stubbornly resisted. The outlawing of the National Socialist party in Austria marks the culmination of a feud that has kept this little country in turmoil for several months.

Terroristic methods used by the Nazis in their march to power in Germany are apparently being applied in Austria. The decree intended to abolish the Hitler party in Austria followed the wounding of 30 soldiers by hand grenades supposed to have been thrown by Nazi terrorists. Bombings have been frequent. Disorder growing out of the Nazi campaign to take control at Vienna became so flagrant that Chancellor Dollfuss was forced to take steps to outlaw the agitators.

It remains to be seen how successful these measures will be. The Nazis are now determined to fight the Dollfuss government to the last ditch. All of their newspapers have been suspended, but they are printing substitute papers under changed names which are not less militant in the cause of Hitlerism. Several hundred men were taken to police stations for wearing the Nazi swastika, but loyal Hitlerites have replaced their badges with blue cornflowers as marks of identification.

The German press unloosed an avalanche of abusive criticism upon Chancellor Dollfuss. He is accused of betraying his own country and the German cause, and of supporting France against the interests of the German people. Few more inflammatory taunts could be made in Vienna. But Chancellor Dollfuss is determined to protect Austria against domination by the Hitlerites, so long as it is possible for him to do so. The stage appears to be set for a battle royal in Austria.

TRAINED WORKERS AVAILABLE.

Severe retrenchment in the executive departments will result in many dismissals, in spite of the desire of department heads to retain all efficient employees. Secretary Ickes of the Interior Department has decided that dismissals instead of payless furloughs will be necessary in his establishment. The reduction of force will affect "several hundred" employees. It is hoped, however, that most of these workers may be absorbed by the Public Works Administration.

As the organizers of the newly created national agencies finish the task of selecting key men they will find it necessary to employ many thousands of clerical workers. The laws creating these agencies authorize appointments "without regard to the civil service laws," but the co-ordinators will find that their best source of clerical help is in the body of thoroughly trained workers now laid off by department heads. These workers are familiar with the technique of Federal clerical and accounting operations, and can greatly expedite the work of the new agencies, which have no time to waste in learning the routine of government methods.

Efficient service and valuable experience in actual work for the Government ought to give dismissed workers an opportunity to find employment in the newly created branches of Federal activities.

REORGANIZING BANKS.

Considerable progress is being made toward the reorganization of some Washington banks that were closed during the banking holiday. Officials of the Franklin National Bank have obtained agreements from stockholders and depositors to subscribe the amount required for a reorganization. A number of closed banks have combined their assets in the hope of opening a new institution under the name of the Hamilton National Bank of Washington.

Thousands of depositors have been under a handicap since the banking holiday because they have been unable to obtain any portion of their money. Washington merchants as well as individuals have suffered because of this tie-up of funds in closed banks. It is gratifying to note that progress is being made toward release of this frozen capital.

SEASONED ADVICE.

Owen D. Young has a pleasing habit of delivering a commencement address nearly every year. He is particularly adept in interpreting the present status of affairs to the younger generation, and he nearly always does it in a way that captivates the attention of a wide audience outside of college halls. His address to the graduates of Radcliffe College was no exception.

The advice which Mr. Young gave to the Radcliffe graduates was quite free from the scholastic enthusiasm which permeates most addresses of this kind. Mr. Young did not tell the graduating class to go forth and conquer the world, although he did express the hope that they would not give way to disillusionment.

The human mind is inclined to run toward extremes. People embrace new eras with all the enthusiasm of youth, and when their excessive activities lead to disaster they turn against the ideas once so gladly embraced. Mr. Young attempted to convey the thought that no one period is devoid of constructive developments, and no period brings forth gushing streams of pure wisdom. "If the Nineteen Twenties were confusing," he said, "the Nineteen Thirties are likely to be more so. * * * There is much that is new and good in the new deal, and I venture the prediction that there are some things there which contradict, too, the experience of the ages, and so, in those respects, it will fail."

Another thought contributed by Mr. Young is that the ideal to be sought today is the largest measure of combined political and economic liberty. Arbitrary encroachment upon the freedom of the individual will prove temporary, in his opinion. Yet some sacrifices in this respect may have to be made, he thinks, to secure the most advantageous combination of political and economic liberty.

Moderation backed up by the experience of the past and calm judgment of the future seldom goes wrong. Extreme measures usually end in disaster, regardless of the direction toward which they are pointed.

PATRONAGE SNIPING.

Employees of the Library of Congress are the latest target of the patronage hunters. The personnel records of this institution have been scrutinized by a special group of representatives appointed by the Democratic Congressional campaign committee. It finds that the Library employs about 800 men and women at salaries ranging from $1,200 to $6,000 per year. Since these employees are not under the protection of the civil service, the Library is considered a promising field for congressmen who are harassed by job hunters.

Congressmen are advised by the committee to check up on the list of library employees from their States and to counsel with senators on the question as to "whether any of those on this last have the kind of status that will enable them to retain their present position." The purpose of this checking is, of course, to separate the political sheep from the goats. When that has been done congressmen are advised to submit to Postmaster Farley, the patronage dispenser, the names of candidates for jobs now held by employees who do not meet the necessary political requirements.

This means that library employees must scramble for political support to hold their jobs. It is amazing that members of Congress should inflict such a condition upon this great institution. Many jobs in the library are filled by individuals with special qualifications and training for the work they are doing. Even though civil service examinations are not required, the library itself maintains a rigid merit system under which employees are graded according to education and training in library science, languages, research work, &c. It would be unfortunate to expose positions of this kind to the political spoils hunters.

The proposed raid on the Library of Congress raises a question as to why this institution is not under the protection of the civil service. There are few Government institutions in which special training and education are more essential to efficient service. The merit system maintained by the library management may have worked satisfactorily in the past, but will it protect that institution from the patronage seeker? Common justice demands that employees of the library be accorded the same protection and safeguards that are enjoyed by other Federal workers on a permanent basis.

BACK TO WORK.

The most gratifying aspect of business improvement is the reemployment of about 1,629,000 men since April 1. The latest estimate of jobs regained is made by the American Federation of Labor. About 629,000 men went back to work in April. During May and June the reemployment of men has been much more rapid. In view of the upturn in activity for various industries the present number of unemployed is probably smaller than the figures of the federation would indicate. Reports for June doubtless will give a more accurate indication of the progress that has been made.

The number of unemployed is still large. Approximately 430,000 men lost their jobs during the banking holiday. Even though more than a million and a half men have found work in the last two months the number of unemployed is still approximately as large as it was last November and December. It will require a great deal of business activity to reabsorb this vast army of jobless men.

A large number of jobs will be created by the public works program, but for the most part idle men must rely upon the revival of industry and commerce for a chance to work. At best work created by building activities authorized for that special purpose is temporary. There is no basic solution for unemployment save the restoration of normal activity in the business and industrial world.

General Johnson, administrator of the industrial recovery act, is said to have expressed the hope of putting several million men to work before the summer is over. Whether that result can be accomplished of course remains to be seen. It is offset to some extent by the heavy dismissal of Government employes under the economy program, but many of these Federal workers may find employment with the new agencies set up to guide the destinies of industry, agriculture and finance.

When the depression began unemployment became a vicious spiral leading to lower standards of living for millions of American families. As the demand for goods fell, the demand for labor slackened, payrolls diminished, and the purchasing power of workingmen was curtailed. This cycle of consequences greatly accentuated the depression. The increase of employment gives momentum to recovery and makes the employment of more workers possible.

Jouett Shouse now refuses to extend recognition to even three dry States, but he is willing to let them go through the empty formality of voting.

The mass production of rumors at the London conference is creating a dangerous world surplus.

IN THE STRATOSPHERE

From the New York Times.

Prof. Auguste Piccard, scientist, who ascended to the stratosphere, arrived yesterday on the French liner Champlain. He reiterated his belief that the time would come when man will travel between Europe and the Americas in a few hours.

Prof. Piccard, cautious as usual, said he had no idea when such an event might take place—"it might be possible this year, or perhaps not in ten years"—but he said scientists were now studying plane possibilities for flight in the upper reaches of the air. Planes will some day make 500 miles an hour over protracted flights, he believed.

He is going to Chicago, where a balloon and gondola, designed on lines similar to that which he used last year to ascend more than ten miles, will be sent up as a feature of the exposition. His brother, Jean, a chemist, who lives in this country, will be in the balloon, but Prof. Piccard will remain on the ground.

Nor will he ascend in the flight scheduled for this summer in Belgium, explaining that he had "been up" twice and saw no need for going again now.

The scientist said that one outstanding discovery made in his second ascension would improve conditions on the Chicago flight. He discovered that his feet were inordinately cold and his head warm during the ascension.

Experimenting, he learned that the gondola should be painted neither all white nor all black, as the former reflects the sun's rays and leaves the cabin uncomfortably cold and the black absorbs heat and renders the cabin too warm for comfort.

Consequently the gondola used in Chicago will be painted either with white and black stripes, or in a shade of gray, to get medium temperature.

Prof. Piccard said it was highly possible that the Chicago attempt would result in new and valuable data for science. The ascension will be made some time after July 1.

Talking on the future of balloon ascensions, the physicist said he did not think balloons would ever ascend to twenty miles, at least not the present type of bags.

The professor planned to stay in New York only a day before going to Chicago. He will remain there only two or three weeks and if weather does not permit the Chicago ascension in that time, he will have to depart without witnessing it.

THE GREATEST HAPPINESS

Once lived a man who wished to know the height of happiness.
He sought it first from money and he sought it from success,
But happy though he was at times with all his labor gained,
Somehow he felt unknown to him a greater joy remained.

It puzzled him at times that he with everything he had Still suffered from heart emptiness and oftentimes was sad;
Nor skill nor power which he possessed could drive away the thought
That somewhere, somehow he had failed to gain the joy he sought.

He longed to find a deeper sense of satisfaction here
Than fortune had bestowed on him.
He went from year to year Seeking a pleasure and a pride which he could earn or buy,
His reason for existence on this earth to justify.

One morning as he walked the street
he heard a stranger say:
"I'm hungry, sir! I haven't had a bite of food today."
A thousand such he'd passed in scorn.
This time unto the plea
He answered (and 'twas strange he should), "Come on and dine with me."

He watched that hungry stranger gaze with joy upon his plate;
He listened to repeated thanks the while the poor man ate,
And this he thought as on he went:
At last I've learned to live!
I've found man's greatest happiness!
It's not to gain, but give!

Where Large Lips Win Respect, Men Stretch Them to the Size of Plates

By ROBERT QUILLEN

DAILY headlines proclaim the fact that we are becoming a nation of thieves.

We use other words and phrases to minimize our shame, but a theft by any other name remains a theft. To take another's property is stealing, call it what you will.

Today and every day your newspaper tells the story of defalcations, breach of trust, robbery, burglary, shoplifting, swindling, blackmail, obtaining money under false pretense, kidnaping for ransom, racketeering, extortion and multitudinous sharp practices, and in every instance the offender is a thief.

There are crimes reported to the police—major proofs of corruption. But they do not comprise the whole of the evidence.

Innumerable small thefts remain undiscovered or unreported, and daily the simple are robbed by numberless acts of deliberate dishonesty for which the law has no definition.

What has happened to our land? What caused this plague of thieving, and how can it be ended before it destroys us?

Don't blame the depression. It isn't the desperation of poverty that causes it. The thieves are men who have jobs or hoodlums who have no desire to work.

And don't blame the law. Our laws for the protection of property are more numerous and more comprehensive than those of any other land.

The fault is in our measure of values.

It is man's nature to covet the good opinion or the envy of his fellows. He wishes to "be somebody"—to be free of restraints, to have no doors shut against him, to escape insult and scorn, to be regarded as one of the best.

We have made money the test and proof of excellence—the insignia of rank.

We have made money-getting a virtue—a proof of divine favor—and thus we have justified the ignoring of other virtues that would interfere with money-getting.

In short, we accepted the doctrine that the end justifies the means. Possession of a million dollars excused the methods employed to get it. Show a profit. Get the jack. If conscience interferes, don't be a sap. And that mental attitude led inevitably to the conclusion that stealing isn't wrong if you can get away with it.

Does that seem overdrawn? Look about you. How many people are really horrified and disgusted by this thieving? How many really scorn and despise the thieves?

Leprosy doesn't disgust those who live with it. Our moral sense is dulled. Dishonor is so ordinary that it no longer has power to shock us.

And there is no hope of regeneration until we find a new standard by which to measure success and a new way to win respect.

You can't cure a disease until you remove the cause.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Doles to Undisabled.

Dodge City Globe.

Whoever cleared the way for veterans to gorge themselves in Federal funds by way of the nonservice-connected disability allowances is responsible for the mess veteran legislation is getting into. Congress played Santa Claus when this measure was passed and, now that the country has come to its economic senses, the citizens wonder what mesmerism was used to enact such legislation.

None was needed. In a frenzy of generosity Congress spent money as if there would be no accounting. It was good politics to incur the good will of veterans. So a long list of beneficiaries of the kind Government was added to the pay roll. The mess was given a good stir when that took place.

Veterans' affairs have not improved. In the Hoover administration an effort was made to divorce these kept heroes from the Federal pay roll, but political expediency saved their bacon.

So far the Roosevelt administration has made good progress in fending off this gouge. The veterans' groups are with him. The Government's first obligation is to the veterans who have service-connected disabilities. By the time these and their dependents are cared for adequately there will be no money left for the other crowd.

Veterans' Drive Coming.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

The veterans' lobby in Washington is reported to be preparing a whirlwind campaign for next year—an election by the way—to force Congress to put back on the pension rolls those not actually disabled in war service. This is a challenge to the public generally to rally behind the National Economy League and President Roosevelt.

"Made in Japan."

Austin (Minn.) Herald.

Bought a pair of gloves the other day for 10 cents. They were heavy cord, well knit and exceedingly well made. On a little sticker attached to one of the gloves were the words, "Made in Japan." After making the gloves, packing them and shipping to this country, they sell for a dime and doubtless allow the dealer a profit even at that price. If American labor is to compete with that kind of prices, it is pretty evident that the wage scale here is sure to slide downward. If we don't want to live on the Japanese standards a tariff wall of some size is, after all, a good thing to protect American laborers.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

"AND ON THE 6TH I TOOK——"

I can stand the man who talks about his kiddies
And relates the cute remarks that "Junior" made;
I endure the fellow mulish who explains with figures foolish
All the factors that are influencing trade.
I can stand the poet who talks about his card game,
And the hero's-a-funny-story type of bloke,
But I turn a ghastly yellow when I run across the fellow
Who describes his latest golf match, stroke by stroke!

II.

I don't mind the man who talks about his symptoms,
Or the dame who gives you operation facts;
I restrain the urge to quiet girls who tell me of their diet,
Tho' I'd dearly love to smack 'em with an ax;
I can put up with the bridge fans who must tell me
Of the hands they held and how the honors lay—
But I nominate for Hades those distressing little ladies Who relate a recent golf tilt, play by play!

III.

I can tolerate the folks who go to movies
And describe each detail of a picture
play;
I am patient with the slicker who tells how he makes his liquor,
And the fellows who about their home
brew bray;
I am gentle with the well-known baseball addict
Who will bore me with statistics not so hot—
But I yearn to put at rest, sir, the insufferable pest, sir,
Who tells all about a foursome, shot by shot!

IV.

I excuse the bird who talks about the market,
With the list of stocks he did or didn't buy;
I am only mildly shaken by the tales of trips he's taken
As related by the Noisy Tourist Guy;
Men who fish can tell me all about their catches
And rave on about the One That Got Away—
But I want to slay the dummy who considers it is chummy
To describe each golf stroke taken yesterday!

V.

I'm unmoved by men who talk about the weather
Or describe in detail Sunday's auto trip;
I can tolerate the onions who describe their aches and bunions
And the very minor details never skip.
I can stand the man who raves about his bulldog,
With descriptions of his smart tricks, old and new—
But I'd bombard with tomatoes all those Great Big Cold Potatoes
Who can cite the golf strokes that they took—and do!

CAN YOU REMEMBER—

Away back when a girl just asked for a bathing suit and all the clerk asked was, "What color?"

NOCTURNE.

Life will go on with all its little smirches;
Drab little spots of tarnish on the gold.
Mortals must eat—there will be bread to purchase.
Morning is always new if night is old.
Summer will pass. The time will somehow vanish;
Clocks must be wound; the door bells still will ring.
Some miracle of strength will cruelly manage
This desolation, making everything
Go on its way in much the same old fashion.
Where all is darkness soon it will be light.
Dawn, too, must finally come with its compassion—
No one will know a heart has died tonight.

Balance the Budget or Balance the Burden?—Question Suggested by Tax Returns.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: We have been told over and over again millions of times during the last year or so that the country's credit could be saved only by balancing the budget.

Recent investigations developed facts which confirmed what was generally believed—that the rich have systematically evaded paying taxes, thus leaving the whole load of supporting the Government on the shoulders of the poor.

What's the remedy—balance the budget or balance the burden?

Happenings of Interest in Washington Society

Lady Lindsay Leaves Capital Today for England.

LADY LINDSAY, WIFE OF the Ambassador of Great Britain, Sir Ronald Lindsay, will go to New York today and will sail this evening aboard the Olympic for England, where she will remain until autumn. The ambassador will join Lady Lindsay later in the season for a vacation.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, who flew to Boston Wednesday, will return to the Capital today. He received an honorary degree from Harvard University yesterday.

The Ambassador of France and Mme. de Laboulaye will entertain at dinner tomorrow evening in honor of M. Andre Maurois, eminent French author, critic and lecturer, and Mme. Maurois, who will come from New York to the Capital to spend the week-end at the French Embassy.

M. and Mme. Maurois will also be the guests of honor at a luncheon to be given at the embassy on Monday, by the Ambassador and Mme. de Laboulaye.

Before returning to New York, M. and Mme. Maurois will visit the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago. They will later sail for their home in France.

The Ambassador left Wednesday to go to Harvard University, where he received an honorary degree yesterday morning. He will spend today in New York, returning to the Capital tomorrow.

The Minister of Roumania, Mr. Charles A. Davila, left yesterday morning for New York and will spend the week-end in a near-by resort.

Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, will leave Washington Monday to spend some time in Virginia. She will visit at Virginia Beach and also in Richmond, returning to the Capital July 15.

Secretary and Mrs. Wallace See Chicago Exposition.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Henry A. Wallace are in Chicago attending the Century of Progress Exposition and will go to St. Paul today. They will spend Saturday in Minneapolis and Sunday will go to their home in Salina, Kans.

The Secretary is making an official trip and is inspecting the wheat centers, and after a few days in his home will return to Washington, Mrs. Wallace remaining in Kansas for the summer.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. William M. Wright, U. S. A., are leaving Washington to be gone all summer. They will sail on July 2 for London.

Mrs. Claude E. Brigham, wife of Maj. Gen. Brigham, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, was guest of honor at a luncheon given yesterday at the Mayflower by Mrs. Edward B. Blanchard, wife of Capt. Blanchard, U. S. A. Gen. and Mrs. Brigham recently arrived in Washington from Edgewood Arsenal, Md.

The company at luncheon included Mrs. Charles R. Alley, Mrs. Walter C. B. Baker, Mrs. J. F. Battley, Mrs. John H. Becque, Mrs. M. H. Davis, Mrs. Eugene J. Ely, Mrs. Paul X. English, Mrs. G. H. Fonken, Mrs. M. E. Frankland, Mrs. Stuart A. Hamilton, Mrs. Harry R. Lebkicher, Mrs. G. M. Quirk, Mrs. W. W. Sloan, Mrs. H. P. Seideman and Mrs. W. H. Schofield.

Luncheon was served in the presidential dining room of the hotel. Bowls of fall flowers were used for table decorations and organdie bouquets of the same kind of flowers were given by the hostess as favors.

Capt. and Mrs. Blanchard are leaving Washington on June 29 for Boston, the former having been transferred there from duty at the Army Industrial College in Washington.

Mrs. Ridley McLean Leaves for Pacific Coast.

Mrs. Ridley McLean, wife of Rear Admiral McLean, left yesterday afternoon for New York, whence she will sail today on the Santo Paolo, via the Panama Canal, for the West Coast. She will join Admiral McLean in Seattle for a short time and will then go to the base port of the fleet at Long Beach, where they have taken an apartment at the Villa Riviera.

Admiral and Mrs. McLean have leased their home on Kalorama road to the Solicitor of the Postoffice Department and Mrs. Karl Crowley, and Mrs. McLean will remain on the West Coast for the duration of Admiral McLean's sea duty.

Mr. Gale McLean, son of Mrs. McLean, will be at the Chevy Chase Club this summer.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt will open their summer place, Beaulieu, at Newport, this week and will have with them their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Davis.

Mrs. Frederick H. Brooke has gone to Nonquitt, Mass., and has opened her summer home, Cliff Munasca, for the season.

Mrs. John Lewis Smith left yesterday for Rehoboth Beach, Del., where she will open her summer home for the season. Mr. Smith will rejoin her there today for the week-end, returning to their home on Tracy place, Monday.

Commander A. B. Court, U. S. N., has rejoined Mrs. Court at their home on Wisconsin avenue, after spending some time at the Century of Progress Exposition.

Mr. Sidney Gest has left Washington by motor for Maine, where he will spend the summer camping. Mrs. Gest, who is still at their apartment at the Shoreham, will leave Washington the first of next month, and with Mrs. Hugo Rennert will go to Rehoboth Beach, Del., to spend a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Juan B. Mayer have gone to Hewlett, Long Island, where they will spend the summer with the former's mother, Mrs. Charles Mayer, at her home, Boxwood.

Mr. Robert Whitten Stewart has gone to Ottawa to pass some time before sailing for Europe, where he will spend the remainder of the summer in Belgium.

Mrs. J. Julien Sutherland, of Miami, Fla., is a guest at the Mayflower on her way back South from a New York trip. Mr. and Mrs. Southerland lived in Washington at the time the former was special assistant to the Attorney General of the United States from 1920 to 1921.

Mrs. Thomas Henry Clay Reed has returned from a two-week visit to Erie and New York. She will remain in Washington until July 21, when she will sail for England.

Mrs. Wickliffe Rose and her daughter, Mrs. William Woodruff Meek, sailed yesterday on the Manhattan for Europe.

Miss Evelyn Walker, who has been in New York for some time, has rejoined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walker, at their country home on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

Mr. J. J. Biba, of Washington, is spending some time in Atlantic City at the Colton Manor.

Mrs. William Morris McCawley, of Haverford, Pa., and her son-in-law and daughter, Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. L. Hewlett Thebaud, of Washington, are in New York.

Mary J. Kane Married To Joseph J. McCabe.

The wedding of Miss Mary Joseph Kane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Kane, to Mr. Joseph John McCabe, of Butte, Mont., took place Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Peter's Catholic Church. The Rev. Mgr. Eugene Connelly performed the ceremony assisted by the Rev. Paul Norris, the Rev. P. McAdams and the Rev. James Murphy.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white lace and a large picture hat of white crepe and horsehair braid. Her bouquet was of white bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor, the bride's sister, Mrs. Donald A. Kelley, of Brooklyn, N. Y., wore a dress of pale green lace, with a large hat to match. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet.

Mr. John Garraty, of New York, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Harry J. Kane, jr., Mr. A. Philip Kane, Mr. William Brennen, and Mr. William J. McKenzie, of Butte, Mont.

Due to the illness of the bride's mother, Mrs. Kane, there was no reception. A small wedding breakfast for the members of the bridal party and intimate friends was served at the Mayflower.

Later Mr. McCabe and his bride left for the West Coast. On Thursday, they were in the wedding of Mr. Garraty in Denver. After July 15, Mr. and Mrs. McCabe will be at home in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Farrell, of New York City, are guests at the Mayflower.

Mrs. Howard Sutherland will have as her guests next week her daughter, Mrs. John S. Walker, of Huntington, W. Va., and her three children, Mary, Margaret and Sydney, who will arrive in the Capital Monday, before leaving for their summer cottage on Sunapee Lake, New Hampshire.

Mrs. Sutherland will join her daughter later, following a visit to another daughter, Mrs. Wallace Dunkel, of New York, and her two children, Margot and Peter, at their summer place at Narragansett.

Mr. and Mrs. Giraud Foster, who have been visiting in Washington for the past several days, have left for their summer home in Lenox, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Ellis are opening Rippon Lodge, their country place on the Richmond Highway, this Saturday for the benefit of the Professional and Business Women's Club, the president of which is Miss Nelle Ingles.

Rippon Lodge is the oldest house now standing in northern Virginia. It was built in 1725.

Jane Eleanor Hammack Wed to John T. O'Neill.

The wedding of Miss Jane Eleanor Hammack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hammack to Mr. John T. O'Neill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo O'Neill, took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the Hamline Methodist Episcopal Church, the Rev. H. W. Burgan, pastor of the church officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of blush white satin fashioned on simple lines with no trimming. The sleeves were puffed above the elbows and close-fitting at the wrists, and the long fan-shaped train was fashioned from the circular flare of the skirt. The veil of Battenburg lace fell from a cap of lace, and she wore a short tulle veil which fell over the face. Her bouquet was of roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Edwin Paul, a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore a gown of yellow mousseline de soie with ruffles forming the long skirt and short puffed sleeves. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses and delphinium.

Miss Ernestine Hammack, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and wore a gown of pale pink satin with a brief jacket of pink net and carried a bouquet of spring flowers with roses predominating.

The four bridesmaids were Miss Alline McBride, Miss Dorothy Golladay, Miss Madeline Bernard and Miss Claris Bond, who wore frocks of similar design in different colors. They were of striped mousseline de soie with jackets of the same, made with leg o' mutton sleeves. Their small hats of mousseline matched the frocks and were trimmed with clusters of French flowers. Miss McBride, who wore pink, had a sash of pale blue taffeta; Miss Golladay, whose gown was blue, wore a pink sash; Miss Barnard's yellow frock was finished with a pale green sash, and Miss Bond wore a yellow sash on her green frock.

All carried bouquets of spring flowers. Little Audrey Woodford, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and wore a frock of pink taffeta, with ruffles forming the long skirt, and a tiny hat of blue net. She carried a basket of pink rose petals. The ring bearer was Master George Jenkins, who wore a white satin suit.

Mr. John Bischoff was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Willis Frazier, son of Senator and Mrs. Lynn J. Frazier; Mr. William Fortune, Mr. Frank Cox and Mr. Russell.

A reception followed the ceremony, at which Mr. O'Neill and his bride were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Hammack, who wore a gown of pink satin and a corsage of roses, and Mrs. O'Neill, whose costume was of blue lace with a cape jacket.

Later the young couple left for a wedding trip, the bride wearing a beige crepe ensemble with a three-quarter length coat trimmed with bands of summer ermine.

They will go to Hot Springs, Va., and, after July 10, they will be at home at 2813 Twenty-seventh street.

Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Walter E. W. Prosser, of Fort Sam Houston, Tex., are at the Willard during their sojourn in the Capital.

Mrs. Charles G. Mathews will sail July 1 aboard the Roma for a cruise of the Mediterranean. Mrs. Mathews will stop at Naples for a visit with her brother-in-law and sister, former British Consul at Capri and Mrs. Harold E. Trower. Mr. Trower represented his government on the Island of Capri for many years, and after his retirement he and Mrs. Trower have continued to make their home there.

Ann C. Massey Engaged To Marchant T. Wentworth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Andrew Massey announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ann Catherine Massey, to Mr. Marchant Tucker Wentworth, of Washington. No date has been set for the wedding.

Visiting Washington from England, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. J. Brown, of London; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Firth, Yorks; Mr. and Mrs. T. Padgett, Idle Bradford; Mr. J. T. Herring, Durham City, and Mr. Sherwood Hunter, of Purveance, will be at the Willard during their stay in the Capital. They plan to make quite an extended tour of the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold N. Marsh and their four sons will leave Monday by motor for New England. The sons will remain in New England for the entire summer and Mr. and Mrs. Marsh will return to their Cleveland Park home in about 10 days and will make frequent short trips out of town throughout the season.

Miss Frances Gutelius is in Chicago this week attending the Zonta Club convention and also is visiting the Century of Progress Exposition.

Miss Dorothy Porterfield, of Fort Smith, Ark., and Washington, will attend the twenty-first biennial national convention of Kappa Delta Sorority as representative of Sigma Mu Chapter, George Washington University. The convention will be held at Birchmont Beach Resort, Minn. from June 26 to July 1.

Before going to convention, Miss Porterfield is visiting the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago. She will spend the remainder of the summer studying at Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa.

Rosalie Tomz Bride Of Rev. L. M. Fenwick.

The wedding of Miss Rosalie Tomz, daughter of Mrs. Julian Harrison Tomz, of Wilmington, N. C., to the Rev. Mr. Lawrence Mason Fenwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Fenwick, of Falls Church, Va., took place Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the chapel of the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. W. Halleck, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, of Wilmington, N. C., assisted by the Rev. C. E. Buck, of Washington.

The bride wore a frock of pale blue chiffon with a large pink hat, the crown of which was made of rose petals, and she carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses, forget-me-nots and lilies of the valley. Miss Elizabeth Tomz, sister of the bride, was her only attendant and wore a frock of pink organdie with a hat to match and carried a bouquet of delphinium.

Mr. Edward G. Fenwick was best man for his brother. Following the ceremony there was a reception for those who had attended the wedding, after which Mr. Fenwick and his bride left for a wedding trip. They will make their home at Southport, N. C., where the bridegroom has been assigned to a church.

The bride is a graduate of the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, and Mr. Fenwick was graduated from the University of Virginia, and recently received his degree of bachelor of divinity from the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. He was ordained at St. John's Episcopal Church, at Wilmington, N. C., on June 16.

Cunard Line Plans Big Cruise Season

According to a Cunard Line announcement this promises to be an outstanding vacation-cruise year for the ships of the company. No less than 23 cruises will be operated and these will require the services of eight of the line's steamers.

The most recent addition to the summer program schedules the Franconia for three cruises, two northward and one to the south. The first of these will sail from New York on July 29, returning August 11. The itinerary, aside from a call at Boston to pick up passengers, will include the Saguenay River, Quebec, Murray Bay and Bermuda. The second will leave New York for Cuba on August 12 and return August 25. This will allow for three days in Havana, a full day in Nassau and two days in Bermuda. The third cruise will be similar to the first, visiting Saguenay River, Quebec, Murray Bay and Bermuda, and will leave New York on August 26, returning on September 8. It will call at Boston.

Coming at the height of the vacation season these cruises are expected to prove very popular. The Franconia, built for cruising purposes, spent all of last winter in the Cunard Line's service to Nassau and Havana. The minimum rate for the Franconia cruise this summer is $105.

Young Democrats Club Arranges Social Events

· PERMAPOINT ·

The permanent point shapes the lips perfectly without using fingers

Permapoint is not a gadget. It is a new principle that makes lips more beautiful, and does it quicker, easier and better.

Just a touch of lipstick emerges from the tip. Then you smooth it on with the pointed end of the case itself—quickly, surely, beautifully—without soiling the finger.

A real contribution to the art of beautiful lips.

LOCHBRIDGE'S TEAM WINS BRIDGE TROPHY

New York Club's Players Capture All of Their 10 Matches in Tilt.

Hanover, N. H., June 22 (A.P.).—Charles S. Lochbridge's team representing the Crockford Knickerbocker Club of New York City, composed of Lochbridge, Sam Fry, Walter Malowan and L. H. Watson, carried off the all-American championship contract team-of-four trophy at the American Whist League's forty-third annual congress here today.

The New Yorkers won all of their 10 matches, and 38 of the 50 boards played to capture the trophy.

The title was won in 1932 by a team from the Deal Club of Deal, N. J., represented by F. Hal Sims, W. S. Karn, D. Burnstine and H. Schenken. Sims' 1933 team of himself, Ed Hymes, jr., H. H. Boscowitz and E. H. Wetzler, finished third in today's playing, winning 7½ matches and 31 boards. This team was tied for first place with the Crockford Knickerbocker four in the Wednesday session, but slipped badly in the second session, winning but 2½ matches.

Second place went to one of the Cavendish Club teams here, of David Burnstine, Oswald Jacoby, Waldemar von Zedwitz, jr., and H. Schencken, who captured six matches in the second session for a total of 39½ boards, the largest number of boards won by any of the teams.

Sidney S. Lenz and Mrs. W. D. Thompson, of Racine, Wis., vice president of the Woman's Whist League, captured first honors in the open contract, Howell movement, pairs championship, with 28½ points for a percentage of .713.

David Burnstine and Oswald Jacoby, New Yorkers, won the north and south pair championships in contract with 212 points, and a percentage of .642, while two other New Yorkers, Walter Malowan and Sam Fry captured the east and west championships with 216 points and a percentage of .654.

Woman and 2 Men Held On Charges of Girl, 17

Arrested on the complaint of a 17-year-old girl who charged that she was brought here from Lynchburg, Va., for immoral purposes, two men and one woman yesterday were held for the action of the grand jury by United States Commissioner Needhom C. Turnage. Bonds aggregating $8,000 were demanded for their release.

Lawrence Robertson, Louis Litchford and Sadie Moyer were the names given by the trio before the commissioner.

Prince Georges County Grants 23 Beer Permits

The Prince Georges County Beer Board at its regular meeting yesterday issued fourteen "on sale" and nine "off sale" licenses to merchants of the county.

An application for an "off sale" license in Mount Rainier was made to the board. This was taken under advisement for further action as a result of the recent dispute between officials as to whether beer can be legally sold within the corporate limits.

Sheriff Opens Campaign Against All-Day Parking

STABILIZING ISSUE AND DEBTS DROPPED

the Ottawa and other trade agreements against charges of discrimination.

Tariff Cut Proposed.

Commissions and committees turned their attention to other problems on which they hope to make immediate progress, namely, conditions of a permanent monetary standard, reduction of trade barriers, discriminatory restrictions on imports, international indebtedness and control of production.

Having clarified the American stand on stabilization, Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, tossed in a resolution calling for reduction of customs duties and excessive barriers to international trade.

This resolution took the place of the ill-fated one submitted last week by American experts proposing an all-round 10 per cent tariff reduction, and disowned later by the delegation.

Hull Explains Position.

Upon the tariff question, as well as upon the stabilization issue, Secretary Hull today took particular pains to make the American position known in order to quell the storm of criticism in the press at home as well as abroad with its charges of uncertainty in the Washington program.

The stabilization statement was issued after receipt of an extensive communication from President Roosevelt and after long star-chamber sessions of the American delegates both last night and this morning.

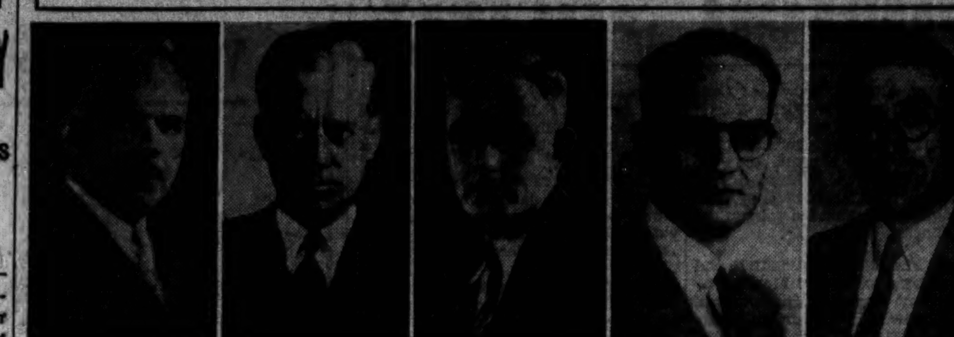

Beer Appeals Postponed.

The appeal cases of three Alexandria merchants recently fined in Police Court on a charge of having beer of greater than ½ of 1 per cent in their possession, which was to have been heard in the Corporation Court yesterday, has been postponed until next Tuesday. Some of the jurymen summoned were unable to appear, and a different jury panel will be summoned.

AGENTS CONTINUING THRIFT BOOK SALES

United States Attorney Rover Withdraws Objections After Meeting.

Denying that coupons from so-called "thrift-books," circulated for sale throughout the city, were not being honored by firms included in their "cut-rate" plan, promoters of the idea last night continued to operate after United States Attorney Leo A. Rover withdrew his objections.

Backers of the plan, organized to allow purchasers of the books a discount to patronize concerns named in the folders, were brought before Mr. Rover Wednesday and warned to cease offering the books for sale.

The promoters were served with "forthwith" subpenas at their uptown offices, after complaints were received at the Better Business Bureau. It was alleged that students at Roosevelt High School were being given 25 cents for each book sold. The salesman paid 50 cents for them and sold them for $1.

Several purchasers, it was learned, claimed that the folders were not recognized by firms named. They entitled the holders to free admissions to amusement places, "one free half-hour horseback ride," and the like.

Daniel Thew Wright, Washington attorney, was retained by the promoters, and proved to Rover that the books were being honored by local firms.

Montgomery Club To List Projects

Acting on a resolution adopted by the executive and advisory committees, Frederick Lee, president of the Montgomery County Civic Federation, yesterday named subcommittees to prepare appropriate lists of construction and improvement projects which might be included in the public works program of the States of Maryland under the provisions of the national recovery act. Subcommittees were named on Federal projects, roads, sanitary improvements, parks and park roads and schools.

The resolution, adopted by the two committees, makes provision against the inclusion of projects that will increase the taxes of the country, or necessitate the floating of bonds.

All Alexandria's Teachers Rehired

In spite of the recently announced reductions in salaries of teachers in the Alexandria public schools, the school board has elected practically every teacher for the next session, there being less than ten vacancies, these being accounted for by the usual resignations and transfers. These will be filled after the arrival of the new superintendent, T. C. Williams, who will assume his duties July 1.

Miss Adelaide Risdon, Miss Agnes Reynolds and Miss Katherine Leadbeater, who have been teaching in the elementary grades, have been transferred to the high school.

The board has urged that pupils turn in their old school books, so that they may be reissued next year, and save the parents the cost of new books. Many of the recently graduated class in the high schools, it is said, have failed to turn in their books so far.

Ward Kirby Dies; Citizen of Fairfax

Ward T. Kirby, 65, prominent dairyman and farmer of Fairfax County, Va., died early yesterday at Georgetown Hospital following a brief illness. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from his residence near Langley, Va. Interment will be in the Falls Church Cemetery.

Mr. Kirby was born at Kirbytown near Chesterbrook, Va., and had lived all his life in that vicinity. He was a member of the Langley-Chesterbrook Methodist Church South. He was active in Democratic politics of the county and in the civic and church affairs of his community.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Marvin Kirby, of McLean, Va.; two brothers, Foster, of McLean, and Harvey, of Washington, and one sister, Olive P. Kirby, of Washington.

Court Franchise Given To Alexandria Ferry Co.

Judge William P. Woolls, of the Alexandria Corporation Court, has granted a franchise to the Alexandria Ferry Co. to operate a ferry between the Cameron street wharf and Shepherd's Point, on the Maryland side of the Potomac. It is understood the company will begin operations the latter part of July.

Three "viewers" appointed by the court reported that the ferry line will constitute a convenience and necessity, and would afford a shorter route from Alexandria to points in southern Maryland, and to the Annapolis and Baltimore highways.

CREDIT BASIS SAVED U. S., ROPER ASSERTS

Essential Soundness Bared on Numerous Occasions in Crisis, He Says.

Milwaukee, June 22 (A.P.).—The essential soundness of the credit situation in this country has prevented the utter prostration of the American economic situation on numerous occasions during the last few years, said Daniel C. Roper, United States Secretary of Commerce, today in an address before the annual convention of the National Association of Credit Men.

"Statistics reveal convincingly that the credit of our country is sounder today than in any previous major slump," said Secretary Roper. "Bad debt losses in the retail trade have only increased from six-tenths of 1 per cent in 1930 to one and one-half per cent in 1932, an adverse change, in view of prevailing circumstances, of a wholly inconsequential character.

"In the United States we have had an economic tornado, yet our time-tested credit practices and procedure still go on, very much in the accustomed way. Credit has declined less than the other vital indexes, as our Commerce Department surveys show."

The reason for this, he said, was the underlying principles and concepts of credit in the United States.

The national industrial recovery act should do much to strengthen the ethical standards in the credit field, he stated.

Ernest I. Kilcup, of Providence, R. I., was elected president of the Association of Credit Men, which chose Los Angeles for next year's convention.

Paul M. Millians, Atlanta, was elected vice president of the Eastern division of the association; Fred J. Hopkins, Minneapolis, Central division, and J. M. Rust, Los Angeles, Western division.

New directors include D. J. Bosschart, San Francisco; W. G. Buchanan, Washington; L. S. Buschingham, New York; Fred Roth, Cleveland; Walter Sack, Grand Rapids, Mich., and W. E. Tarleton, St. Louis.

Bank Robbery Suspect Held.

Mineola, N. Y., June 22 (A.P.).—Dee Aldrich, wanted on a charge of bank robbery, in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was arraigned in Nassau County Court today and ordered held for 30 days pending arrival of Iowa officers to take him back. He waived extradition.

TEMPORARY VICTORY WON BY OHIO WETS

Court Grants Writs Asked to Stop Referendum on Repeal Law.

Columbus, Ohio, June 22 (A.P.).—A quick temporary victory was won by Ohio antiprohibitionists late today seeking to forestall a referendum on the State's repeal convention law.

The law itself calls for an election of delegates at large on November 7, committed to one of three slates—for repeal of the national prohibition amendment, against repeal, or neutral.

The referendum would require the voters to ballot instead on the election law itself—thereby delaying a final Ohio showdown on the national prohibition amendment indefinitely.

Petitions calling for the referendum on November 7 were filed yesterday by the Ohio Antisaloon League and its allies.

Today repeal leaders launched a counter-attack in the State Supreme Court when they requested a writ of prohibition to prevent the secretary of state from certifying the Antisaloon League petitions, and asking a mandamus action to compel the secretary of state to print ballots for the November 7 election of delegates to the repeal convention, as provided in the disputed law.

Within an hour after the counter-attack was made, Judge Howard L. Bevis, of the supreme court, issued alternative writs, returnable July 3. The secretary of state thus must show cause on or before that date why the writs should not be made permanent. The case will be argued on its merits July 10.

Young Democrats Plan Information Service

The executive committee of District Division of Young Democrats of America last night decided to institute an information service concerning political and governmental activities for the national organization. The new service will be under the direction of Francis P. Taylor, jr.

Arrangements were also made by the executive committee for the regular meeting of the Washington organization Monday night at the Mayflower Hotel.

Work Service Director Goes to D. A. V. Session

Oscar G. James, acting director of the Veterans' Employment Service of the Labor Department, yesterday left Washington to attend the national convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

He is the delegate of Federal Chapter, No. 6. The convention is at Cincinnati.

Burglars Ransack Residence.

Burglars entering a kitchen window, yesterday ransacked the home of H. D. Miser, 3017 Sixteenth street northeast, and stole clothing valued at $35 and $3 in cash. The burglary was discovered by Mrs. Miser when she returned home after being away only a short while.

Street Bridge Stop Denied.

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday denied a request of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. for permission to eliminate the stopping of its cars before crossing the P Street Bridge at 8 miles an hour.

MIXED BATHING BAN URGED BY EDUCATOR

Prof. Crager Also Warns Adventists Against Use of Cosmetics.

Christians should not engage in mixed bathing at public beaches unless they are in family groups, or in a party of well acquainted friends, the Potomac Conference of Seventh Day Adventists was told yesterday by Prof. C. P. Crager, educator of the general conference. The common run of bathing suits worn today, he said, are immodest and indecent.

Young women, he said, can get a more attractive color in their cheeks and lips by resorting to the sunshine, eating plenty of raw vegetables, and getting plenty of good, wholesome sleep than by resorting to the various concoctions of the apothecary's art.

The modern dance, the theater and the "pernicious literature now flooding the land" were characterized by the Rev. C. L. Bond as the demoralizing influences confronting Christianity. "The individual who indulges in them, though professing to be a Christian, will sooner or later find himself fully in the camp of satan."

The speaker is a noted leader of the youth's movement among Seventh Day Adventists. The conference is meeting at the campgrounds of the Seventh Day Adventists in Takoma Park.

Promotion of evangelism among the laity will be discussed by the conference this morning. A symposium will be held with President Walter P. Elliott as the leading speaker. Other speakers today will be the Rev. J. H. Smith, for many years a Bible teacher at the Shenandoah Valley Academy, and the Rev. H. J. Detwiler, president of the Columbia Union Conference.

Christian Church Annual Picnic on Bay Tomorrow

Between 700 and 800 members of the Ninth Street Christian Church tomorrow will visit Seaside Park, Chesapeake Beach, on their annual excursion. Two special trains will take the party to the bay shore, where they will engage in a varied program of games and athletic contests.

Lawrence Smallwood is chairman of the excursion committee of the Church, and Hubbard Quantrille, Edward Anderson and Walter McCurdy are arranging the entertainment. A luncheon will be served.

Members of the Phil Sheridan Women's Relief Corps of the G. A. R. also will hold an outing at Seaside Park tomorrow with a number of Civil War veterans as their guests.

AN EDITORIAL

THAT TOOK THE WORDS OUT OF OUR MOUTH • • •

WE were getting ready to say something. But somebody else said it for us--no less an authority than the National Petroleum News, a leading oil trade journal. It reflects the sober thinking of the industry.

This editorial from the National Petroleum News gives an idea how an unbiased voice in the oil industry feels about the present epidemic of wild challenges, promises, and guarantees.

The American Oil Company from the outset has disapproved the methods about which the editorial complains. It believes the motorist, too, will resent such insults to his intelligence--and will say so in no uncertain terms.

The American Oil Company believes the motorist will have greater confidence in companies that avoid such sales and advertising methods.

The American Oil Company products* are honest values --honestly described. Whenever they can be actually improved --we'll improve them--not before.

After all the present excitement is over; after the noisy claims are but a memory--merit alone will tell the tale.

THE AMERICAN OIL COMPANY

Executive Offices: BALTIMORE, MARYLAND

 AMOCO-GAS

--the original special motor fuel--sold at a premium because--it costs more to make--does more --is worth more.

 Orange AMERICAN GAS

--the original Orange regular gasoline, with a pure petroleum base--unadulterated. Always sold for what it is--the best gasoline at regular gas price.

The Super Battle Of Super Adjectives

HIGH powered adjectives are flying about the public's ears in a new battle of gasoline advertising being fought out in large size advertising space in the newspapers. It all started with, or in anticipation of, the marketing of gasoline containing "Q" compound, although that does not figure in the advertising. It looks as though supremacy in the struggle would go to the company whose advertising copy writers can think up the most words synonymous with quality, to which "super" can be prefixed.

It all makes one think of the childhood argument as to who would have the most money when he grew up, which always ended when one had mentioned a higher combination of numbers than the other could match.

The race for extravagant claims for gasoline now all has to do with the so-called "regular" grades. • • •

It would be most interesting to know what a station man would say to a motorist who now asked him why he should continue to buy a premium gasoline, if the regular grade will do all that the advertising claims for it.

The advertising of five big oil companies which has recently come across the editor's desk, in each case, has claimed, in so many words, the highest in quality rested with its new regular gasoline. The exact claim in each case, as taken from the advertising is:

"The result is a fuel in advance of the times, basically superior to all regular priced and, with few exceptions, all premium priced gasoline."

"The most powerful gasoline ever offered at regular prices."

"The highest anti-knock quality you have ever been able to get at the regular price."

"The highest anti-knock ever crowded into a gasoline and still sold at the regular price."

"Combining all the qualities your motor needs for perfect performance."

Along with the high powered words now being unlimbered by the batteries of word slingers, giants in mail stride across the advertising pages, challenging who may come. Other giants, in other copy, hurl defiance back. It's all very thrilling.

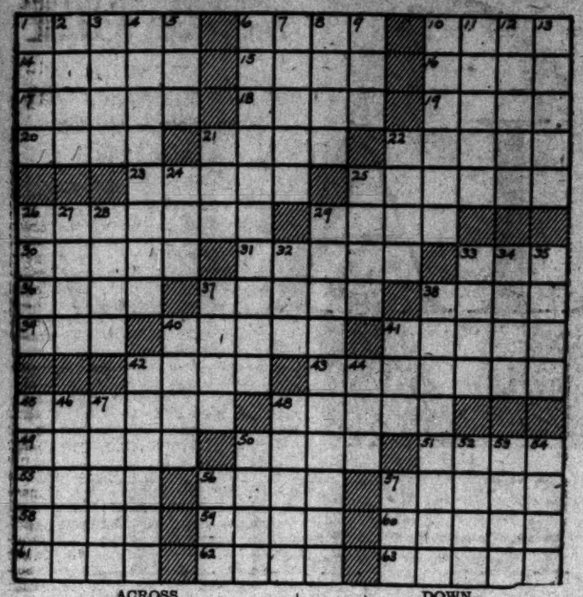

New processes in refining are referred to in mystifying manner, as though the curtain was being half drawn to give an eager public a peek into that enthralling world of science where the secret is being wrested from Nature as to how to gain one more point in anti-knock.

If gasoline advertising keeps on going through what we may later look back on as the "patent medicine" stage, we may next expect to see testimonial letters, with photographs, such as used to run in the newspapers, simulating reading matter, except that the letters Adyt. were at the bottom.

We may see, in similar manner, the likeness of Tyrus Danceford, 123 Big Falls, Ia., who gratefully owes his health to using TaRaRa gasoline for three months and having his tonsils removed; or of Underhill J. Slaughter, who owes his business success to five tankfuls of Nonparil motor fuel and being left $50,000 by a maiden aunt.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

AN institution of which any service could well be proud is the Radio Materiel School at the Naval Research Laboratory, which yesterday graduated its eighteenth class. It was composed of 57 warrant officers and enlisted men who upon entering were the pick of the operators of naval ships throughout the world, also of the Marine Corps and the Coast Guard.

As a reward for their aptitude they received a six-month course at the school in fundamental operating and engineering principles involved in all radio equipment used in the naval service. The school was founded in 1924 as a result of the collaboration of Commander W. J. Ruble, now director of the Naval Research Laboratory, and Dr. A. H. Taylor, the Navy's short-wave wizard.

Upon graduation from the Materiel School those who have mastered the courses really become the engineers who keep the radio equipment of the entire Navy in operating condition. Likewise, according to Chief Radio Electrician Booth, who is in charge of the school, these men are in great demand by commercial organizations at the end of their enlistment terms. A graduate of the school never has any difficulty getting a job outside.

In addition to being familiar with short-wave communication problems the graduates are required to have a thorough knowledge of commercial receiving sets such as an ordinary listener uses. The reason for this is that on some of the larger ships in the Navy there are as high as 300 sets owned by the officers and men.

As a practical example of what the men at the Materiel School are able to do was the delivery yesterday of nine all-wave receiving sets which they made to the Naval Observatory. With these sets the Naval Observatory experts will be able to listen to time signals all over the world.

MRS. THOMAS A. EDISON, widow of the famous inventor, will discuss the problems of women faced by vastly changed economic and social conditions when she appears as guest on the Woman's Radio Review over WRC, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Edison's talk on "Leisure After Many Years of Drudgery" will be directed particularly to those women who find themselves at a loss to know what to do with their newfound leisure.

"Freckles" will be the presentation of the Northern Dramatic Club over WOL at 7:30 o'clock. This will be followed by the Metropolitan Quartet.

PAUL WHITEMAN is getting himself into the silk hat class by having Deems Taylor, American operatic composer, to act as his master of ceremonies on the new hour Monday night. Taylor acted as narrator at the beginning of the Metropolitan Opera broadcasts and contributed two operas to the Metropolitan's repertoire, "The King's Henchman" and "Peter Ibbetson."

A radio version of a new feature motion picture will be broadcast from the liner Queen of Bermuda at sea on Saturday, July 1, and heard here over WJSV.

The picture is "A Lady for a Day," based on a magazine story by Damon Runyon.

This will be, it is said, the first time a radio dramatic production has been broadcast from a ship at sea.

PHIL HARRISS, young entertainer and band leader from the smart dance rendezvous and motion picture studios of the Pacific Coast, will come to us through WMAL for a series of weekly broadcasts beginning tonight at 8 o'clock.

Ben Larson, production man, explained studio signals to a guest speaker in the studios a few days ago.

"If I touch my nose, you will know that you are doing fine," he explained. The speaker began broadcasting. He spoke too slowly and Larson urged him to speed up.

Then Larson's nose started to itch. He started to scratch but at that moment the visiting speaker looked up. Suppose he interpreted the scratch to mean "All's well" when it wasn't? Larson deferred the scratch, but the itch increased in intensity. For fifteen minutes the production man lived in torture until the program ended. Then he reached up to scratch. The itch had suddenly disappeared.

BOY SCOUT TROOPS numbering 125 khaki-clad members will fill the studio when Phil Cook takes the air tonight (WMAL, 7:45 p. m.). Cook attended a benefit performance given by the Crestwood Boy Scouts a week ago, and in return for the royal welcome he received has invited the boys to witness a broadcast.

The Scouts will make the trip to New York City from Crestwood, a suburb, in 20 automobiles, and will wear their full uniforms for the occasion.

During "Melodies Out of the Dark," tonight over WMAL, 8:45-9:00, a special arrangement of Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me," for soprano and barytone, will be heard. This series of musical dramatic sketches features Yvonne Ravel, soprano, and Earl Carbauh, Washington barytone. They are assisted by Francis Shanley, violinist, and Beulah Beverly Chambers, pianist.

Ireene Wicker—the three "e's" are correct because a numerologist told her so—actress and singer heard from the Chicago studios, isn't superstitious, but she always applies her lipstick just before she takes to the air, although she doesn't use it otherwise . . . wears the same blue dress every time she has an audition . . . and scribbles her name across each script before she broadcasts, just because.

Crime and the ways of criminals will be discussed by Edmund Pearson, author and criminologist, over WMAL at 4 p. m.

Pearson has specialized in the study of crimes of violence for many years and has written a number of books on the subject. He is well known as an authority on criminal psychology. He will give some sidelights on the crime situation and on the different types of lawbreakers.

WITH Lee Wiley and Paul Small as vocal stars, Victor Young directing the orchestra and Ilka Chase and Hugh O'Connell in interludes of comedy, a lively Vanity Fair program will be presented over WRC at 8:30 p. m.

Six nature studies in music will be played by the Concert Orchestra, Joseph Littau conducting, tonight over WMAL, at 8:30 p. m. Selections to be heard include Duparc's symphonic poem "Aux Etoiles;" Humoresque, from "Woodland Pictures," by Percy Fletcher; and Dance of the Sylphs, from "The Damnation of Faust," by Berlioz.

Grace Moore, operatic soprano, who is featuring a popular dance tune as part of her program in the Friday night variety shows over WJSV, at 9 o'clock, will sing "If I Forget You," the latest song hit from the pen of Irving Caesar. Lou Holtz and Shaw-owsky and Lennie Hayton's orchestra will round out the bill.

Listeners have enjoyed the 20 concerts broadcast this year by music club members of the District of Columbia Federation of Music Clubs, and the club members approve of radio, according to a report given by Thelma Callahan, federation radio chairman, to members and officials.

Miss Callahan and Mrs. Gertrude Lyons, local federation president, say they have received an encouraging number of enthusiastic letters from listeners throughout the year.

U. S. SEEN BEST ABLE TO LIVE IN ISOLATION

Washington Experts Declare Nation Could Survive on Its Own Products.

By FRANK I. WELLER,
(Associated Press.)

In a topsy-turvy world where every nation tried to live within its own boundaries the United States might be best fitted to survive, some authorities here believe.

Washington has developed some highly authoritative opinion that just such a situation quite easily could result if the World Economic and Money Conference in London should end in failure. A foundation, experts say, has been laid in countervailing duties, import and export restrictions, quotas and embargoes and competitive depreciation of currency.

In the event of world-wide nationalism, states Assistant Secretary Rexford Tugwell, of the Department of Agriculture, the United States, with its great range of productive resources, would be in a better situation than almost any other nation to fall back and carry economic nationalism to its logical conclusion.

Self-Sufficiency Preferred.

At the Department of Commerce it was said such a course might be best for this country if international chaos were to continue ten, or even five, years longer.

While the results would not approximate those anticipated if the London conference frees world markets, it was said, it would be better for this country to suffer the consequences of "going national" than those of continuing the present struggle.

In no event, experts explained, would economic nationalism mean an absolute embargo on all products. Certain things always would be imported under any condition.

Necessary Imports.

In final analysis the only articles the United States positively must import and their source of origin are:

1. Rubber—British Malaya, Dutch East Indies.
2. Tin—British Malaya, United Kingdom.
3. Platinum — Colombia, United Kingdom, Russia.

Articles which this country can not produce or substitute for, but which are considered only semi-necessary, are:

1. Coffee—Brazil, Colombia.
2. Tea—British East Indies, United Kingdom, Japan.
3. Cocoa—British West Africa, Brazil, West Indies.
4. Camphor (natural)—Japan.
5. Cork and manufactures—Portugal, Spain.
6. Cloves—British East Africa.
7. Pepper—Dutch East Indies, British Malaya.

Would Speed Production.

Sugar is an example of a great number of products the United States could produce, but for which in great part it is dependent on foreign sources, because of their cheap production. The list of such products an embargo would mean doing without until domestic production was stepped up includes:

1. Asbestos—Canada.
2. Manganese—Russia, British India, Gold Coast, Brazil.
3. Chrome ore—Mozambique, French Oceania, Greece.
4. Nickel—Canada.
5. Tungsten ore—China.
6. Newsprint—Canada, Scandinavia.
7. Pulp wood and wood pulp—Canada, Sweden, Finland.
8. Cattle hides—Canada, Argentina.
9. Wool and mohair—Australia, China, Argentina.
10. Potash and potassium—Germany.

Would Need Substitutes.

The United States can not produce but could substitute for:

1. Vegetable oils—Philippine Islands (chiefly).
2. Silk—Japan, China, Italy.
3. Jute and burlaps—British India, United Kinkdom.
4. Manila hemp—Philippine Islands.
5. Sisal—Mexico.
6. Bananas and some nuts—Caribbean countries, Brazil.
7. Furs—Russia, Canada.
8. Long staple cotton—Egypt.

Reeducating the Taste.

The question of substitution always runs into the problem of reeducating the public taste. Domestic producers suggest animal fats, dairy products and cottonseed oil for vegetable oils, cotton for hemp, jute and sisal and native fruits for bananas.

The consumer compains that bananas, however, are a staple food. He carries the substatution complexity even to tobacco.

There is an overproduction of this in the United States, but the public taste has been educated to small amounts of the Turkish product in almost all blends.

U. S. TREASURY RECEIPTS.

(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for June 20 were $15,-361,126.13; expenditures, $14,946,632.13; balance, $1,007,142,898.41. Custom duties for 20 days of June were $15,124,543.74.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading on the stock exchange developed a better tendency today. There was renewed support in kaffirs, oils and rayon issues, which were the features. Gilt-edged securities recovered early, but eased later. Foreign issues were easy. The closing was steady.

Paris—Wall street's strength was reflected on the bourse today, oils being especially strong. Rentes were firm throughout and the closing tone was firm.

Berlin—Prices were unsettled and weak on the boerse today.

Continental Shares Receiver Is Named

Baltimore, June 22 (A.P.).—Judge Eugene O'Dunne today appointed William D. MacMillan, Baltimore attorney, receiver for Continental Shares, an investment trust incorporated in Maryland.

The receivership suit, brought by George L. Gugle, of Columbus, Ohio, a stockholder, was uncontested, but Judge O'Dunne declined to name the Ohio man receiver, as suggested, asserting "it is not wise to appoint a receiver who is beyond the jurisdiction of the court."

Continental Shares was founded by Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier, and represented an investment of approximately $112,000,000. Since no physical assets of the investment trust are located in this State, although the concern is a Maryland corporation and legally domiciled here, Judge O'Dunne did not require the newly named receiver to post bond. He suggested that George Weems Williams, of Baltimore, Maryland counsel for the investment trust, be made counsel for the receiver, but made no definite appointment.

Central of New Jersey Elects Charles Ewing

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—Charles H. Ewing, president of the Reading Co., was elected president of the Central Railroad of New Jersey today. He succeeds Roy B. White, who recently became president of the Western Union Telegraph Co. Reading controls Central of New Jersey.

FIRM CURB MARKET DRIVEN INTO DECLINE

Oils and Utilities in Demand; Trading Increased to 736,000 Shares.

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—The curb market received a rather severe jolt in the final hour today following a session of general firmness. Losses ranging from 1 to more than 3 points were suffered throughout the list.

Prices tried to rally for a time in the initial dealings, with oils and utilities in fair demand, but advances were largely reduced by the end of the first hour.

Trading activity increased considerably on the late reaction. Transfer approximated 736,000 shares, compared with 597,000 for Wednesday.

Singer Manufacturing and Parker Rustproof lost 7 and 5 points, respectively, each in light trading. Other losses of 2 to around 3 were shown in Aluminum Co. of America, American Gas & Electric, Mergenthaler, Humble Oil, Gulf, Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Newmont Mining.

Recessions of a point or more were shown in Axton Fisher, Electric Bond & Share, Swift & Co., Pan-American Airways, Niagara Hudson Power and Standard Oil of Indiana.

Early Rise in Stocks Lost on Closing Sales Market Turns Extremely Dull as Declines Average 2.8 Points; Leaders Yield; Turnover Mounts to 4,388,351 Shares.

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—Stocks backed up abruptly toward the close today after an early rise and an intermediate period of extreme dullness.

The market paid little or no attention to weakness of dollar exchange during most of the business day. Formal announcement by the American delegation at London that the United States viewed currency stabilization now as "untimely" was obviously the signal for fresh dollar selling, although our currency later rallied.

This improvement, as well as the late break in stocks, coincided with a widely circulated and quickly denied rumor that France was about to drop the gold standard. Perhaps Wall street felt that the chances of the report being true were reasonably good at this time in view of America's monetary decisions. It is generally conceded in banking quarters that abandonment of gold by France would not have an adverse effect here; but market traders seemed to welcome an excuse to sell and dumped holdings briskly. Final prices, above the lows, represented general losses of 1 to around 5 points. Sales totaled 4,388,351 shares.

At the close, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Union Pacific, United Aircraft, Harvester, Woolworth, Consolidated Gas, General Electric, Union Carbide, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania and Santa Fe were down about 1 to 1½. Case was off 5, Western Union, National Distillers, Du Pont and Allied Chemical, 3 or more, and American Can, 4. Oils lapsed under profit-taking, losing much of yesterday's rise. Cotton, after a moderate early advance in sympathy with sterling, closed with small losses. Wheat was fairly steady, but corn sagged.

The Markets at a Glance

What the Stock Market Did

	Thur.	Wed.
Advances	142	382
Declines	621	273
Unchanged	109	171
Total issues	872	826

Stocks.

An early rise was lost on final sales. The market turned extremely dull. Leaders joined the general decline. Losses averaged 2.8 points. Trading volume increased to 4,388,351 shares.

Bonds.

Opening gains of 1 to 3 points disappeared in trading and the market closed unchanged. Secondary rails led the early rise. A selling rush was blamed for the losses. Sales totaled $15,329,000.

Curb.

Firm prices and a rally in oils and utilities yielded to declines. Losses ranged from 1 to 3 points. Trading activity increased to 736,000 shares.

Wheat.

Dollar-a-bushel wheat came nearer as prices advanced on rushes of buying. Corn was off; oats gained. July wheat sold at 78⅛ to 78¼ cents.

Cotton.

Further advances were lost and the market closed 2 to 7 points down. October sold at 9.47; July, 9.21. Liverpool reported a steady market with continental selling absorbed by the trade.

Sugar.

Raw sugar was quiet. Spot sold at 3.35. Refined was unchanged at 4.60.

Coffee.

Spot, quiet; Rio No. 7, 7½; Santos No. 4, 9.

Copper.

Active buying was indicated and the price stood at 8 cents per pound.

Steel.

Prices were unchanged. Leading mills of the country operated at 50 per cent capacity. The Youngstown district increased to 53 per cent.

Dry Goods.

Prices were firm with business confined largely to nearby deliveries.

Rubber.

Prices closed easy. July sold at 6.03; September, 6.35.

RESERVE BODY FINDS COMMODITIES RISE

Survey Shows Gains Follow Decline of Dollar in Foreign Marts.

(Associated Press.)

Prices of commodities were described yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board as having advanced rapidly in the American market since the United States went off the gold standard.

In its monthly review of business and finance, the board said the dollar had fallen about 15 per cent in terms of the French franc during the same period while the English pound declined about 2 per cent.

"Prices of many commodities that are freely traded in on the organized exchange and quickly respond to changes in business and financial conditions have advanced rapidly in the American markets since the early part of April," the board said.

Advance and Exchange.

"This advance has corresponded both to the decline in the exchange value of the dollar which has occurred during this period and to a rise in the world price level of these commodities."

The board said the American prices have advanced somewhat more rapidly than British prices even after allowance was made for the differences due to the depreciation in exchange value of the dollar. Naming six basic commodities—cotton, lard, silver, copper, tin and rubber—the board said:

"At the end of May American prices of these six commodities averaged about 60 per cent higher than in February. Of this rise of 60 points about one-half appears to correspond to the rise in the British or world prices of these commodities.

Value of Dollar.

"Of the other half of the advance, a part corresponded to the decline in the exchange value of the dollar as compared to the pound sterling and a part represented price advances in the American market in excess of both the advance in British prices and the depreciation of the dollar in the exchange market."

The board reported that on May 31 there were 5,536 Federal Reserve member banks licensed to reopen with deposits of $26,360,394,000 and 1,163 unlicensed banks with deposits of $1,856,427,000.

At the end of May, the United States had $4,315,000,000 of monetary gold, and at the end of April, the last figures available, England had $904,872,000, France, $3,169,948,000; Germany, $97,791,000; Belgium, $371,-303,000; Italy, $342,790,000; Japan, $211,897,000, and Switzerland, $459,-883,000.

During the first four months of 1933 the United States produced $12,-589,000 of gold, according to the board's information, while South Africa produced $76,489,000, Canada, $14,922,000; Mexico, $3,300,000, and Australia, $3,600,000.

Bar Silver Stronger.

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—The silver market, which recently has been making wide swings, strengthened today. Bar metal was quoted at ¾ cent higher, at 35¾ cents an ounce, recovering most of yesterday's losses. Futures advanced about half a cent on the average.

BOND PRICES STAND AT FORMER LEVELS

Early Gains of 1 to 3 Points Lost in Trading; Sales, $15,329,000.

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—Bonds, up 1 to 3 or more points during the greater part of today's session, relinquished most of their gains in a last-minute selling rush which accomplished liquidation in stocks.

Secondary rails jumped forward in the early hours as new figures on freight traffic of individual roads disclosed further substantial improvement. Some of the oils did better and various other issues resisted realizing.

Among carrier liens that retained portions of their advances were some of Baltimore & Ohio, Bangor & Aroostook, Canadian Pacific, Chicago & North Western, Greater Northern, Illinois Central, Louisville & Nashville, New Haven, Northern Pacific and Union Pacific. A number of the rails suffered fractional losses.

Industrial and utility issues that maintained some of their improvement included those of Western Union, Sinclair Oil, Remington Rand, Montana Power, Colon Oil, Armour & Co., and Consolidated Gas. Bonds of American & Foreign Power, Goodrich, International Telephone, McKesson, Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron, Postal Telegraph, Warner Bros. and Studebaker were rather heavy.

United States Government securities continued to gain moderately. Foreign bonds generally were quiet and a trifle irregular. Most of the Germans were off 1 to 2 or more points, but the Argentines and Japanese improved.

Sales totaled $15,329,000 par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans was unchanged at 77.7.

SOUND CREDIT SAVES NATION, ROPER SAYS

Commerce Secretary Points to U. S. Strength for Early Recovery.

Milwaukee, June 22 (A.P.).—The essential soundness of the credit situation in this country has prevented the utter prostration of the American economic situation on numerous occasions during the past few years, said Daniel C. Roper, United States Secretary of Commerce, today in an address before the annual convention of the National Association of Credit Men.

"Statistics reveal convincingly that the credit of our country is sounder today than in any previous major slump," said Secretary Roper.

"Bad debt losses in the retail trade have only increased from six tenths of 1 per cent in 1930 to 1½ per cent in 1932, an adverse change, in view of prevailing circumstances, of a wholly inconsequential character.

Tested Credit Stands.

"In the United States we have had an economic tornado, yet our time-tested credit practices and procedure still go on, very much in the accustomed way. Credit has declined less than the other vital indexes, as our Commerce Department surveys show."

The reason for this, Secretary Roper said, was the underlying principles and concepts of credit in the United States.

The national industrial recovery act should do much to strengthen the ethical standards in the credit field, he said in outlining some of the things intended to be accomplished by the act. He listed the following.

Promotion of efficiency and the cultivation of a heightened sense of responsibility.

The bringing under control of those persons who have participated in credit frauds.

Balance of Opportunity.

The bringing about of a more equitable balance of opportunity, and a greater equilibrium in competition between the individual enterprises in a given line.

A diminution of advantages growing out of special privilege and a widening of the opportunity for more humble producers.

"Much of this 'corrective beneficence' can and should be accomplished through credit control," he said.

Mr. Roper warned against the unwise use of credit to obtain new outlets for products. The offer of unusually attractive but essentially unsound credit terms he termed as dangerous practice.

The administration of the new business recovery laws was much more important than their phraseology, he declared.

"The purposes of the laws are so clearly for the best interests of all concerned that our people will not fail to cooperate in efforts to secure honest, wise and just administration."

CAPITAL TRACTION'S EARNINGS DECLINE

Operating Revenues in May Total $258,748; Net Is Increased.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Capital Traction Co. was the second utility firm to file its May statement of operations with the Public Utilities Commission. This report submitted yesterday reveals operating revenues of the company for the month as $258,748.70, as compared with $295,382.89 in May 1932, a recession of $36,634.19.

The company's operating expenses last month totaled $188,934.02, or $37,341.72 under those of the month last year when they were $226,275.74. Operating income amounted to $51,-730.03, or $3,558.50 more than that of May 1932.

Net income for last month aggregated $20,675.97 and presents an increase of $2,789.75 from that of the month a year ago. Revenue passengers during May numbered 3,103,-548, a loss of 391,356 from the number of May 1932. Car and bus mileage operated by the company last month was 754,223, a decline of 30,-537 miles from that of the month in 1932.

Five Months Revenues.

For the first five months of 1933, operating revenues of the company amounted to $1,241,024.43, a decline of $210,337.78 from those of the corresponding period last year. Operating expenses were $982,475.27, or $154,-941.43 under those of the similar comparative period a year ago. Operating income for this period this year totals $169,175.60, or $46,859.40 less than that for the like time in 1932.

The company's net income for the five months of the current year amounts to $16,631.77, which is $52,-088.83 less than that for the like period a year ago. For the first five months of 1933, the company transported 15,240,003 revenue passengers, 2,205,504 less than the number carried in the same period in 1932. Car and bus mileage operated up until the end of May was 3,625,396, or 207,-139 miles under that for the corresponding period last year.

Complete success of Secretary Wallace's plan for cotton acreage reduction is forecast by telegraphic reports received by Fenner Beane & Ungerleider from that firm's branch office managers in all parts of the cotton belt, John D Mothershed, Washington manager, announced yesterday.

Inquiry Is Urged.

Mr. Mothershed states that telegrams were sent to managers of all his firm's Southern offices asking that an investigation and report be made on the attitude of farmers toward cooperation with Secretary Wallace in the plans of the latter for retiring cotton lands from cultivation.

With the exception of a certain portion of Texas and a small section of Louisiana the replies were virtually unanimous in stating that farmers would cooperate 100 per cent.

The plan is to give cotton farmers options on the some 250,000,000 bales of cotton owned by the Government, at a price of around 6 cents a pound, in compensation to the farmers for reducing their acreage to a proportionate degree. The program also calls for the payment to cotton farmers of $125,000,000 for abandonment of acreage already planted.

Plowing Up Cotton.

Considerable uncertainty has been prevalent in the cotton trade as to whether or not the cotton farmers would be willing to plow up cotton lands already under cultivation, success or failure depending entirely upon the willingness of the farmers to cooperate.

Local banks have ceased paying interest on demand deposits, such payments ending at close of business June 15. Under instructions of the Washington (D. C.) Clearing House Association, although the new banking law is mandatory, local banks sent notices to their depositors yesterday stating that interest no longer will be paid on demand deposits which include all checking accounts.

Maurice Otterback, chairman of the board of directors of Anacostia Bank, was a special guest at the weekly luncheon meeting of the District of Columbia Bankers Associatoin at the Willard Hotel prior to his departure for a European trip.

WHEAT VALUES RISE ON RENEWED BUYING

Crop Damage Reports Aid Upturn; Corn Is Off; Oats Advance.

Chicago, June 22 (A.P.).—Dollar-a-bushel wheat came 6¼ cents nearer today to reality.

In whirlwind rushes to buy, every kind of grain excelled the season's high price record. Wheat for delivery in May, 1934, changed hands at 89 cents, as compared with 82¾ cents yesterday for 1933 December contracts, the top quotation that wheat heretofore had touched in Chicago this season.

It is rare for wheat to be traded in almost a year in advance of delivery, but 100,000 bushels were purchased on that basis today.

Crop Damage Worse.

Crop damage reports were the worst today that have been received in a long while, and were largely responsible for price jumps. However, late forecasts pointed to showers and cooler weather northwest, and led to much profit-taking on the part of recent buyers.

Wheat closed unsettled, with the active months, July, September and December, at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅝ higher; corn, unchanged to ¾ off; oats, ½-¾ up, and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to an equal advance.

Wheat prices at one stage dipped to below yesterday's finish, but previous speculative sellers showed an immediate disposition to support the market, and quick rebounds ensued. The day's turnover of wheat was rated as extremely large. In some quarters, much significance was attached to indications that good quality wheat available for immediate use had become scarce, and that dometsic millers were attempting to secure ownership on an augmented scale.

Forecasts of Showers.

Prior to forecasts of showers and cooler weather Northwest, the wheat market was chiefly influenced by torrid temperatures prevailing Southwest and West and by word of rising mercury Northwest. Fears were expressed that such circumstances meant unabated crop deterioration in the great Central valleys and a critical outlook in Canada. Contributing to the upward sweep of grain prices were steep advances in foreign exchange. Later, however, there was a typical weather market, with traders eager to seize profits.

Increased rural offerings were a feature of the corn trade.

Oats made a sensational exhibit, showing more than 100 per cent advance of late, and reflecting likelihood of the smallest crop in twenty years.

Provisions were stimulated by grain strength.

Federal Land Banks' Loans Reach $1,102,890,767 Total

(Associated Press.)

The Farm Credit Administration yesterday placed the total Federal Land Bank loans in force as of May 31 at $1,102,890,767, with 339,324 farmer borrowers.

The five months of this year the 12 banks made 4,169 loans totaling $14,633,997, compared with 2,692 loans for $10,514,000 during the same period last year.

The number of loans and the aggregate of the outstanding principal is expected to increase rapidly when the administration gets fully under way the $2,000,000,000 farm mortgage refinancing program authorized by Congress.

The amount loaned by each of the 12 banks, from January 1 to May 31, was:

Springfield, Mass., $1,059,400; Baltimore, $403,900; Columbia, S. C., $169,200; Louisville, $1,338,600; New Orleans, $20,600; St. Louis, $1,347,804; St. Paul, $1,139,900; Omaha, $4,554,600; Wichita, Kans., $628,600; Houston, $1,506,200; Berkeley, Calif., $992,200, and Spokane, $1,473,293.

Hops Business Booms; 1933 Prices at Peak

Moxee, Oreg., June 22 (A.P.).—Growers in this district have contracted to supply 500,000 pounds of hops within the next five years. The top price was 36 cents for the 1933 crop. Prices to be paid in future years are scaled downward to 20 cents in 1937.

Mississippi Farms Grow Red Cotton

Laurel, Miss., June 22 (A.P.).—The old description of "Fields of Snowy White" does not hold good down here any more, for cotton patches of south Mississippi have gone red and changed complexion of the land. Planters are growing red cotton now because some experts say the red variety has a longer staple and can resist weevil better than its green cousin.

The stalks and leaves are a deep red and the fields look like lakes of blood. The blooms are pink and the cotton itself, of course, is white.

Virtually all growers along highways of south Mississippi have planted red cotton this year. The contrast is startling. The red leaves, the pink blossom and white bolls make a crazy patchwork. Tourists from the North have expressed amazement at the sight. Instead of seeing fields of green stalks and leaves, they see the red splotch, sprinkled with pink and white.

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Tin plate—Leading can making companies are said to be specifying on a heavier scale than a year ago against contracts for plate supplies.

Paint materials—Several items are showing price strength, particularly casein and varnish gums. Demand is said to be well maintained. Lead pigments remain firm.

Copper—There are said to be fewer offerings by second-hands under the 8-cent level. There are indications of more active buying in the export market, with prices firmer.

Zinc and lead—Buying of zinc reported light, with prime Western at 4.35 cents a pound, St. Louis. Lead demand is fair, with the price unchanged at 4.20 cents a pound, New York.

Higher Oil Prices Met.

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—The Texas Co. and the Sinclair-Prairie Oil Marketing Co. today met the higher crude oil prices posted June 19 in the Texas Panhandle by Humble Oil & Refining Co.

ADVANCE IN COTTON TRIMMED BY SALES

October Sells at 9.47 With General Market Down 2 to 7 Points.

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—A further advance in cotton today met increased offerings as prices approached previous high levels and was followed by reactions in sympathy with the closing weakness of the stock market.

October contracts closed at 9.47, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 2 to 7 points.

Initial prices were 5 to 9 points on trade and commission house buying promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and the continued weakness of the dollar in foreign exchange.

Offerings Are Increased.

Offerings increased as prices worked above the 10-cent level for March and the market weakened during the afternoon. Realizing and scattered selling became more active following the sharp break in the stock market, and reactions in grain.

Closing quotations were within a point or two of the lowest. There were reports of an increased spot demand in the South, and a little more hedging was reported.

The weather in the South continued generally dry and hot and there were reports that rains were beginning to be needed in some sections.

Liverpool Is Steady.

Liverpool cables reported a steady market with continental selling absorbed by the trade. Exports today, 6,909, making 7,688,766 so far this season. Port receipts, 5,453. U. S. port stocks, 3,584,676.

Houses with Liverpool and continental connections were buyers during the early trading. The advance here, however, seemed to attract a little more Southern selling and there was some selling believed to be for mill account.

Somewhat conflicting opinions are heard as to acreage reduction prospects, but private advices from the South again indicated that the curtailment plans are being very favorably received by farmers in most of the sections reporting.

THE MEANDERER

Tries to Find Dinner Carnations of the Sophisticates; Looks Over Wedding Gifts.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

"Send me a wine-red carnation for my dinner coat," said a man customer to the florist over the telephone. The florist was dubious. He suggested as diplomatically as he could that since there were only bright red carnations in the shop, a gardenia should be sent. Bear in mind that the florist is one who has all blooms Washington ever thinks to ask for.

But evidently Washington hasn't been seized with a desire for wine-red carnations, for this was the first call for them.

"Don't you know that dark red carnations are much worn in New York for formal wear?" the nettled customer said, not appreciating the gentle guidance of this shop which many of Washington's elite depend upon.

Research into smart magazine spheres for data on carnations brought this advice to fashionable women: . . . "If you tire of gardenias stop at the florist's and pin on a carnation in three clashing colors." When sunbonnets become fashionable, as the Meanderer noted yesterday—and carnations cease to be humble fashion commentators must learn to expect most anything.

Perhaps the inability of gardenias to hold their old prestige is their reduced cost. Fifty cents buys a fine gardenia. Orchids, too, are no longer in prohibitive class for modest purses. An orchid for a lady love means that the bill will be about $3.

Not so common and no more expensive are the pink or white spray orchids. Several flat, wax-like orchids of the kind are on one stem and will serve with exquisite correctness for the flower touch on the evening gown. However, the same magazine that would replace gardenias with carnations, says, anent orchids: "If you still get orchids, don't pin them on your torso." Pin them on the evening bag, is their suggestion, as the most strategic place to disport them.

The lovely lounging lady from Long Island pictured in the same said magazine, wearing a filmy white mousseline gown under a candy-striped taffeta evening wrap with voluminous sleeves, may instill a desire in some modish butterfly to possess that very dress and wrap. If so, the Meanderer can tell the wishful person just where to find this gown.

When the Meanderer wondered where to get needful suggestions for wedding gifts she approached the head of the gleaming silver room in one of Washington's leading shops. (If you've wondered, as has the Meanderer, how they have time to keep this room so gleaming, this is how—in the words of the head of the department: "Every person employed in this room is told from the beginning that he must dust and shine, dust and shine forever and always when he isn't needed for anything else.") As the paragraph began to say—this place is the spot from which thousands of gifts have gone to give their glamor to bridal occasions.

For a number of years the dignified, courteous, white-haired buyer for the shop has met and satisfied those searching for bridal gifts. He can show the shopper his precious sterling trays for $300 or just as willingly help the customer to choose from the sterling ware on the $3.95 table.

Among the treasures shown to the Meanderer which seemed most impressive were the flat silver, the King George pattern, a rather stubby, early English design; the sophisticated hunt club design, said to be a rival of the time-revered Fairfax silver, with only three years passed since its introduction; the sterling tea sets, the stately candelabra, the six-pint sterling pitchers selling as low as $25, and the six demitasse cups for $12.50.

Today Means

"CANCER."

If June 23 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 8:45 a. m., from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 6:30 p. m. to 7 p. m.

The child born on this June 23, while possibly not robust or extremely healthy, will have a will of iron and great strength of purpose. He will go right after what he wants, and when he is in the right he will never take no for an answer; you will not be able to bargain with him. Not one to whine or allow himself to be petted.

If June 23 is the date of your birth, you are quite likely a person who thinks and acts slowly. You have not a great deal of vision. You should spend much of your time in the out of doors, for there more than likely lie your interests. You are not of a gregarious nature; while you enjoy the company of small groups of people, you enjoy solitude and for long periods of time.

Born on June 23, you like to see things running smoothly and without disturbance. Unharmonious conditions are very upsetting to you, and you will find it difficult to work where there are undercurrents of ill-feeling and dissatisfaction. Toward your children you are a loving and fond parent. You care little for the children of others and more often than not you allow yourself to become annoyed by their childish play.

U. S. Dollar Slumps On Exchange Mart

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—Uncertainties regarding currency stabilization proposals today were accompanied by another slump of the American dollar in foreign exchange markets.

The British pound sterling climbed around 6 cents to $4.24⅛ for cables, another new high since England left the gold standard in 1931, then dropped back to $4.23½; up 5½ cents. Other leading European exchanges were up to new tops for the past year or more, including French francs, which gained .07½ of a cent at 4.91½ cents; Dutch guilders, which advanced ¾ of a cent to 50.20 cents, and Swiss francs and Belgian belgas which firmed about 1-3 of a cent each.

Canadian dollars followed sterling with a gain of 13-16 of a cent to 90.87½ cents, and German marks and the Scandinavians gained about ½ cent each. Japanese yen and Shanghai dollars also improved ⅜ of a cent each.

Sears Roebuck Sales By Mail Orders Drop

Chicago, June 22 (A.P.).—Although retail store sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. equalled those of last year during the fifth calendar period, a 30 per cent decrease in mail order sales brought the total to 17.6 per cent below 1932.

Total sales of the company from May 22 to June 18 were $19,935,951, against $24,200,341 a year ago. In the first five periods of the fiscal year, January 30 to June 18, sales were $89,548,538, compared with $107,326,812 last year, a drop of 16.6 per cent.

N. C. Williamson Named Cotton Group President

New Orleans, La., June 22 (A.P.).—Norris C. Williamson, of Lake Providence, La., was elected president of the American Cotton Cooperative Association today at the annual meeting of the board of directors.

Mr. Williamson, president the past five years of the Louisiana Cotton Cooperative Association, an affiliate of the A. B. C. A., succeeds U. B. Blalock, of Raleigh, N. C., who has headed the national group for two years.

Wall St. Briefs

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—The wool manufacturing industry "is virtually sold up for the next two months," says the New York Wool Top Exchange Service. The industry "has accepted about all of the business it can handle efficiently in the next eight to ten weeks after which the schedule of working hours and wages to be drafted in accordance with the national industrial recovery act will be put into effect."

Stockholders of Commercial Credit Co. today authorized a change in the common shares to $10 par value from no par and retirement of 45,948 common shares bought in connection with the liquidation of the Commercial Credit Management Co. purchase of 54,052 additional shares at not more than $20 each was also sanctioned. The amount of authorized common is to be reduced to 2,000,000 shares from 3,000,000, while the class "A" convertible is to be cut to 500,000 shares from 1,000,000.

Wall Street estimates that the Baltimore & Ohio Railway will show a balance of earnings for the preferred stock in June.

A petition to close the New York Stock Exchange on July 3 had signatures of 470 members today. The board of governors is expected to consider the petition at its meeting next week.

PILING UP THE CALLS.

I HAVE often speculated as to how many rounds of bidding could take place in a single hand. Of course, starting the bidding with one club and proceeding upward with the bidding being reopened by a Double or a Redouble each time, it would be possible to get close to a hundred. This, however, could never take place in a regular game.

The other day I saw a game played between four Brooklyn players in which the bidding, which had started out harmlessly enough, suddenly got completely out of control when the West player decided to start sacrificing. After a while, of course, the thing got to be a sort of joke, but the West player did succeed in confusing his opponents to such an extent that they forgot to double. I am reproducing the hand and the bidding merely as a curiosity.

North, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

North: ♠ A 8 7 2 ♡ — ◇ 7 6 5 3 ♣ A 10 8 7 6
West: ♠ Q ♡ A K J 10 9 7 6 4 ◇ Q 4 ♣ K 4
East: ♠ J 10 5 ♡ 8 5 2 ◇ J 9 8 2 ♣ J 3 2
South: ♠ K 9 6 4 3 ♡ Q 3 ◇ A K 10 ♣ Q 9 5

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♣	Pass	1♠	1NT
2♠	Pass	4♠	4NT
Pass	Pass	Dbl.	Redbl.
5♠	Pass	Pass	5NT
Dbl.	Pass	Pass	Redbl.
Pass	6♣	Pass	Pass
Dbl.	Pass	Pass	Redbl.
Pass	6◇	Dbl.	Redbl.
Pass	6♡	Pass	Pass
Pass

Of course bidding such as this is sheer nonsense. West obviously started out with an idea of confusing the issue for his opponents in the hope that he might eventually be able to play the hand at some low heart contract—perhaps doubled. However, after North and South reached four spades he saw that this was impossible and consequently made a notrump Overcall in the hope that he could reach a heart contract, perhaps undoubled. Then he became impressed with the humor of the situation and continued these tactics as long as he possibly could.

South was in a very difficult position. His partner had opened the bidding and had shown good support in spades. A Slam, consequently, did not seem at all out of the question. He could hardly be expected to know that his partner had opened a distributional bid rather than a sound bid. This accounted for his pass of the six hearts, which was meant purely as a Forcing Pass. North's final pass is probably explained by the fact that he lost track of the bidding and thought that his partner had doubled.

The result was far from serious as the six-heart contract went down only 3 tricks, or 150 points; doubled, the set would have been 450 points. On the other hand, if North and South had contracted for six spades they would have gone down one, losing 1 club and 1 spade.

I am not at all sure that every one of West's Redoubles was technically an SOS Redouble. However, in this particular bidding situation they could hardly be interpreted as anything else by his partner.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

With South playing a contract of three notrump, how should East and West defend the hand below?

North, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

North: ♠ K 8 6 4 ♡ A Q 7 6 3 ◇ A 9 ♣ 4 2
West: ♠ 7 5 2 ♡ 8 5 ◇ J 10 5 ♣ A 10 9 7 6
East: ♠ A Q 10 ♡ K 10 9 2 ◇ 6 4 3 2 ♣ Q 5
South: ♠ J 9 3 ♡ J 4 ◇ K Q 8 7 ♣ K J 8 3

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Missouri Pacific Trustees Selected

St. Louis, June 22 (A.P.).—L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, and Guy A. Thompson, of St. Louis, former president of the American Bar Association, were appointed trustees in Federal Court today to operate the road under the amended bankruptcy law.

Baldwin had been left in charge of operations after the railroad filed a bankruptcy petition March 31. Last month the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which lent approximately $23,000,000 to the Missouri Pacific, asked appointment of a disinterested trustee or trustees to investigate financial transactions between the Missouri Pacific and the Van Sweringen companies controlling it.

Judge Faris today named Marion C. Early, former president of the St. Louis Bar Association, as special master to hear evidence concerning these transactions.

Natural Gas Offers Reorganizing Plan

Wilmington, Del., June 22 (A.P.).—Henry T. Bush and C. Ray Phillips, receivers for the Kentucky Natural Gas Co., today asked chancery court to approve a reorganization plan drafted by a reorganization committee. The receivers stated the plan is just, fair and equitable to security holders and creditors of the company. The court issued an order fixing June 28 for a hearing on the petition.

The plan provides that the assets of the present company shall be acquired by the reorganization committee or a new company to be formed by the committee, free of the mortgage securing the two-year 6 per cent mortgage gold bonds.

It also provides that the holders of the present company's bonds who assent to the reorganization plan shall receive ten shares of the cumulative 7 per cent preferred stock and five shares of the common stock of the new company for each $1,000 principal amount of bonds of the present company.

Camp Roosevelt Ready to Receive Capital Scouts Sunday and Monday.

SIXTEEN members of the staff of Camp Roosevelt arrived at the camp Monday and began putting everything in readiness for the arrival of the campers. Everything is fresh and green at camp and the large number of Washington Scouts who will arrive Sunday and Monday, the opening days of Camp Roosevelt, are bound to have the times of their lives.

Camp provides plenty of opportunity for action and adventure. The remarkable waterfront on Chesapeake Bay means all sorts of fun in swimming, boating, canoeing and sailing. The rich treasure of nature lore all around the camp makes possible an unusual program of exploration and nature study. The handicraft program, as usual, is unexcelled. Camp provides the opportunity for new friends, new experiences and for a very rich scouting experience.

A large number of Scouts flocked to Boy Scout headquarters Monday and Wednesday of this week, where a corps of doctors put them through their physical examinations. Another group will come tonight—all those who are to attend camp the first and second week. Additional physical examinations will be held each Thursday evening throughout the summer.

Who's Who Among the Leaders.

A staff of 25 leaders will welcome the Scouts who come to Camp Roosevelt this summer. As one Scout said last week "they are a bunch of 'good Scouts.'" Here is the list—you will find many of your old friends in the group:

Camp director, Scout Executive Linn C. Drake; assistant camp director, Robert Myers; commissary division, Harry Cutler; registrar, Curtis Cooper; commissary clerk, Jack Splain; chief ranger and commissary assistant, Oswald J. Hayes; truck driver and trading post, Bruce Moore; handicraft, Fred Stuart; assistant, Bob McConnaughy; nature, Al Schnurman; assistant, Bob McDermott; swimming and life saving, R. R. Bailey; assistant, Frank Cerminara; boats, Wade Barstow; assistant, Thornton Hart; health and safety, Dr. A. L. Manganaro; troop leaders, Joe Rose, Houston Buchanan, Harold Boesch, Harry R. Switzer, Reisner C. Lindsay; bugler, Bryant Tuckerman; camp carpentry, Dave Barber; assistant cook, Lorenzo Snyder.

Troop 18, conductel by the Washington City Church of the Brethren, Fourth street and North Carolina avenue southeast, will hold a lawn festival, including a free show and exhibits this evening from 7 to 11 o'clock. Bennett G. Miller is scoutmaster and Mr. Lonberger, chairman of the troop committee, will be master of ceremonies at the big party tonight.

Camp Wilson Under Full Swing.

Camp Wilson, at Burnt Mills, Md., is already open with "Bill" Murray in charge. Scouts may go to the camp individually or in troop groups and stay for a short or a longer period. Plenty of opportunity for scouting fun and advancement is provided.

Troop 33, conducted by the Takoma Park Presbyterian Church, will leave tomorrow morning for a three-day trip into Pennsylvania. It is expected that 30 fathers and about 40 Scouts will go on the trip. The trek is under the direction of H. E. Allanson, scoutmaster.

Indications are that many Scouts will take advantage of the invitation to be the guests of the Chevy Chase pool to particiate in a free swim today. Hours, 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. This is one of many summer Scouting activities that are being planned for Scouts.

In the midst of an amazing display of all sorts of Scout projects and handicraft, more than a hundred Scout parents and friends gathered at the Columbia Heights Christian 100 Cubs and Cubbers to Give Farewell Demonstration to Maj. Godfrey.

More than 100 cubs and cubbers will gather tomorrow night at Section 4 of Rock Creek and Potomac Parkway, southwest of the Taft Bridge, to stage a farewell demonstration for Maj. Steuart Godfrey, cub commissioner, who is being transferred to Boston. The program has been planned by a committee of cubmasters, of which John Baylese is chairman.

The program is planned as follows:

8:30 p. m.—Those who wish to carry basket lunches or cook their suppers may build fires, cook and eat—and be merry.

6:30 p. m.—Assembly of all cubs, cub leaders and cub parents. Games: (All stand at attention and repeat law of pack.) (a) Tug-of-war (elimination, each pack entering a team); (b) chariot race (elimination, each pack entering a team); (c) 50-yard dash (each pack entering two men); (d) relay race (each pack entering a team); (e) short period for use of swings and other playground facilities.

7:30 p. m.—Campfire. (a) Introductory remarks; (b) Locomotive yell for Maj. Godfrey (all cubs participating); (c), Maj. Godfrey.

8 p. m.—Stunts (each pack please prepare a good stunt).

8:20 p. m.—Stories (or some other event; (a) also a short period for while any Scout may come to camp individually at a rate that is the lowest in the history of the camp.

Cubs Rally to Honor Maj. Godfrey.

More than 100 cubs and cubbers will gather tomorrow night at Section 4 of Rock Creek and Potomac Parkway, southwest of the Taft Bridge, to stage a farewell demonstration for Maj. Steuart Godfrey, cub commissioner, who is being transferred to Boston. The program has been planned by a committee of cubmasters, of which John Baylese is chairman.

The program is planned as follows:

5:30 p. m.—Those who wish to carry basket lunches or cook their suppers may build fires, cook and eat—and be merry.

6:30 p. m.—Assembly of all cubs, cub leaders and cub parents. Games: (All stand at attention and repeat law of pack.) (a) Tug-of-war (elimination, each pack entering a team); (b) chariot race (elimination, each pack entering a team); (c) 50-yard dash (each pack entering two men); (d) relay race (each pack entering a team); (e) short period for use of swings and other playground facilities.

7:30 p. m.—Campfire. (a) Introductory remarks; (b) Locomotive yell for Maj. Godfrey (all cubs participating); (c), Maj. Godfrey.

8 p. m.—Stunts (each pack please prepare a good stunt).

8:20 p. m.—Stories (or some other event; (a) also a short period for toasting marshmallows, informal chatting, etc.

9:15 p. m.—Closing ceremony; (a) living circle; (b) repeat cub promise; (c) scoutmasters benediction.

In case of rain, the rally will be held at All Souls' Memorial Church, on Cathedral avenue, one block east of Connecticut avenue, at 7 p. m.

Fischer to Lead Jamboree in Hungary.

Yule Fisher, of 4421 Seventeenth street northwest, chairman of the troop committee of Troop 8, All Souls' Memorial Church, Cathedral avenue and Woodley place, will be the leader in charge of the group of Washington Scouts, who will leave on July 19 to take part in the international Scout jamboree to be held at Godollo, Hungary.

Accompanying him will be William Leith, Mason Gray and Thornton Burnet, of Troop 8; Henry Surface, of Troop 88, and Lynn Brua, of Altoona, Pa.

"The record advancement in rank of the troops of the District of Columbia Council, during the first five months of 1933, is highly commendable—and a definite evidence of the efficient teamwork of Scoutmasters and Scouts," Walter MacPeek, educational director of the council, said yesterday.

During the 5 months' period 450 tenderfoot Scouts advanced to second class rank; 124 second class Scouts became first class Scouts and 1,789 merit badges were earned.

Troop 22 of the Brookland Baptist Church supplied over half of the camporee members in the First Division Camporee. Although this troop is the smallest in the Brookland-Woodridge Division, it is always on hand to participate in the only inter-troop activity of the year.—Joseph Quill.

Boy Scout Troop 97, conducted by the Memorial United Brethren Church, North Capitol and R streets, is leaving in a group next Monday to spend a two-week period at Camp Roosevelt on Chesapeake Bay. The troop will go under the leadership of William Rohrer, scoutmaster of the troop.

Among those already registered are Scouts George Burtner, Walter Clements, Don Fugitt, Burell Hildebrand, Frank Streeks, Eliot Sumter, Ralph Teg, William Rea, R. Griffin, Carlos Darling, William Hollingsworth, Charles Wilding, Edward Turner and Ted Lawrence. Several additional Scouts from the troop plan to complete their registration this week.

Troop 43 Parents' Night Tonight.

Troop 43, conducted by the National Baptist Memorial Church, will hold its annual parents' gathering tonight. The program will include the installation of new officers, the presentation of awards, and stunts by patrols. Mr. Louis B. Grening is scoutmaster of the troop.

Sunday, June 25, will find many Washington Scouts on their way to a summer of happiness on Chesapeake Bay. These Scouts will be the vanguard of campers, the first delegation of many hundreds who will go to Camp Roosevelt some time during the summer. Many Scouts will advance in rank this summer, gaining new badges and honors living together at Calvert Cliffs.

All the advantages of modern camping are provided—hiking, swimming, sailing, watercraft, handicraft, and the meeting of all Scout requirements and advancement to higher rank. All of these are under carefully chosen leadership headed by the Scout executive himself with his wide background of scouting experience.

Think of the thrill that comes to the heart of a boy living in the out-of-doors, sleeping in rustic cabins, living in the midst of a large group of good friends.

Camp Roosevelt is in the range of everyone's pocketbook. Troops may camp together for only a small charge;

Troop79 to Continue Through Summer

Troop 79, Albright Memorial Church, will continue to hold informal meetings throughout the summer. Uniforms will not be required, but registration card or badge will be necessary. The interpatrol contest is progressing with the Panther Patrol, led by Jack Grove, well in the lead.

The Axe, Troop 79's monthly publication, comes out today with complete details concerning Camp Roosevelt's opening Monday. Features in this issue include a handicraft article,

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW JERSEY, as leader of the industry, is helping to bring it down—to put gasoline advertising on a sensible basis. You cannot clothe yourself—or buy food for yourself—or run a car—on exaggerated advertising claims or misleading ratings of gasoline efficiency • But, if you believe the nonsense that seems to be the fashion in today's gasoline advertising, you can surely let yourself in for disappointment—and waste your money • We guarantee smoother performance. And remember, this guarantee comes from the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the world's largest oil organization. From a company which has pioneered in new developments and is fully aware of the importance of such a guarantee from a company which is the industry's recognized leader • This company stands squarely back of Essolene as a great advance over gasoline—a new goal for all gasolines to attain. We urge you to try it once—when your tank is cleared of other fuels. Do this—judge Essolene for yourself with no exaggerated claims and descriptions to confuse you, and we will rest our case on your decision. NATS WIN, TIE FOR LEAGUE LEAD AS YANKS LOSE

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

CHICAGO, Ill., June 22.—The guy who first said anything can happen in baseball is probably chuckling in his mausoleum this evening. A heluva of a lot has happened in the American League these last two weeks to put the Nats in a first-place tie with the New York Yankees.

Two weeks ago, almost to the day, the Yankees were breezing along in this American League pennant race with a six-game lead in their sails, looking back at the distant opposition and wondering what the winner's share of the world series would be. Then things began to happen.

The haughty Yanks weren't so hot in Philadelphia. They dropped four out of five to the A's. They went to Boston and beat the Red Sox once. And they stayed in Boston to lose four straight to a last-place club and for a time it seemed that the world's eighth wonder had been definitely established. They came out to Chicago and dropped two out of five to the Sox. They went to St. Louis, found another last-place club and have split two games thus far. They've lost 11 of

GEORGE T. DUNLAP, Jr.
Yankee golfer, who advanced in the British amateur by defeating Ross Somerville, 2 and 1.

Mathison, Veteran Sports Writer, Is Dead

New York, June 22 (U.P.).—Charles F. Mathison, 77, former sports writer and boxing official, died tonight at his home in Brooklyn. He had been in ill health since the death of his wife last year. Mathison was best known for his work with the old Evening Mail.

Shoots His Way Into Quarter-Finals of British Amateur.

Will Meet Hardman Next; Tolley Also Makes Advance.

HOYLAKE, England, June 22 (A.P.).—The biggest surprise for a remarkable day in British golf history tonight found George T. Dunlap, jr., 24-year-old former Princeton captain and twice holder of the American intercollegiate title, within striking distance of the British amateur golf championship.

The slim 125-pound New York youth, making his first bid for one of the most cherished of golfing titles, capped the climax of a series of upsets today by toppling Ross (Sandy) Somerville, Canadian holder of the United States amateur crown, 2 and 1, with a brilliant finish, after overwhelming Rex Hartley, British star, 5 and 4.

Among other things Dunlap unloosed a string of seven consecutive holes in 22 strokes which left Hartley dizzy and badly beaten in the morning, then rallied from a shaky start to take command of his afternoon match with Somerville and bring it to a climax with winning birdies on the sixteenth and seventeenth holes.

"Putter Did It," Says Dunlap.

The young American smiled happily as he walked off the seventeenth green, victor over the Canadian favorite, and safely into the "last eight" or quarter-finals, scheduled tomorrow morning.

"My putter did it," Dunlap told friends in the gallery of 4,000, who followed his match with Somerville over Hoylake's historic layout. The somewhat dazzled experts, however, paid quick tribute to Dunlap's courage under pressure and his ability to play his shots effectively in the pinches.

Dunlap is the solitary survivor of the overseas contingent, favorite now to go through the upper half to the final 36-hole match on Saturday, but the lower bracket includes a second native of the United States, Douglas Grant, whose allegiance is somewhat divided by reason of his British residence for the past ten years.

The card for the Dunlap-Somerville match:

Grant, of U. S., Also in Quarter-Finals.

Grant was born in New York State, won championships in California and once was runner-up for the Western amateur title, before migrating to England. A contender for the British championship for years, he advanced to the quarter-finals today by beating J. G. M. Sherlock, 6 and 5, and disposing of R. Rutherford, 2 and 1.

Cyril J. H. Tolley, the big Briton who has twice held his national title, looms in the path of both Grant and Dunlap, but his golf will have to be steadier than it has been so far this week to gain the entire confidence of the homebreds.

Dunlap's next opponent is Robert Hoyle Hardman, a former Lancashire champion and experienced tournament player. If successful again, the American's next likely opponent is Michael Scott, who came through today against the veteran Dr. William Tweddell, conqueror of Roger Wethered, a former titleholder. Grant plays Thomas A. Bourn, well known to American as well as British amateur galleries, in the quarter-finals.

Almost the entire gallery swooped after Dunlap and Somerville in their sixth-round match, "Sandy" being accompanied also by his own caddie from Toronto, John Grierson, who got here today from Glasgow.

JOE CRONIN,
who yesterday piloted the Nats into a tie with the Yankees for first place. He also led the batting attack with four hits for a perfect day.

Upset, Trick Falls Mark Mat Show

4,000 See O'Shocker, Shikat and Steinke Win Matches.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

ONE upset and two falls on unusual holds featured the grunt and grimance show on the Griffith Stadium mat last night. Pat O'Shocker's victory over Abe Coleman was the surprise given the 4,000 fans, while Dick Shikat and Hans Steinke departed from the run-of-the-mine type of falls on flying tackles or body slams by earning verdicts on cradle holds. So hot was the going at times that a new record for bursting globes was created, no less than six of the big arcs on the roof popping off like so many giant firecrackers. The previous high mark was four.

O'Shocker's triumph came in the final of the twin-feature affairs on the card. There was nothing unusual about the match except that Coleman did not win. After slightly less than half an hour of toil, O'Shocker picked up his smaller foe, dumped him to the mat and flopped on him while Referee Bortnick clicked off the usual count of three.

Shikat Victory Surprise.

Shikat, a big German, who formerly held the title, met Paul Jones, lanky Texan, and the end of the bout came just when the fans were looking for Jones to get the verdict on his famed and feared "figure 4" scissors. The two had battled hammer and tongs for seventeen minutes when Jones first clamped down with his specialty. He held it fourteen minutes, the while shaking Shikat like a cat does a rat, and occasionally playing a tattoo on Dick's neck with his fists. Shikat finally managed to work his way to the ropes.

Five minutes later, when it looked as though Shikat had Jones nearly out, the big Texan nailed Shikat again with his pet hold. This time the German, with Jones clinging to him, practically stood on his head, reached around backwards and grabbed his foe and held him with both shoulders touching, despite the fact that Jones still had his scissors

Cronin Has Perfect Day at Bat to Lead Attack on 4 Chisox Hurlers, 11 to 4; Browns' Rally Beats New York, 5 to 4

Levey's Single With Bases Full Scores Tally in Ninth.

Homers Are Pounded by Burns, Walker; Hadley Fans 9.

St. Louis, June 22 (A.P.).—With a snappy ninth inning rally, the Browns, last place club of the American League, shook the mighty New York Yankees loose from their undisputed hold on first place today, winning the second game of their series, 5 to 4.

The defeat sent the Yanks down into a tie with the victorious Washington Nationals. Each has won 37 games and lost 23. It was only the third time this season the Yankees have not led the league all alone. They were tied right at the start of the season. On May 7 they dropped to second after the first game of a doubleheader with Cleveland, but promptly recovered, and four days later they went behind the Indians again until the next afternoon.

After spotting the Browns a three-run lead, the Yanks recovered and tied the score in the eighth. Then Tony Lazzeri's fumble gave George Blaeholder life. Jim Levey singled and Danny MacFayden's slow play on Sam West's sacrifice loaded the bases. Blaeholder was forced at the plate, but Bruce Campbell came through with a single to drive Levey with the winning run.

Bump Hadley did most of the mound work for the Browns, fanning nine, but he was forced out by the heat in the ninth.

Irving Burns, of St. Louis, and Fred (Dixie) Walker, of the Yanks, contributed home runs.

Manush Gets Hit in Ninth to Continue Batting Streak.

Crowder Is Rescued by Jack Russell in 8th Inning.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH

COMISKEY PARK, Chicago, June 22.—As yon descending sun, whatever that means, settled down behind the green walls of Comiskey Park in the lengthening shadows of this afternoon, it was definitely established that the Yankees had been caught—caught in the middle between their own defeat at the hands of the St. Louis Browns, and the Nats' go-as-you-please triumph over the White Sox.

The Nats caught the Yankees today and bounded into a tie for the American League lead, the climax of a long, upward surge that saw them bowl over the opposition in 10 of their last 11 games while the Yankees were sagging and slumping and wasting a six-game advantage that they dissipated wildly within two brief weeks.

It was with the kind assistance of the Chicago athletes that the Nats checked in with an 11-4 victory this afternoon. The Sox today were a team divided against itself. The pitchers betrayed their defense and the infielders betrayed the pitchers. The Nats were the beneficiaries of a mess of loose play and virtually inherited the ball game with seven runs to spare.

Crowder Is Relieved By Russell.

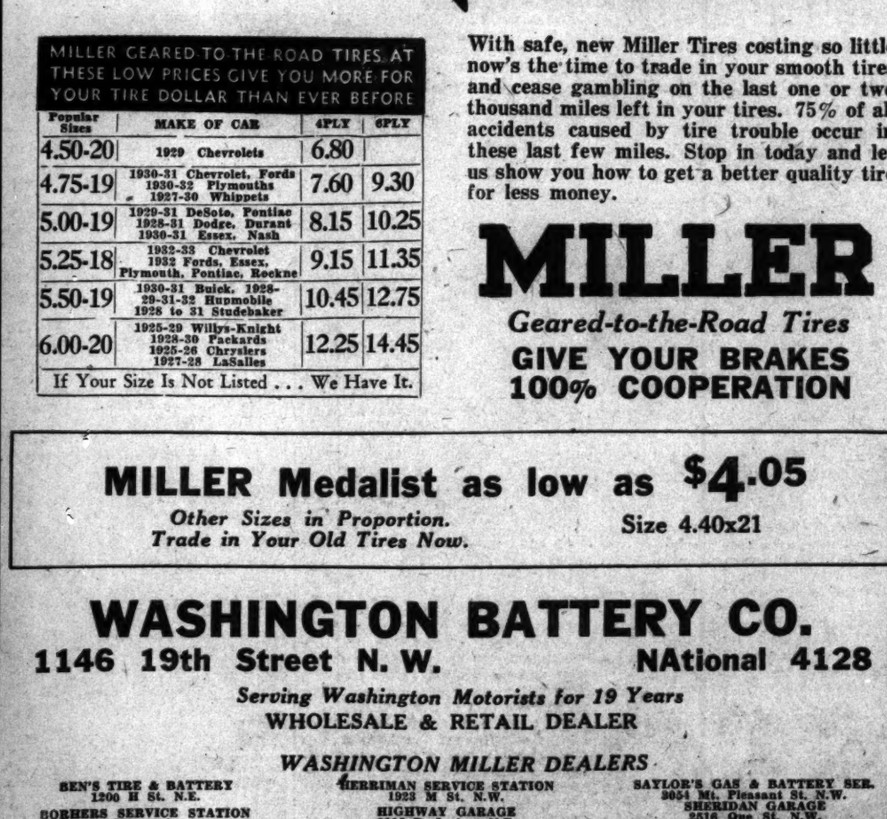

It was still a ball game, however, in the seventh inning when the White Sox had closed the gap to 7-4 and were making additional threatening motions in the direction of Al Crowder in the eighth inning, but Jack Russell ambled on the premises from the Washington bull pen and unraveled the Sox completely.

At this point it may be proper to say that Heinie Manush, who is one of the Nats' added attractions these days with his consecutive game hitting streak, is still in possession of his fame, although he had been to bat five times before his friend in need of yesterday, Paul Gregory, appeared in the box in the ninth inning. Crash! Went a single to deep center and Heinie had hit safely in his twenty-fifth straight game.

Coincidentally with going into a tie for the lead with the Yankees, the Nats set a season record today.

WESTROPE RIDES MISGUIDE TO VICTORY AT LINCOLN FIELDS

Marks Horse Winner by Length

Good Advice Returns After Rest, Scores at Aqueduct.

Workman Suspended 5 Days and Warned by Stewards.

LINCOLN FIELDS, June 22 A.P.). Misguide, running in his best form, overtook Supreme Sweet in the top race at Lincoln Fields here today and scored by one length. Evergold finished third in the three-quarter flight.

Jockey Jack Westrope, the leading rider at this course, rode the winner. He also triumphed with Meloy in the opening dash. Supreme Sweet led the procession, but weakened in the final jumps to the wire.

Misguide, racing for the Lemar Stable, owned by Leo J. Marks, of Lexington, Ky., ran the distance in 1:12 2-5, paying $4.92 in the $2 straight mutuels.

Good Advice Victor At Aqueduct.

Aqueduct Racetrack, New York, June 22 (A.P.).—Mrs. J. M. Austin's Good Advice, a stablemate of the more illustrious Mr. Khayyam and the only horse in the field of six 3-year-olds eligible for the Dwyer on Saturday, came back to the races after a rest of nearly a month and scored a hard-earned victory in the 6½ furlongs of the Bramble Purse, feature here today.

In doing so, the Wise Counsellor colt broke up two neat winning streaks, those of H. C. Phipps' Balios, which was beaten a head for the purse, and of Mrs. W. M. Jeffords' Flying Hour, the latter trailing Balios by five lengths. Balios had won his last two, while Flying Hour had four in a row to her credit. Good Advice paid 4 to 1 and made the fast time of 1:18.

Flying Hour began as if she meant to earn her fifth consecutive success, but she found the company too tough today. By the time she reached the stretch, her lead had vanished and Balios and Good Advice were fighting it out like a team. They had only inches between them as they battled furiously, but Good Advice had the more left for that last desperate lunge under Pete Walls' strong handling.

Sonny Workman was suspended five days for rough riding on Erebus in the first race, and warned by the stewards.

AT THE POST
with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: LINCOLN FIELDS, JUNE 22.

The Westrope influence, which has dominated much of the racing hereabouts, was in evidence again today. The sensational young rider had three winners and was not out of the money. Your old pal, Bill Bennings, also had three winners. They were Script Money, Swift Sport and Misguide. And I came within a half length of getting my exclusive pick, Stone Martin, home. Foxiana just stepped out to too much lead for the veteran. We'll have a hard time getting a price the next time out. If you get the wagering urge tomorrow, try these. BILL.

FIRST RACE—MARTIE FLYNN comes to this race with flattering reports from the clockers. If we are to believe them we will not have to look elsewhere for the winner. PREDICT is a fast finisher and in fine shape at present. Will be ready to score if the top fellow has any mishaps. KNOWLTON to take care of the show.

SECOND RACE—BUSY SPAIN appears most likely of these maidens to graduate. Has good races and fair trials. TRAPLOU and MY BOSS have threatened on occasions and will be contenders in this field.

THIRD RACE—DROMBO (I missed him the last time) can race for me here, now that I know he's in shape. The Chance Play gelding is sharp as a tack. LAWYER and LA SALLE should take care of the others.

FOURTH RACE—I'm really trying to put something over here. Haven't been any too good away from the chalk, but I'm slipping you BUSTED. This one has been fooling and I have reason to believe a wake-up is due. BLACK COMET and ESKIMO for the rest.

FIFTH RACE—LE MISERABLE will appreciate this distance and will be a hard horse to beat. PEEDEEQUE, which came over from Maryland, is the one to fear. Was better than rated in the East and has been primed for a race of this sort. CABOUSE to account for the show end.

SIXTH RACE—GAY WORLD ran into trouble the last time out and was carried wide. If he escapes trouble tomorrow I believe he will take the long end of the purse. MISS MELODY and RUBIO to make the top fellow hustle.

SEVENTH RACE—BATTY finished fast to be beaten only a nose in that last tussle and will be picking these up in the stretch, I believe. REVERBERATE is speedy but none too courageous. EVELINE F. for the show.

EIGHTH RACE—Your guess is as good as mine in this. I like LION HEARTED, ADSUM and MORALITY. The last named may draw Westrope, but I believe the route is too long.

Ross to Face Canzoneri Tonight

Title Bout Promises to Be Bitterest in Years.

CHICAGO, June 22 (A.P.).—Within 24 hours Bernard Rossofsky may be able to sign his name as lightweight champion of the world.

Rossofsky, as plain Barney Ross who fought his way from the lowly ranks of the amateurs to become ranking lightweight challenger within three years, will attempt to win the 135-pound crown tomorrow night when he engages Tony Canzoneri, the titleholder, in a ten-round battle under the glaring ring lights of the Chicago Stadium.

The contest promises to be the sharpest and bitterest championship duel among lightweights in years, with Canzoneri risking his pugilistic future against the most dangerous challenger he has been called upon to face since he won the title three years ago by knocking out Al Singer in one round in New York.

A champion who fights like a challenger, Canzoneri always wants to win by the biggest margin possible, so he will take no chances against the sharp shooting Chicago youngster. Canzoneri will try to upset Ross as quickly as possible, figuring he will have a better chance to win earlier than in the later rounds.

Ross, a superior boxer, has been instructed to make full use of his sharpshooting ability. The challenger's strategy of battle is no secret. He has been told to feel out Canzoneri for a few rounds, to move around and outbox him, and to keep a straight left in the champion's face. If he can survive the first five rounds, he figures that with his punching ability he has an excellent chance to win the remaining five rounds.

Ross, a 23-year-old Chicagoan, came into the position as the outstanding contender for Canzoneri's title by the victories he scored in the past year over such boxers as Bat Battalino and Billy Petrolle, and because he did not seem to extend himself to the limit in defeating either. He will be likely to be closer to a favorite in the wagering than the champion, although Canzoneri may climb into the ring as much as a 7-to-5 choice.

Indicatons were that a crowd upward of 15,000 would witness the battle, with the gate receipts ranging from $60,000 to $70,000. Canzoneri, for tossing his title in the ring, has been guaranteed 40 per cent, which may amount to $28,000.

Champion and challenger are in sharp condition. Neither will have any trouble making the weight limit of 135 pounds. Canzoneri has come to such fine condition that he likely will enter the ring at 132 pounds, with Ross scaling probably 134½.

Hubbell Gives 5 Hits in Mound Battle With Lucas.

NEW YORK, June 22 (A.P.).—Carl Hubbell pitched the Giants to their eleventh shutout of the season and his fourth as the New Yorkers trounced the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 0, in the series opener today.

Hubbell gave only five hits in a mound battle with Red Lucas and escaped trouble in the sixth, when three blows loaded the bases with none out. Johnny Vergez drove in two of the Giants' runs with his seventh homer of the season and a single. All but one of New York's six hits figured in the scoring.

The victory gave the Giants a lead of a game and a half over the St. Louis Cardinals, who lost to the Phillies, while the Reds dropped into a sixth place tie with the Boston Braves, a half game behind Brooklyn.

their last 17 battles, this club that had a six-game lead.

Maybe he's the new manager.

The Nats went into Boston while the Yankees were battling the A's. Washington had been unable to win a game in Philly. The A's had taken them for two straight and then battled them to a 13-13 tie. The Nats couldn't win that last game despite a 7-run lead.

And then the Nats went into Boston. They took three out of four from the Red Sox. They returned to Washington and floored the Athletics for two straight. They went into the West to battle the Browns. They won the first game and had a record of five straight. They won the first end of a double-header to make it six straight, but lost the second game. They finally made it three out of four from the Browns.

Washington came into Chicago a game behind the lead. They knocked off the White Sox yesterday to keep pace with the Yanks who won a 13-inning game in St. Louis. But today the break came when the Nats again beat the Sox while the lowly Browns rose up and smote the Yanks into defeat. The Nats had won nine of their last ten games to go into a tie for the lead. That's the story of the last two weeks.

In the meanwhile things were breaking beautifully for the Nats elsewhere in the league. The other contenders who had been hot on their trail behind second place were knocking each other off and cutting each other's throats with great regularity while the Nats continued to stretch the gap between themselves and the trailers.

And now the American League looks like a two-club race between the Nats and the Yanks. Two weeks ago it seemed as if the Nats had also to beat out the Athletics, the White Sox and the Indians. But none of these have kept pace.

A glance at the standings shows the Nats five games ahead of the third-place Indians. They are six and one-half games ahead of the fourth-place Athletics, and the same margin ahead of the fifth-place White Sox. The threat from behind seems to have been mopped up by the Nats. They've caught the Yankees and it looks like a two-team race.

RUNS, HITS AND ERRORS.

Al Thomas goes for the Nats tomorrow in the third of the series . . . It's Ted Lyons for the Sox. . . When Earl Whitehill blanked the Chisox yesterday it was only the second time this season they had been beaten by a southpaw. . . And they had lost 29 games. . . Manush's chances of extending his hitting streak perked up considerably when Paul Gregory appeared in the box in the ninth. . . He had gone hitless in five previous attempts today, but yesterday against Gregory he pounded out four straight hits. . . His greeting to Gregory was a clean single to center on the first pitch. The other Chicago pitchers had stopped Heinie dead. . . Once with two on base, twice with the bases full. . . The Nats would have a winning streak of 10 straight if Dave Harris had been able to lay down a sacrifice bunt in the third game at St. Louis. . . Today he laid down two beauts. . . And beat out a third. . . Goslin is slated to return to the line-up tomorrow. . . A foul off Al Simmons' bat lodged in Luke Sewell's mask in the fourth and sent the catcher down in great pain. . . Four runs scored for the Nats in the ninth despite a total lack of base hits. . . The Nats met up with Brick Owens behind the plate today for the first time since he set a new free-style record for umpiratical astigmatism on Gehrig's home run in Griffith Stadium.

Nats Gain Tie For Lead in League

Triumph Over Chisox as Browns Defeat Yanks on Rally.

although I dare say they aren't boasting about it. It seems that they had 18 men left on bases, despite their 12 hits and 11 runs for the afternoon. Traffic was in a horrible snarl at times. Two or more Nats perished on base in each of the first seven innings and in the ninth the sacks were jammed again when Manush lined to Haas for the third out.

The fact that 18 men were left on bases requires an explanation, and it can be found in the box score summary. The four Chicago pitchers, Walter Miller, Joe Heving, Red Faber and Paul Gregory, walked 10 Washingtonians and hit one, thereby accounting in a large measure for all the congestion on the paths. Two runs were forced in in the ninth when the Nats had the bases full three times.

Among other things, the White Sox pitchers couldn't get Joe Cronin out. Cronin walked in his first two times at bat and then could only rap out four singles in a row. He made four out of five yesterday, so it is easily obvious that his managerial job is affecting his batting average considerably.

The first inning got the White Sox again. Four times in their last six games they have been floored for three runs in the first frame. Today was no exception. And it seems that Walter Miller, the ancient southpaw who had the Nats eating humble pie in Washington a month ago, shutting them out with two hits, was the victim.

All Three of Runs Unearned.

But all three of the runs were unearned. Appling threw Manush's grounder away. Cronin walked, Harris singled, Schulte walked and another error by Kress accounted for the third run of the frame. The Sox replied mildly in their half when Hayes' single and Simmons' double scored a run.

The Nats reversed their procedure of scoring three runs and one hit in the first, by scoring one run and three hits in the third. Luke Sewell's single brought Kuhel home.

They routed Walter Miller out of there under a 3-run attack in the fifth, Cronin's single scoring a pair who got on by a walk and Dykes' error. Dykes' single brought Appling home with a run for the Sox in the sixth and they got two more in the seventh to make the score 7-4, after Crowder walked Swanson and hit Simmons.

But the competition left the ball game in the ninth when ten Nats went to bat and scored four runs. Manush singled, Cronin and Harris beat out bunts, Gregory walked Schulte and Kuhel to force two over and a third scored on Appling's error. It was awful, but the Nats are grateful.

Red Sox Beat Tigers In Tenth Inning, 9 to 7

Detroit, June 22 (A.P.).—A three-base hit by Roy Johnson with two men on base and two out in the tenth inning gave the Boston Red Sox a 9-to-7 victory over the Tigers in an erratic overtime game here today.

Boston committed five errors, bunching three of them in the first inning, when the Tigers scored three runs. Two more errors in the fifth helped Detroit get two more runs and tie the score.

Sorrell, Herring, Hogsett and Marberry took turns on the hill for the Tigers. Marberry went in cold in the tenth inning after Cooke and Alexander had been walked by Hogsett. Ferrell popped to Owen, but Johnson, next up, leaned on the first pitched ball for the telling triple.

National League Team For Fair Game Listed

Chicago, June 22 (A.P.).—The Chicago Tribune tonight announced the names of 18 players chosen by President John Heydler of the National League to represent the senior circuit in the all-star game against similar stars of the American League at Comiskey Park, Chi., July 6.

The personnel of the Naitonal League team:

Catchers—Leo Hartnett, Chicago; Jimmy Wilson, St. Louis.

Infielders — Bill Terry, New York; Frankie Frisch, St. Louis; Dick Bartell, Philadelphia; Harold Traynor, Pittsburgh; Elwood English, Chicago; Tonny Cuccinello, Brooklyn.

Outfielders—Charles Klein, Philadelphia; Paul Waner, Pittsburgh; "Pepper" Martin, St. Louis; "Chick" Hafey, Cincinnati; Frank O'Doul, New York; Wally Berger, Boston.

Pitchers—Lonnie Warneke, Chicago; Carl Hubbell, New York; Bill Hallahan, St. Louis, and Harold Schumacher, New York.

Winning Hurler

ALVIN CROWDER, who pitched a creditable game yesterday despite the fact that he gave way to Jack Russell in the eighth.

Make Eight Runs Off Hildebrand in 5th; Cain Is Winner.

CLEVELAND, June 22 (A.P.).—The Philadelphia Athletics went on a hitting rampage against four Cleveland pitchers today, registering 16 safe blows to win, 11 to 6.

Hildebrand, Connally, Bean and Hudlin in turn were sent to the mound for Cleveland. The Mackmen scored eight runs on nine hits off Hildebrand in the fifth, giving the hero of six shutouts his worst drubbing of the season.

Lefty Grove replaced Cain, the Philadelphia starting pitcher, in the seventh, and was the only Athletic who failed to cross the home plate at least once in the game. Cain received credit for the victory.

Phils Down Cards For Fifth Straight

Philadelphia, June 22 (A.P.).—The drive of St. Louis toward first place hit a snag today when the last-place Phillies handed the Red Birds a 9-to-3 defeat.

Ed Holley, big right-hander of the Phillies, held St. Louis scoreless until the last inning when Frankie Frisch hit a home run with two men on base.

Jim Mooney, Street's starting hurler, provided easy pickings for the Phillies and his successor, Syl Johnson, was hit hard. Fullis hit a home run for the Phils in the sixth.

Frisch was the batting star of the day with four safeties, including two doubles and the home run. It was the Phillies' fifth straight victory.

Sharkey Pounds Pair In Stiff Test Rounds

Orangeburg, N. Y., June 22 (A.P.). Jack Sharkey altered his training schedule today for his fifteen-round title defense against Primo Carnera, next Thursday night, concentrating on his two best sparring partners.

He boxed two rounds with Hans Birkie, who fought ten hard rounds with Carnera last summer, and another pair with Chester Matan, New York sailor, who acted as if he were trying to knock the champion out. Birkie took a thumping the first round but after four minutes rest gave Sharkey a hard workout in the second session.

Matan barely evaded being knocked out. Sharkey belted him so hard in the second round that the sailor's nose bled freely and he just managed to last.

Horn Battles Godwin at Twin City

New York Fighter to Invade for Battle Monday Night.

CHARLES "TRADER" HORN, New York light-heavyweight, last night agreed to meet Bob Godwin at Twin City Arena Monday in the feature 10-round bout. He replaces George Nichols, who was unable to go through with the bout after coming all the way from Buffalo because of an attack of chickenpox.

Only two men were available for the bout, Horn and Arthur Huttick. Promoter Charley Cornell signed the former in preference to Huttick because Godwin holds a decision over the latter, while he has never fought Horn.

Obtaining a suitable opponent for Godwin proved to be a difficult task. Tony Shucco failed to answer a telegram offering him the fight, and Dave Shade, Al Ettore and Charley Massar turned the bout down cold.

While not a world-beater, Horn is an aggressive mauler and a crowd pleaser. Only last week he scored a decisive victory over Corn Griffith at Hartford, Conn., and Griffith is rated by Ring Magazine as one of the outstanding young heavyweights. Horn lost to Dave Shade and drew with Joey LeGray.

Holds Decision Over Braddock.

Last year the "Trader" outpointed Jimmy Braddock, conqueror of Lee Kennedy, in a whirlwind bout at New York. Although a legitimate light-heavy, Horn has campaigned in heavyweight ranks with fair success. He outpointed Maxie Pink, National Guard titleholder, several months ago.

Maxie Koshover has been assigned the spot opposite Carey Wright, the only other vacancy on the card. They are down for six rounds. Koshover has never before appeared here, but looks promising in the gym. He was uncovered by Goldie Ahearn, who dubbed him with the pseudonym of "Cash," but when Goldie turned the lad over to Ralph Murdock it was decided to use his real name.

The bout may steal the show in the feature. Wright's ability is well known to the local populace, but Koshover appears to have all the necessary qualifications to make a real scrap of it.

Ray Bowen tangles with George Harmon in the six-round semifinal. Another six-rounder pits Doug Swetnam against Sammy Lucas, while Bill Bullock will engage Tad Lewis in the opening bout of four stanzas.

Ross' Mother Wishes Son Wasn't Fighter

Chicago, June 22 (A.P.).—Mamma Rossofsky, whose son, Barney Ross, fights Tony Canzoneri for the world's lightweight championship tomorrow night, didn't raise her boy to be a fighter, but it is too late to do anything about it.

"I'd give anything if he wasn't a boxer," she said tonight.

"You know, I wouldn't care if he only earned $10 a week doing something else.

"What if he can lick everybody? What sense is there to it? Getting paid for licking some other boy? That's no business."

Bryan and McDiarmid Win in Western Tennis

River Forest, Ill., June 22 (A.P.).—"Lefty" Bryan, of Chattanooga, Tenn., entered the quarter-finals of the Western singles tennis championship today with a 6—3, 6—3 victory over Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, Pa.

John McDiarmid, Fort Worth, Tex., joined him by eliminating Scott Rexinger, Chicago star, 8—6, 6—1.

hold. The experts called it a back headlock and cradle. It was a duplication of a stunt which Sandor Szabo pulled at Jones' expense at the Auditorium several months back. The time was 33½ minutes.

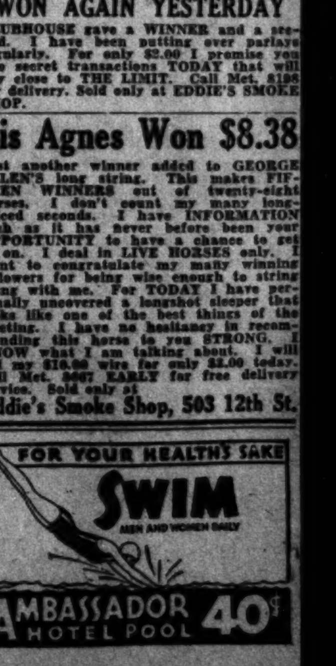

Steinke Outweighs Rival.

Martin Zikoff was Steinke's victim. The latter, who had a 32-pound pull in weights, slammed his rival about unmercifully. Finally, following several thor-hammer blows, he raised Zikoff to his shoulders. It looked as though Hans was looking for a particular spot at which to toss his foe when he suddenly applied a cradle hold and gently but firmly pressed and held Zikoff's shoulders to the mat.

Swede Olsen took Eli Fischer after an exciting 13½ minutes in one of the preliminaries. The latter was very much in the running until he hurt himself when he missed a flying tackle. The Swede then applied a couple of flying mares and that was the end. Son Jennings and Tom Alley drew in a rough curtain-raiser of 30 minutes.

MRS. HAYNES BEATS VIRGINIA POPE 1 UP IN HARD FIGHT

Kenwood Girl Adds Spice To Event

Veteran Today Plays Helen Dettweiler for Crown.

Manor Hope Stars in Beating Mrs. Scott by 3 and 2.

VIRGINIA POPE, a young girl with a smooth swing and plenty of shots, came close to upsetting the dope bucket in the women's District golf championship yesterday at Kenwood. Her hopes of setting the stage for a finals between two youthful contenders were exploded by Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, prime favorite from Columbia, who defeated the Kenwood lassie by 1 up in an exciting semifinals match.

Mrs. Haynes will match strokes with 18-year-old Helen Dettweiler, of Manor Club, at 10 a. m. today, to decide the championship. Miss Dettweiler eliminated Mrs. Don Scott, of Indian Spring, by 3 and 2.

Miss Pope's valiant stand against a woman who is almost twice her age and who is perhaps the most versatile and experienced tournament player in this section, came as a stunning surprise to the feminine golfing fraternity, and added spice to a championship event that from the outset appeared to be an easy walk for Mrs. Haynes.

Gets Good Distance Off Tee.

The young Kenwood girl, who observed her eighteenth birthday today, was firing her tee shots for consistently good distances, planting her approaches crisply, but her failure to get down putts during the crucial moments was a contributing factor in her downfall.

Mrs. Haynes first led by winning the fifth, where Miss Pope pulled her second into the rough and took a 6. They halved the first four holes. Mrs. Haynes made a splendid recovery on the sixth, to gain a half in 4 with Miss Pope, who would have won the hole had she canned a 6-footer. The Columbia star went 2 up by capturing the seventh when Miss Pope's third struck a sand trap, and she crossed the road clinging to that margin.

Miss Pope flirted with a trap on the eleventh, which Mrs. Haynes won with a par 4, and both took 5s on the treacherous twelfth, the former's approach ringing the cup, but dancing out. The got 6s on the thirteenth and 5s on the fourteenth, and Mrs. Haynes was leading, 3 up, as they went to the fifteenth.

Wins 15th Hole With Par 4.

Here the Kenwood star played two beautiful shots for her par 4 to win the hole as Mrs. Haynes hooked her tee shot and took a 5.

On the sixteenth, Mrs. Haynes' second, headed straight for the rough, struck a spectator and dropped a few feet from the green. Many in the gallery considered this a break for the veteran, as she stuck her third 6 feet from the pin and nabbed her 4 for a half.

Miss Pope was not beaten, yet. She placed her tee shot 6 feet from the cup on the 168-yard seventeenth, and got her par 3, to cut down Mrs. Haynes' advantage to 1 up. Mrs. Haynes missed her approach after her drive landed to the right of the green.

On the eighteenth both had nice drives. Mrs. Haynes' second was 5 yards from the green in front of Miss Pope's ball. Miss Pope's pitch was weak, and her try for a putt from 15 feet missed, and Mrs. Haynes, also short with her third, halved the hole in 5's to end the match.

Mrs. Haynes shot an 85 and Miss Pope an 86.

Helen Dettweiler Beats Mrs. Scott.

Helen Dettweiler covered herself with glory in eliminating Mrs. Scott. After dropping the first hole, Miss Dettweiler won the next three, went 3 up by scoring a par 3 on the sixth, 4 up by taking the seventh, and led 3 up at the tenth. Miss Detweiler was out in 44, her opponent in 48. The Manor girl won the twelfth to go 4 up again, and had piled up a commanding lead to beat off Mrs. Scott's challenge on the next few holes.

Billy Howell Beats 2 Foes In Southern Amateur Golf

EAST LAKE COUNTRY CLUB, Atlanta, June 22 (A.P.).—The Southern amateur golf championship was just another youngster's show tonight with the blasted hopes of the veterans strewn over the sun-baked fairways and tricky greens of the rolling East Lake course.

Sam Perry, the defending champion from Birmingham, and every other member of the old guard were blown out of the chase, victims of the inspired shooting of the youthful brigade. Only Ralph Remond, St. Petersburg, Fla., and Francis Ford, Charleston, S. C., of the eight remaining contenders, could count 24 birthdays.

Perry was eliminated by a score of 5 and 4 in a first-round upset by Dean Smith, a college star from Savannah, Ga., who later advanced to the quarter-finals with a 4 and 3 decision over Joe Horacek, jr., of Atlanta.

Julius Hughes, of Atlanta, who tied for the qualifying round medal, also was escorted out of the title chase in a surprise 1-up decision by Jack Taylor, jr., of Tampa, Fla. Hughes had beaten Lane Fullenwider, of Savannah, 7 and 6, in the opening round, while Taylor had won over Thad Street, jr., of Charleston, S. C., 5 and 4.

Jack Toomer, Hendersonville, N. C.; Earl Stokes, Louisville, Ky.; Billy Howell, Richmond, Va., and Eugene Vinson, Meridian, Miss.—all barely past voting age—are the others who will continue the battle in tomorrow's two eighteen-hole matches.

Howell, the Walker Cup player, found a dangerous opponent in Tommy Robertson, of Atlanta, but won, 4 and 3, clinching the verdict with three birdies in a row on the inward route. His victory over Billy McWilliams, of Rome, Ga., was easier, as he had run up a four-hole advantage on the front side.

In tomorrow morning's matches Smith plays Toomer, Stokes meets Taylor, Howell encounters Ford and Vinson tackles the long-hitting Remond.

Boys Club Holds Glen Echo Meet

The Boys Club will hold its first annual novice swimming meet today in Crystal Pool, Glen Echo. Approximately 40 boys are entered. There will be two classes, one for boys 8 years of age and under and the other for boys 15 and under.

For younger swimmers there will be 25-foot and 30-yard free-style races in addition to fancy diving. A 60-yard free-style race and fancy diving constitute the test for older boys. The swimmers will leave the Boys Club at 10:30 a. m.

Police and Dixie Pigs Meet This Afternoon

Postponed from yesterday, the game between Police and Dixie Pigs in the Industrial League will be played at 5:15 p. m. today on the South Ellipse diamond. Victory for the Bluecoats would give them the first-half championship, while a Dixie Pig victory will create a three-way tie for the honors, involving the two above teams and Blue Ribbons.

Tomorrow the Coppers will entertain the Norfolk Police in a game at Griffith Stadium starting at 2:30 o'clock. Admission to the public is free. The Virginians are led by one of the ball-playing Watts, Allie, who holds down the keystone sack. Frank Watt, his brother, will twirl for the local nine.

Carnera, Back at Work, Seems Fast in Workout

Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 22 (A.P.).—Primo Carnera, giant challenger for Jack Sharkey's heavyweight crown, returned to work today after a one-day lay-off. His handlers scoffed at the idea that the big fellow, down to 260 pounds, was too "fine" for the title match next Thursday night.

Carnera boxed six rounds, two each with Harold Mays, Arthur Huttick, and Umberto Arsi, and seemed very fast. His defense was good. He took a long road run this morning.

The Italian will rest again tomorrow and box again Saturday.

Playful Dog Holds Up Dunlap-Hartley Match

Hoylake, England, June 22 (U. P.).—A stray dog delayed the British amateur golf tournament today. Just as the gallery crowded around the twelfth green during the match between George T. Dunlap, jr., New York, and Lister Hartley, England, the little terrier raced up and grabbed the American's ball.

Spectators tried to coax the terrier to give up the ball, but it was no use. He was in a playful mood, and when he realized the people were in earnest he dashed down a convenient fairway. He ducked under a barrage of umbrellas, shooting sticks and programs. Puffing and panting stewards finally caught up with him.

100 Seen Entering D. C. Net Tourney

A large and distinguished field of netmen will inaugurate the annual District of Columbia tournament tomorrow on the courts of the Army and Navy Club. More than 50 entries had been received up to last night and close to 100 are expected when the lists close at noon today.

Swedish Minister Bostrom and Representative Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, are among those who will compete. Two Army Leech Cup players also filed application blanks yesterday, Maj. Newgarden and Maj. Dorst.

Clarence Charest and Harvey Lake, a veteran netman from New Jersey, helped swell the list. Entries may be filed at the Tennis Shop, 1019 Fifteenth street, Spalding's, or the Army and Navy Club. For information regarding the tournament, call Walnut 8575.

MAJESTICS' SCHEDULE MIXED.

Due to a mix-up in schedule, the Majestic Radio Team will play a double-header with the Fredericksburg Elks Sunday instead of Glen Burnie, as previously announced.

District Club Lists Meet Tomorrow

Baltimore Democratic Club to Be Met at College Park.

WASHINGTON TRACK AND FIELD CLUB athletes make their second appearance of the season tomorrow at Byrd Stadium, College Park, where they meet the Stonewall Democratic Club, of Baltimore, in a dual meet starting at 2:30 o'clock.

Organized in May with the rather discouraging total of three members on its roster, the club has grown to be a robust infant with a membership of 45 high school and college athletes. In its first time out, the team carried off second honors in the District A. A. U. championship meet, scoring 17 points. Impressive as this showing was, it did not indicate the true strength of the organization as many of the participants had insufficient time to train for the games.

District Track Coach Confident.

Tomorrow Coach Dorsey Griffith promises that the team will be at its peak and prepared to take the measure of the veteran Baltimore runners. The Stonewall Club has long been recognized as one of the leading organizations of its kind in South Atlantic territory.

Griffith has entered a bevy of athletes who won their spurs on high school and college cinderpaths during the past scholastic season. Catholic, Maryland, Duke, Virginia and Yale Universities, St. John's and Dickinson Colleges and all local high schools have contributed candidates to the club who will perform tomorrow.

In Ed Frederic, former Mississippi A. and M. star, Griffith introduced to Washington fans one of the most graceful and proficient pole-vaulters it has been privileged to witness in action. Frederic sailed over the crossbar at the dizzy height of 13 feet 5 inches in the District meet, exceeding the record for that event by a foot and a half. But only 2 inches behind him was Dave Caldwell, former Yale athlete. The pair should account for several points in their event.

Mike Lynch May Essay Comeback.

Mike Lynch, granddaddy of marathon runners, may essay a comeback after many months of retirement in the 5-mile race. Mike was a spectator at the recent National A. A. U. marathon and the old urge to shuffle along came over him and induced him to enter tomorrow's run.

Al Reichman, Bob St. John, Carl Sholtes, Emmett Buscher and Bill Guckeyson are some of the other well known performers who will be on hand to help repel the attack of the invaders.

Dodgers Shut Out Pirates by 9 to 0

Brooklyn, June 22 (A.P.).—Ray Benge, Brooklyn's one-man pitching staff, hurled the Dodgers into fifth place in the National League standing today by blanking the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9 to 0, in the first game of their series.

Benge limited the Bucs to four hits to chalk up his fifth consecutive victory and his first shutout of the season, and contributed three solid thumps to the 11-hit attack on three Pittsburgh pitchers.

In addition to hitting hard and timely, the Dodgers stole six bases, working two double steals successfully. Hack Wilson figured in both of them.

American Net Players Win In London

Vines, Mrs. Moody Set Pace; Miss Ryan Is Only Loser.

LONDON, June 22 (A.P.).—The invading American forces today nominated the London tennis championships at the Queens Club as Ellsworth Vines and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody led five of their compatriots through the fourth round to fill seven of the eight positions in the semifinal brackets of the men's and women's singles.

Vines, carried to three sets before he defeated A. A. Fysee, veteran Davis Cup player from India, 6—8, 6—2, 6—3, was joined in the semifinals of the men's singles by Clifford Sutter, Keith Gledhill and Lester Stoefen, all members of America's first ten.

The American and Wimbledon champion will meet his doubles partner, Gledhill, in the semifinals tomorrow while Sutter will oppose Stoefen.

Win Without Losing Single Set.

In the women's division Mrs. Moody, Mrs. Dorothy Andrus Burke, the defending champion, and Virginia Rice, of Boston, stroked their way into the final four without losing a set. Mrs. J. B. Pittman, of England, well known in United States tennis circles, completed the bracket by eliminating Jedwiga Jedzrejowska, the Polish champion, 7—5, 5—7, 6—3, for a distinct upset.

Vines was far from his best form at the start of the match against Fyzee, but he pulled himself together after losing the first set and romped through the next two, dazzling the Indian with a variety of burning service aces and forehand drives.

Sutter came through with a 7—5, 7—5 conquest of N. Q. Farquharson, of South Africa, while Stoefen rallied after losing the first set to eliminate W. L. Breeze, the former Harvard player, 3—6, 6—2, 6—1. Gledhill joined the semifinalists by defeating E. R. Avery, former Cambridge University star, 6—4, 6—3.

Continue Their Progress In Doubles.

The Americans also continued their progress in the doubles. Vines and Gledhill, United States doubles champions, and the collegiate team of David Jones, former Columbia University star, and Clayton Lee Burwell, of Charlotte, N. C., formerly of Sewanee, won two matches each.

Miss Helen Jacobs, the United States champion who is not playing in the singles, was the only American to lose. Paired with her English partner, Mrs. Phylis Mudford King, Miss Jacobs was eliminated by Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian, and Mme. Rene Mathieu, of France, in the third round of the women's doubles. The score was 3—6, 6—3, 8—6.

Braves Beat Cubs For Third in Row

Boston, June 22 (A.P.).—The Braves made it three in a row by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 3 to 1, today in the first game of their series behind the seven-hit pitching of Lefty Ed Brandt.

Three of the seven hits off the tribal southpaw were made by Shortstop Bill Jurges, one of them a double. Hazen Cuyler, fleet outfielder of the Cubs, made his first appearance of the season by batting for Burleigh Grimes in the ninth. He grounded out to Urbanski. Cuyler suffered a broken leg March 20 in a preseason exhibition game.

The National League champions scored their only run of the game in the first inning when Taylor Douthit doubled and completed the circuit of the bases on two fly outs.

Steward, Shorey, Peacock And Nee Are Golf Victors

battle for the championship this morning.

Steward, lone survivor of the host club, turned in the two easiest victories of the day with his near par-shooting golf, whipping Leroy Sasscer, of Indian Spring, 4 and 2, in his morning duel, and smothering J. W. Harvey, jr., of the same club, by 7 and 5, in the afternoon.

At 10 a. m. today Steward will face Nee, 17-year-old Georgetown Prep star, who disposed of Maury Fitzgerald, stocky Kenwood entry, by 2 and 1, and Bradley Burrows, former public links champion, by 4 and 3.

Five minutes later Peacock, District amateur king, will tee off against Shorey, the one-time boy prodigy of the links, in the lower bracket of the semifinals.

Displaying a decided reversal of form over his disappointing showing in the Middle Atlantic tournament, Peacock came back yesterday to blast the hopes of Martin F. McCarthy, of Columbia, by 2 and 1, in his opening match, and remove Harry Pitt, of Manor, the ranking favorite, from the picture with a thrilling 2 and 1 triumph.

Shorey had a battle on his hands before nosing out Frank Roesch in his initial match, 1 up, while in the afternoon he came home with a burst of scoring power to overcome John Downey, towering East Potomac champion, by 3 and 2.

Connelly Defeated By Burrows.

After tying Steward for the medal with 73 on Wednesday, John Connelly, young Rock Creek star, was eliminated by Burrows, 2 and 1, in their morning battle. Connelly was 2 down at the turn.

Steward stuck close to par, except on one or two holes, in both of his triumphant matches, and never did he show signs of cracking. The Congressional luminary is playing in top form and his club comrades are installing him as the man of the hour.

Pitt's elimination at the hands of Peacock came as a surprise to many. Conqueror of Earl McAleer in his opening match, Pitt carried the District titleholder even to the tenth, only to find himself 3 down at the fourteenth. Pitt prolonged the battle by capturing the fifteenth and sixteenth when Peacock 3-putted both greens, but Peacock ran down a brilliant 30-footer for his par 4 on the seventeenth green, as Pitt muffed his putt, and the struggle was over. Peacock was even par when the climax came.

Fitzgerald One Down At Turn.

Fitzgerald gave Nee many anxious moments before bowing. One down at the turn, the Kenwood ace won the eleventh and fourteenth after Nee took the tenth and twelfth, and they halved the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth in par figures. Nee shot a fine 74 and Fitzgerald a 78.

Nee was never down against Burrows, being 3 up crossing the road, and coasting home comfortably.

The big scoring punch was furnished by John Shorey in his victory over John Downey. Two down at the turn, Shorey came spinning over the stretch with par-busting golf, shooting 4-4-3-4-3-4-4. Shorey squared the match at the thirteenth, and won the next three holes. He needed two fours to finish the back nine in 33, two below standard figures.

Shorey also encountered unexpectedly strong opposition from Frank Roesch, former District amateur champion, who fired an eagle 3 on the eighth and halved the ninth in a birdie 3 to go to the turn all even.

The playoff for the medal between Steward and Connelly, who tied with 73, will take place on Sunday, July 2, Bill McAvoy, tournament chairman, announced yesterday.

Top figures are high tide. First figures are A. M., others P. M.

The above predictions give the times the water is high and low. Slack water (time of turn of current) occurs somewhat later. In Chesapeake Bay, midchannel, between Chesapeake Beach and Annapolis, flood and ebb currents begin about 3 to 4 hours after low and high water, respectively, by the shore. At other places given in the table slack waters occur from ½ to 1½ hours after the times of low and high water.

Roosevelt High Books 8 Football Contests

After a year's absence from the gridiron because of the lack of a suitable playing field, Roosevelt High will be back next September, bigger and better than ever. The school's new athletic field will be ready by the opening of school, and the Rough Riders not only will use it for practice but will have at least one home game.

A schedule of eight games has been arranged and one is pending.

September 29, Emerson; October 3, open; 6, Swavely, at Manassas; 12, Gonzaga, at Gonzaga; 17, Tech; 24, Central; 27, St. John's Freshmen, at Annapolis; 31, Eastern.

November 7, Western.

PALMER TENNIS WINNER.

Wilmington, Del., June 22 (A.P.).—Walter Martin, of Canada, seeded No. 1 among the foreign entrants in the Delaware State Tennis championship, was eliminated today in a quarter final match by Ray Palmer, of the New York Athletic Club, 2—6, 6—3, 6—4. William Reese, Georgia Tech, won a surprise victory over Joseph Coughlin, of Stanford University, 6—2, 6—1.

GRAYS VS. CAPITOL HEIGHTS.

Capitol Heights will play the Chevy Chase Grays today on the latter's diamond. The manager of the Heights team is requested to call Cleveland 3661.

Junior Nines Topped by Goodacre

Victory in First Half Surprise; Second Place at Stake.

IT would have been a close race in the junior division of the Capital City League had it not been for a team of alert youngsters who waded through the opposition in approved big-league fashion and nailed the Goodacre banner to the staff for the first-half championship. But make no mistake about it, this Goodacre team is of championship caliber and it would not be surprising to see them win the second half chase and dispense with the necessity of a play-off for the city championship.

Robbing the baby of his all-day lollypop was a man's task compared to the way Goodacre took Clarendon, Georgia Avenue, Oxon Hill and Dixie Products. The last-named team held the short-order leds to the closest score of all, 3-0, but the others didn't even come close.

Georgia Avenue Defeat Surprise.

What was perhaps the most astounding upset of the race was Georgia Avenue's 18-4 defeat at the hands of the first half winners. Buck Trundle's charges won the laurels last year and were favored to repeat, but that lacing by Goodacre's took all the starch out of the boys.

A battle-royal for second place is in progress with the Dixies, Clarendon and Georgia Avenue deadlocked for the position with two victories and as many defeats each. The first half race ends Sunday, all slates will be wiped clean and then the clubs begin all over again.

A trio of good pitchers, Bieber, Lomax and Hale have been largely responsible for the success of the leaders, but they have been supported in sterling fashion by their mates. Charley Cuozzo, Bill Bresnahan and Dick Culling shouldered the heavy stickwork on the victorious march.

D. C. Racqueters Lose in Baltimore

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., June 22.—With a field of only eight teams, the Middle Atlantic doubles tennis tournament began today on the Roland Park courts of the Baltimore Country Club. The four favored combinations won their matches handily, only one dropping a set.

Eddie Jacobs and Billy Jacobs, brothers of this city, seeded first and odds-on favorites to capture the title, disposed of a good Washington combination, Joe Rutley and Owen Howenstein, in straight sets, 6—2, 6—4, 6—2. The Capital team lacked the ability to keep the ball in play against the heavy-hitting opponents, though they matched the Jacobs' shots in brilliance on many occasions.

Dr. John E. Howard and F. L. Goldsborough, jr., of the host club, were a little more extended to eliminate the other Washington entry, Gilbert Hunt and Pat Deck. The youthful pair from the District won the third set at love after dropping the first two, 6—3 and 6—2. The fourth set also ended 6—2. Hunt, in particular, played excellent tennis at times, but a lack of steadiness cost him and his partner too many points on errors.

Other scores:

John A. Magee and Eric Jacobsen, Baltimore, defeated Towner French and Charles Zirckel, University of Maryland, 6—1, 6—4, 6—2.

Barney Welsh, Duke University, and Henry Clabaugh, Baltimore, defeated Dr. Murray Fisher and Dr. Eldridge Campbell, Baltimore, 6—2, 6—0, 6—0.

Indian Spring Events Today for Optimists

Delegates attending the National Convention of Optimists now in session here will have a respite from official business today at the Indian Spring Country Club. A number of events have been arranged for the visitors, including golf, baseball, horseshoe pitching and volley ball.

Members of the Washington Boys Club and Merrick Boys Club will stage a series of bouts starting at 2 p. m. Jim McNamara, athletic director at the Jewish Community Center, will referee. A bus will convey the boys from the Mayflower Hotel to the club, leaving at 12:30 o'clock.

The card is as follows:

130-lb.—Jack Clagett (B. C. W.) vs. Ollie Morgan (Merrick B. C.).
80-lb.—Stirlen Pace (B. C. W.) vs. R. Morgan (Merrick B. C.).
70-lb.—Buster Miller (B. C. W.) vs. Sardo Anastasia (Merrick B. C.).
89-lb.—Darwin Morton (B. C. W.) vs. Preston Drew (Merrick B. C.).
100-lb.—Jerry Zanelotti (B. C. W.) vs. William Babbington (Merrick B. C.).
100-lb.—John Perry (B. C. W.) vs. William Shackleford (Merrick B. C.).
112-lb.—George Pickerell (B. C. W.) vs. William Kemp (Merrick B. C.).
112-lb.—Sunny James (B. C. W.) vs. Joe Green (Corbett A. C.).
130-lb.—Lew Clagett (B. C. W.) vs. Billy Withers (Merrick B. C.).

Lieut. Nash Scores Ace On 17th at Army-Navy

Lieut. E. A. Nash scored a hole-in-one on the 160-yard seventeenth at Army and Navy Country Club course yesterday afternoon while playing with Danny Burton, who is in charge of the golf shop, and two guests.

Lieut. Nash employed a No. 4 iron. His ball dropped on the green a few feet from the cup and dribbled in.

PARK SYSTEM GETS BUDGET BUREAU AID

Maryland Wins $158,000 to Develop Cabin John and Sligo Valley Projects.

Development of the park system in nearby Maryland has been assured by the release by the Budget Bureau of $158,000 of the $840,000 originally appropriated for this development.

The amount was released when the bureau decided that agreements already reached between the National Capital Park and Planning Commission and the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission constituted a prior obligation on the sum. The $840,000 was originally impounded subject to release when the park and planning commission showed a need for it.

The sum made available will be used for the purchase of land to develop unit No. 3, of the Sligo Valley parkway, and unit No. 1, of the Cabin John development. The Sligo Valley project is a parkway from the Colesville pike to the Forest Glen road, while the Cabin John work will consist of preserving the natural beauties of this valley.

The work will be done under the Capper-Cramton act, which permits the Federal Government to pay one-third of the cost, while the State of Maryland or its counties pay the other two-thirds. Under the act, however, the Federal Treasury may pay the entire cost, the State's share being later returned. No estimate of how much of the $158,000 would go to the Sligo Valley project and how much to the Cabin John development could be made.

EDWARD WILBER BERRY'S classroom schooling stopped when he was graduated from high school, but his education moved rapidly ahead. Interested in scientific research, he taught himself German and French, that he might be better acquainted with scientific books in those languages. This incident is but characteristic of Berry's self-education.

After he advanced convincing theories in geological matters which attracted authorities at Johns Hopkins University, Berry was made assistant in paleobotany there. In succeeding years he became instructor, associate professor, professor, and finally, in 1929, dean of the undergraduate school. When he became dean of the famous university's undergraduate school Berry had never attended a college or university, and had no degrees.

The submarine that became a memorial to itself is a 19-ton craft built by John P. Holland in his early experiments with undersea boats in the Passaic River. This submarine was launched in 1881. It is 31 feet long, carried a crew of two men and could operate at a depth of 60 feet. It is now located in Westside Park, Paterson, N. J.

When it is 12 o'clock m. it is not, as the initial would seem to indicate, 12 o'clock midnight. The m. stands for meridian; consequently the time is 12 noon. On the other hand, 12 midnight is properly written 12 p. m., despite the fact that midnight is the exact division between p. m. and a. m.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

SCHOOL FINANCING MAPPED FOR YEAR WITH $90,000 LESS

Board Approves Plans for Smaller Budget Than Contemplated.

With the approval of recommendations submitted by Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, the Board of Education yesterday ended the long and vexing task of planning operation of the District schools next year on $90,000 less than was expected.

The program of the superintendent, which was approved by the board, has one hitch. This concerned his recommendation that application be made to the Bureau of the Budget for the transfer of $20,000 from the contingent fund to the appropriation for the salaries of officers.

Ability to do this will depend on action of the Bureau of the Budget. In event that the Budget Bureau disapproves his request, the superintendent recommended administrative furloughs without pay for school officers.

Staffs to Be Reorganized.

Transfer of the fund would cover the difference between the cost of the present official staff and the appropriation for 1934, Dr. Ballou pointed out.

It is highly possible, the superintendent added, that part of the money and perhaps all of it may be transferred back to the contingent fund during the school year if the usual number of vacancies occur in the official staff over and above those already known to be in contemplation.

Five school officers will retire before the beginning of the next school year, the superintendent announced. Instead of being filled by appointments, the vacancies will be filled by the transfer of principals already employed and the reorganization of a considerable number of administrative and teaching principalships. About $10,000 will be saved by the retirements.

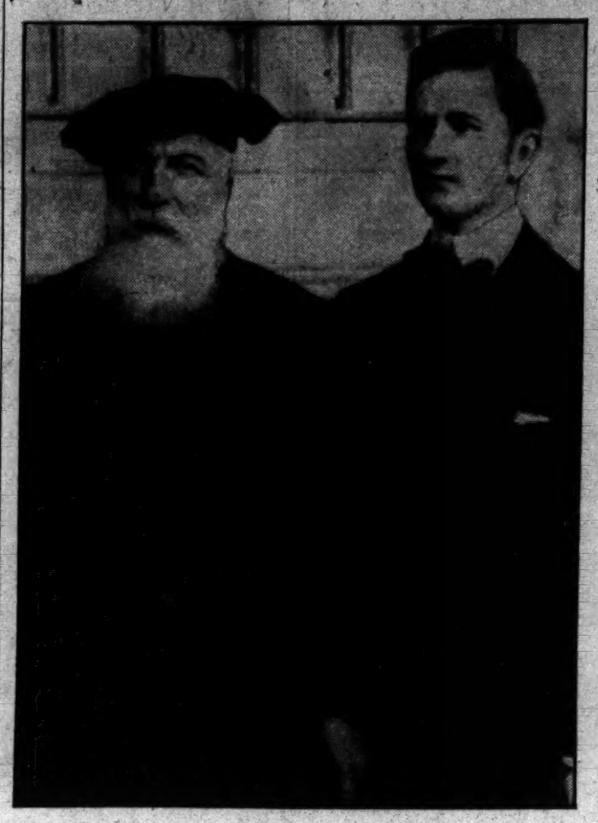

Economies Are Effected.

Under the economy program—the important feature of which is the guarantee of a job to every Washington public school teacher in good standing—heads of departments who are supervisory officers will be required to teach the equivalent of the hours of six or seven full-time high school teachers. Thus a part of the contemplated transfer of the $20,000 may be considered as money for teaching service, the superintendent observed.

A total of $36,380 is being saved in the fund for teachers and librarians through abolished positions, vacant positions, leaves of absence, temporary positions, unsatisfactory probationary tachers and retirements. By July 1 the pay roll for teachers and librarians is expected to be reduced sufficiently so that the appropriations for 1934 will pay the salaries of the remaining teachers and librarians.

A saving of $1,377 has been made in the clerical staff fund, and of $14,025 in the custodian fund.

Why Is Sculptor Missing?

Prof. Ernest Durig (right), Washington sculptor for whom a search has been made for weeks, as he appeared with his tutor, Auguste Rodin, shortly before the latter's death in 1917.

Prof. Ernest Durig May Be Following Steps of Master Rodin.

Has Prof. Ernest Durig, missing sculptor, taken a leaf from the book of his modeling master, Rodin?

Durig, who vanished a month ago from his apartment at 1536 Connecticut avenue, was the last pupil of the world-renowned sculptor and creator of the sculptpral masterpiece, "The Thinker." Rodin died in 1917.

Mme. Durig, wife of the missing artist, has come to the conclusoin that her husband, whose temperament she says is quite similar to that of Rodin, has disappeared in the same manner the late master did in 1887.

She scoffs at suggestions that Durig was dissatisfied with home conditions or was seeking "publicity." The pair are Swiss and Mme. Durig speaks with an accent.

In 1887 Rodin completed a statue of Honore de Balzac, immortal novelist. The writer was portrayed in a standing position, but bowed as in deep thought. A scant cowl covered his frame.

The statue was received by the majority of critics with great derision. Many said that instead of depicting the mysticism of Balzac—Rodin's intent—the figures appeared to be that of a man hastening from the bathtub.

Rodin was stunned. He was mortified. He raved and expostulated. Then suddenly he vanished. It was a Continental sensation.

Friends searched. The newspapers of the day sought the sculptor. But to no avail. Finally, several months later, an acquaintance found him living in a secluded villa in an isolated section of France. He was through with the world, he said. He wanted to see it no more. It did not appreciate the work of a great artist.

Finally, however, Rodin was mollified and he returned to public life and a long active career.

Durig is an ardent pacifist. War he hates. Peace he loves. Peace is the theme of his multitudinous works. Not long ago he completed a large piece. It was called "Disarmament." It depicted a giant man with a placid countenance, lifting a ponderous cannon wheel from the tortured torsos of several soldiers.

The piece was offered as a gift to the President. A reply was sent to Durig that the matter would be considered by an art commission. This did not bother Durig so much. Later, however, he was invited to a banquet given by a women's peace group.

Durig, at his own expense, sent the "Disarmament" to the banquet hall at the Mayflower Hotel. And to the banquet he went.

Mrs. Durig said yesterday that he returned a different man. He was crestfallen, shaken, disconsolate. Nobody had said a word about the statue. Nobody had mentioned it. Nobody had complimented him.

And a day or two later he vanished.

NEW BANK CHARTER IS DUE NEXT WEEK

Hamilton Nearing Opening; Citizens Ask Receiver for Park Savings.

Application for a charter for Hamilton National Bank of Washington will be filed by its organization committee with the office of the Comptroller of the Currency the first of next week, Edwin C. Graham, selected president of the proposed banking institution, announced yesterday.

Mr. Graham stated that the general subscription committee, which has had the responsibility of raising $1,250,000 worth of new stock to organize this prospective bank, in the plan for which, seven local restricted banks will participate, will have secured all of this amount by the end of the present week.

Three subcommittees of the organization committee are working day and night in preparation of details incidental to the starting of the new bank. One of these is conducting negotiations with conservators of certain banks of the plan, buildings of which are desired as branches of the coming institution.

Another is analzing the assets of the banks in the plan and a third is selecting additional personnel for the prospective bank's directorate. The organization committee for Hamilton National Bank of Washington will meet this afternoon at the main office of Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., which will be the central banking house of the proposed bank.

The Citizens' Forum of Columbia Heights has recommended to the office of the Comptroller of the Currency that a receiver should be appointed for Park Savings Bank at the earliest possible time. This is a restricted banking institution at Fourteenth and Kenyon streets northwest.

Fall on Sidewalk Basis Of Suit for $15,000

Alleging that she was seriously hurt when she fell over an obstruction in the sidewalk in front of her home, Mrs. Marjorie Stuart yesterday filed suit against the District Government for $15,000 damages.

Her husband, James Stuart, sued for $5,000 for the loss of his wife's services. They were represented by Attorney Paul B. Elcan, who entered the suits in District Supreme Court.

V. F. W. RESOLUTION VOICES CRITICISM OF BARUCH AND WOODIN

Howe and Hines Are Also Targets of Censure at Encampment.

A resolution, which referred to Bernard M. Baruch and Secretary of the Treasury Woodin in particular condemning the employment of persons on the Morgan "preferred lists" as high Govermental officials, was adopted last night at the fourteenth annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of the District, at Stuart Junior High School.

This was one of the many resolutions adopted at the gathering. The resolutions were presented by a committee composed of William McGrath, Dr. A. V. Cercell, Ernest Wichstrand, S. J. Bacon, Frederick Livingston, R. W. Boettler, L. E. Brandon and H. H. Jamison.

In others the body declared that the administration was building up sentiment for the cancellation of war debts and asserted that the bonus should be paid before cancellation; that Soviet Russia should not be recognized, and that this Nation should not participate in the League of Natidns or the World Court.

Howe and Hines Censured.

Louis McHenry Howe, the President's secretary, came in for censure in a resolution which condemned his dealings with the veterans' national liaison committee of the late bonus march, which the encampment said was a communistic organization, and his "unethical" radio talks.

The body also took Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, the Veterans' Administrator, to task for his administration of benefits for veterans of the Spanish-American War, which was done "with the apparent sanction of the President."

The group also urged a united front of veterans to secure the benefits lost under economy measures. A resolution which would have called Postmaster General Farley to account for his activities at the Capitol on the night of the adjournment of Congress was voted tabled.

Want Maj. Brown to Stay.

In other resolutions the encampment urged that Superintendent of Police Ernest W. Brown reconsider his possible retirement; that policemen of the District be allowed to live outside of the District if they wish; that the park area at Fifteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue be set aside for a Spanish War memorial; that the District Commissioner apply for $325,000 from the Federal Relief Administration for school repair work; that legislation making it possible for veterans to receive credit for their adjusted service certificates on the premiums of their War Risk Insurance be passed, and that no economy measures should jeopardize education.

It was also resolved that the national office of the Veterans of Foreign Wars be moved here from Kansas City, Mo.; that Sergt. J. E. Fondahl, chairman of the encampment committee be commended for his activities, and that a system of equitable national taxation be arrived at.

Robert J. Barrett, 14 Grant circle northwest, was elected president of the National Association of Master Plumbers at their annual convention in New Orleans, La., yesterday, it was learned here last night.

Senate D. C. Group To Meet in October

Members of the Senate District Commfttee will assemble in October, three months before the convening of Congress, and review pending local bills with a view to an active session from the standpoint of District legislation.

This course was determined upon yesterday by Senator William H. King (Democrat), Utah, chairman of the Senate District Committee, following Wednesday's conference with District officials on local matters awaiting action.

Senator King pointed out that Congress will have more time to devote to District legislation than it had during the recent emergency session.

Reorganization of the District government, now the subject of a special recess investigation, will be one of the first issues acted on by the committee.

Kirwin, Washington Gas Co. Band.

COL. GRANT IS PAID TRIBUTE ON RETIRING

Prominent Part He Took in Improving Capital Is Outlined.

Local business leaders joined with Federal and District officials yesterday in paying tribute to Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, retiring director of Public Buildings and Public Parks, at a luncheon in his honor at the Willard Hotel arranged by the board of directors of the Washington Chamber of Commerce.

President Thomas P. Littlepage, of the chamber, called attention to some of the outstanding accomplishments in the planning and building of the Capital City in which Col. Grant took part.

In the broader field of city planning, Mr. Littlepage said, Col. Grant revived the L'Enfant plan and developed a comprehensive city plan in terms of present-day needs including a park and playgrounds plan, with 1,833 acres added to the park system; a plan for a complete highway system, and cooperative relations with Maryland and Virginia insuring integrity of planning throughout the Greater Washington area.

In response to Mr Littlepage, Col. Grant stated that Washington is to be congratulated upon now having a complete city plan developed in accordance with the best American principles of city planning. Such a plan, he stated, must be a living organism adaptable to the future needs of a great and growing city.

Commenting upon the lack of general and advance planning of American cities Col. Grant pointed out the dangers of city building in response to emotional impulse. Cities pay for all needed changes whether provided for in advance or not, he said, but where no provision has been made the cost represents losses due to the lack of planning.

Special guests at the meeting included Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the Board of District Commissioners; Horace M. Albright, director, National Park Service; R. Y. Stuart, chief, United States Forest Service; Col. James A. Woodruff, new director of Public Buildings and Public Parks; Louis Levey, Merchants and Manufacturers Association, and James G. Yaden, president, Federation of Citizens Associations.

Among those attending the luncheon were Representative Sol Bloom, of New York; Dr. William McClellan, president, Potomac Electric Power Co.; Marcy L. Sperry, president, Washington Gas Light Co.; Martin A. Leese, owner of Station WMAL; Harry King, of Kings Palace; Edward C. Baltz, Perpetual Building Association; Dr. Malcolm G. Gibbs, Peoples Drug Stores; Thomas Slator Settle, secretary, National Capital Park and Planning Commission; Isaac Gans, Walter C. Balderston and others.

Long Record

Of Crime Is Back of Man, 72, Now Convicted for Forgery.

With a criminal record dating back to 1902 already behind him, Frank Smith, 72, today faces the prospect of spending the remaining days of his life in prison, following his conviction in the District Supreme Court on a charge of forging a traveler's check for $100 at the Riggs National Bank.

Smith was convicted of murder in Canada and was sentenced to serve life imprisonment. That was in Montreal in 1908, and after he had served but a short time he was pardoned. Subsequently he has been convicted of picking pockets and violating the narcotic laws.

Smith cashed the check at the bank after forging the name of Charles Schindler. That was last September, and his trial yesterday was delayed through inability of the Government to locate him. Assistant United States Attorney John Sirica prosecuted the case. Smith will be called up for sentence Friday of next week.

HOME LOAN BANKS SOON TO FUNCTION

Distressed Owners May Get Application Blanks in About 10 Days.

Machinery to aid distressed home owners in the District, Maryland and Virginia is expected to be established within ten days or two weeks, Chairman William F. Stevenson, of the Federal Home Loan Bank board, said in a statement made public yesterday in response to numerous inquiries.

Loans are to be made to distressed home owners through the Home Owners Loan Corporation, which will be under supervision of the board, but the work of which will be carried out through local managers named for each of the 48 States and the District.

Until these managers are named and rules and regulations and loans application blanks are printed and the necessary assistants selected by the local managers, applications for loans must wait, Mr. Stevenson said. All loans must be passed on by the local organizations which will include attorneys and appraisers and, when approved by them, must be sent to Washington for final approval.

"Home owners in the District, Maryland and Virginia (and other States as well), must be in distress and in need of emergency relief to come within the provisions of the new law," the statement said. "Applicants who wish merely to refinance their mortgage indebtedness, and are not in danger of foreclosures, should not make applications for Federal aid. Such aid can be extended only to those who are unable to amortize their debt elsewhere."

LABOR DAY PARADE HOPES ARE REVIVED

Sergt. Bargagni and Associates Discuss Ways of Financing Event.

Gloom that had shrouded the Fire Department's hopes for the gala annual Labor Day parade, yesterday began to lift.

Following exclusive publication in The Post of the threatened inability of the Board of Trade to back the smoke eaters' big day, things took a bullish aspect.

Board of Trade officials indicated a possibility that the event might still be backed by them. They also pointed out that they favor the fireman's affair and that it was with great reluctance they have delayed deciding to back it.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars in the District also advanced a proposal to help in staging the Labor Day event. This was under consideration by Sergt. A. J. Bargagni, Fire Department parade impresario, last night.

And meanwhile the firemen themselves are not idle. Last night at Sergt. Bargagni's home, several officials of the National Volunteer Firemen's Association gathered to see what could be done.

Sergt. Bargagni is president of the association which was formed last year incident to the parade on Labor Day. Noble Rushe, of the Hyattsville Fire Department, is vice president of the association, and was also present.

The association, less than a year old, has no funds to back the project. Many ways of possible finance, however, were suggested and the conferees adjourned to gather again soon and make a decision.

One of the projects would be to request local merchants and business firms to put up prizes for the keen competition that always ensues on Labor Day fire department festivals. The prizes, it was pointed out, are a big incentive in drawing the volunteer and regular fire departments which come from many and scattered points for the event.

Man Is Convicted On Day He Pleads

Arraigned yesterday morning on an indictment charging him with assault with a dangerous weapon, Albert Brown, colored, yesterday gained the dubious distinction of being the first person ever to be tried the same day he was brought up for a plea.

The criminal court docket of the District Supreme Court has been brought up to date. Therefore, when Brown was arraigned, and pleaded not guilty, his trial was set down for an immediate hearing, and half an hour later he had been convicted of assault with a dangerous weapon upon Fioretta Smith, also colored.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorney James R. Kirkland. Heretofore such indictments were not usually triable for months, because of a crowded docket.

"Let's stop in here at The Hecht Co., John, where it's so cool."

NOTE: Yesterday at noon we took two thermometers for a test. One was hung outside our building, one just inside the door on our main floor. The street thermometer read 90°. The one inside read 78°.
